ART EXHIBIT

Many Well Known Artists Contribute to High School Exhibition

During the month of January a most interesting and significant Art Exhibit has been displayed in the upper corridor of the Classical High School. This exhibition, in which could be seen specimens of the work of over fifty men and women, some of whom are now professional artists, and all of whom have been students in the drawing department of the Newton High School, was planned and carried to a most successful conclusion by Miss Martha M. Dix, who has been for a number of years the Head of the Art Department of the Classical High School. A most gratifying response to the invitation of Miss Dix to send some piece of art work to this exhibit was made by the former pupils of the art classes of the school, and as many of these pupils are now doing work that is worth while either in their own studios or in art schools all through the country, the exhibition was surprisingly good in quality and in variety of pictures, as well as in articles that would be classed as "arts and crafts."

As we look over the list of exhibitors, and remember with pleasure that they all began their art work in "the High School," we find among them names of A. L. Norton, Head of the Cleveland School of Art, one of the finest art schools in the country; William M. Paxton, the well known Boston artist; J. Winthrop Andrews, supervisor and artist; J. Frederick Hopkins, Principal of the Normal Art School of Boston; Albert S. Kendall, architect and well-known citizen of Newton; Samuel R. T. Very of the Architectural League of New York; S. Emmons Brown, advertising illustrator; Miss Stella May, art supervisor and worker in bookbinding; Miss Carrie Morse, skilled craftsman, and Miss Dorothy Emmons, illustrator and painter.

Oil paintings, water colors, etchings, architectural drawings, pencil work, crayon work, illustrations of books, of lectures, and even of surgical operations are among the pictures shown here.

Under "arts and crafts" are found beautiful specimens of book binding, jewelry, pottery, embroidery, bookplates, block printing, wood carving, carved and gilded frames and miniature painting.

A considerable amount of this work was sent by art teachers, who are enabled to retain the cunning of their hand by their work in art schools during their summer vacation. Students from nearly all of the important art schools of Boston were represented in this exhibit, and others in the art courses at Smith, Wellesley and other colleges were well represented. Aside from the importance to the art students in the High School, who were thus enabled to study fine illustrations of work that they may hold in mind as an ideal, this exhibit has also served another very significant purpose in connecting in a delightful manner the professional artists and art students who are graduates of the Newton High School with that institution. An artist, more than any other person, has it in his power to return to his Alma Mater with the proof of his success in a concrete form that is also beautiful and inspiring to those who would follow in his path. In response to the happy thought of Miss Dix half a hundred artists have turned with pleasure to this school and have sent or brought to it pleasant remembrances and happy greetings in the form of this notable exhibit.

Among the large number of exhibitors, beside those all ready mentioned there, was noticed work by Miss Anita Butts, beautiful book binding; Carolyn Clarke, portrait painting; Miss Helen M. Copeland, jewelry; Miss Katherine Havens, flower painting; Miss Harriet B. Newhall, paintings; Miss Lois T. Rice, designs; Miss Dorothy Taylor, jewelry; Miss Marjorie Taylor, jewelry; Miss Elizabeth Tyler, life drawing; Mr. Harvey Barnes, architectural designs; Mr. Harry Morse, illustrations. Space forbids notice of the entire exhibit, which was unanimously pronounced successful and enjoyable by the large number of persons who visited it.

THE RAINBOW

The following poem was inspired by an incident in connection with the recent death of the late Hans C. Hansen.

Behold! A storm is raging,
The lightning flashes come,
The thunder crashes o'er us,
We would be safe at home.

But soon the storm-clouds scatter,
The sunshine pierces through,
And now, we see the rainbow
So old, yet always new.

Behold! A storm is raging,
Of suffering and pain,
O Loving God! Have mercy
And send Thy peace again.

A ray of sunlight slowly
In through the window crept,
And glanced as it struck the mirror
To the bed where our dear one slept.

It lay there in all its beauty,
A rainbow in colors bright,
Forming a crown of glory
Just over his head so white.

A beacon light to guide him
Upon his upward way;
A hope, a faith, a promise
Of glorious Easter Day.

VESPER PROGRAM

At the Channing Unitarian Church "Vesper" Service, Sunday, Feb. 6th, at 4 o'clock, the following program will be rendered by the Channing Choir, assisted by Miss Margaret Summerhays, soprano, and Carl Peirce, violinist and musical director.

Anthem—Rejoice Greatly Manney
Soprano Solo—O Divine Redeemer
Violin Solo—Sarabande Gounod
Anthem—The Lord is my Strength Thayer

The public is invited.

SMILING

When the weather suits you not Try smiling,
When your coffee isn't hot
Try smiling,
When your neighbors don't do right
Or your relatives all fight,
Sure it's hard, but then you might Try smiling.

Doesn't change the things of course,
Just smiling,
But it cannot make them worse,
Just smiling,
And it seems to help your case,
Brighten up a gloomy place,
Then it sorts of rests your face,
Just smiling.

Central Club of Newtonville Celebrates Its Birthday

An important event of the week was the Tenth Anniversary Meeting of the Central Club, a popular organization for the advancement of the social, civic and religious interests of the community, which was held Monday evening in the parlors of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Dinner was served to about 130 and all of the ex-presidents with the exception of one, were present and sat at the head table.

Rev. Jay T. Stocking, D. D., of Upper Montclair, N. J., who organized the club in January, 1906, was among the speakers. Dr. Stocking gave an interesting account of some of his experiences in Washington, D. C., during his pastorate there, and also spoke at some length of the history of Central Club and what it had accomplished in the life of the church.

Rev. A. J. Muste, the pastor, spoke briefly on the future possibilities of the club.

Mr. Thomas K. McAllister, the first secretary of the club, now of Springfield, Mass., read the records of the first meetings.

Hon. Samuel L. Powers, who spoke at the first meeting of the club ten years ago, was scheduled to speak, but at the last moment was called away to New York on an important case. He sent a very cordial letter of congratulation to the club.

Rev. William E. Strong, D. D., acted as toast-master. It was reported that the present membership is 195, and the club confidently expects to pass the 200 mark during this tenth anniversary year, and enters with great enthusiasm upon this new period of its history.

The officers of Central Club are Mr. Edward C. Wyatt, president; Mr. H. Belden Sly and Mr. William Hermon Allen, vice-presidents; Mr. Percy F. Williams, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Fred W. Rust, Harry B. Greene, Edwin S. Woodbury and Rev. A. J. Muste, directors.

DINNER DANCE

The most notable social event of the week was the dinner dance given on Wednesday evening at the Copley Plaza by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown and Mr. George W. Brown of Newton.

The large ball room at the hotel was elaborately decorated for the occasion with pink carnations in effective combination with white lilies and southern smilax. Dinner was served at 23 small tables, and a centre piece of pink carnations was arranged on each table.

Europe's Orchestra was in attendance and furnished an excellent program of choice musical selections during the dinner and for the dancing which followed.

Nearly 200 guests of social prominence were present from Newton, Brookline, and Boston.

BRIDGE PARTY AND TEA

Mrs. Chester Guild gave an Auction bridge and tea last week on Thursday afternoon at her residence on Sargent street, Newton.

A combination scheme of red and green was carried out very effectively in the decorations, with red carnations and southern smilax.

The game was at 12 tables and attractive souvenirs were awarded. The ladies who poured were Mrs. Eben H. Ellison of Newton, and Mrs. Charles Eager of Brookline.

ROSEDALE

Well Known Drama To Be Given At Players' Hall

The campaign for painting Players' Hall has begun in earnest, and the whole town seems to have broken out with a rash of posters, photos, and announcement folders.

A fortunate choice has been made in the play selected as a vehicle for this benefit performance. "Rosedale, or the Rifle Ball," was a general favorite when it was first produced by the old Boston Museum Company, and a wide-spread interest has been aroused by its revival.

The leading parts are especially well cast. Miss Ruth Garland of Boston makes an unusually attractive and charming "Rosa Leigh," while the work of Mr. Hubert W. Pierce of Newtonville in the role of "Elliot Grey" has been a constant help and inspiration to the entire company throughout rehearsals. Mr. E. I. Locke, who has impersonated many different characters in the various performances of "The Players," now assumes for the first time that of a bone idle villain, the Gypsy—"Miles McKenna." Mrs. William C. Hall of West Newton has been cast for "Tabitha Stark," an irate housekeeper, and is a convincingly realistic in every tone and gesture. Mrs. Augustus L. Wakefield of Newtonville appears as "Lady Florence May," the mother of the little boy around whom the framework of the plot is built. Her acting, as always, shows an intelligent understanding of the deeper emotions called for by the hint of tragedy in the lines of the play. Miss Catherine Richardson of West Newton will delight her audiences with her natural impersonation of the child character, "Sir Arthur May." Dr. L. H. Naylor of Newton play the part of (Continued on Page 10.)

LARGE ENTRY LIST

The Graphic Automobile is a Most Attractive Proposition to Many

The number of names that were sent to the Automobile department in response to the request for nominations, that was sent out last week, is most gratifying to the management and shows conclusively that when you offer the public something really worth while, something they can acquire with a little effort, that they are quick to take the opportunity.

Each one of those whose names have been handed to the Automobile department, by some friend who would be pleased to have him or her own the big prize, starts off with a complimentary vote of 5000. The nomination counts that many votes.

To be sure some who have been favored with a nomination and given a chance to try for the winning of the Maxwell Touring Car will not, for various reasons, care to compete. These candidates have the privilege of withdrawing by properly advising the office in writing.

But to those who would like to possess "The Wonder Car," as the Maxwell Car is commonly called, the opportunity will be welcomed and no time will be lost in getting busy at once with the needed ambition to win.

Nor is it too late for nominations. Candidates are free to announce their names and become actively engaged in securing the votes at any time. All that is necessary to become a candidate is to clip the nomination blank and write thereon the name to be published and forward same to the office of The Newton Graphic. Enough information will be speedily given by phone any aspiring candidates to enable them to become a factor in the race. With the value of the prizes fully realized, and not an inflated offering, coupled together with the fact that the prizes will be awarded at the conclusion of the competition should, and no doubt will, bring out the very best working abilities of all those who take part.

Much pleasure can be had and health prolonged by the moderate use of an automobile. The reputation of the Maxwell Car is too well known to need of elaboration or laudatory ravings. It is one of the nicest riding cars ever produced and in order that the interested workers and their friends may have the opportunity to see what is to be won it has been arranged to have the car on exhibition two weeks before the conclusion of the balloting. The opportunity that has been given by The Newton Graphic is a wonderful one and during the next few weeks scores of readers will be paying their subscriptions. Each payment entitles the subscriber to vote for some one.

It is YOUR fault if it is not in your favor.

But do not wait to see what some other candidate is going to do but be like the celebrated David Harum, "Do it first."

The Automobile department will be open each Thursday evening and any other evening by appointment. Phone N. N. 18.

The stage has been set. You candidates are the actors. It all depends on just how good actors you prove to be. Work with a vim. Substantial reward is always sure to come to those who really do their level best.

Win a Maxwell Five Passenger Touring Car.

Or, $50.00 in Gold.

Anyway, you will get ten per cent of the gross business reported.

Be sure and let us hear from you by Thursday night.

MUSICALS

Members of the Unity Club of Channing Church gave a high class musical yesterday afternoon at Channing church parlors, the program being rendered in a manner which was highly creditable to the membership in the club. The program included a piano solo by Miss Marjorie Holmes, groups of songs by Miss Gladys Tuttle, and Miss Ruth Beedle, readings by Miss Barbara Wellington, a violin selection by Miss Katharine L. Stone and a French recitation with musical accompaniment by Miss Eleanor Brackett.

Candy was on sale during the afternoon under the direction of Miss Betty Beasom.

A public hearing will be given on Monday evening before the board of aldermen on the advisability of continuing the system of public markets established last fall and there ought to be a large attendance of persons interested.

Besides the question of appropriation there is also the broader question of using the tax payers' money for the purpose of competing in business with residents of the city. The system in operation last fall was not fair to our local merchants. Any scheme of a public market ought to carry a tax or a charge sufficient to meet the expenses of supervision and operation. It ought also to be conducted under the same rules and regulations as the board of health imposes upon persons doing a similar business in stores, and there should also be a most careful examination of the weights and measures used by the persons who take advantage of the facilities of a public market. Hucksters from adjoining cities, peddlers, and other persons who are not the direct producers of the goods offered for sale should either be barred from the markets or their goods ought to be plainly marked as coming thru a middleman.

Be Generous in Praise.

There are occasions when speech is golden, rather than silence, and when an encouraging word would be of more value than the richest material gift. Some persons are far too much afraid of the effect of a little generous and well-timed praise. They would keep all their flowers in an icehouse. Letting a little sunshine upon them at times would not be amiss.—Dr. A. Thomson.

Why We Work.

Young friends, in whatever pursuit you may engage, you must not forget that the lawful objects of human efforts are but means to higher results and nobler ends. Start not forward in life with the idea of becoming mere seekers of pleasure—sportive butterflies searching for gaudy flowers. Consider and act with reference to the true ends of existence.—E. H. Chapin.

Gracious Manners.

The charm of gracious manner and consideration for other human beings is a quality that develops rapidly if given half a chance. The woman who is always kind creates an atmosphere of loveliness that is like a halo about her head. If you are naturally shy and reticent it is all the more necessary that you should endeavor to shine a bit. It is not lack of pleasant thoughts that worries the self-conscious, but the fear of giving expression to them. You must try to make yourself companionable to others.

Use for Onions.

Onions are good for cleaning steel articles that have rusted. Rub the rust spots with a piece of onion and leave for 24 hours. Wash and polish with bathbrush dust, moistened with turpentine. Wash again in suds and scald with clear water. Knives that have rust spots of long standing should be plunged into an onion and allowed to stand for some time. Finish the cleaning process as above.

Failure Because of Poverty.

Whenever a man succeeds in spite of poverty we recognize the wonder and eagerly give it acclaim. But the failure resulting from poverty we pass over. Indeed, they are so common as to be almost uninteresting. We speak of them by the bulk, in the mass.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Great and General Court has fairly struck its gait and many hearings are being held by the various committees. There is but little proposed legislation of direct interest to this city. A hearing was held last Friday morning on a bill presented by the writer to authorize preferential voting in Newton city elections but it was understood that it was to go over and was subsequently continued until this morning, altho an agreement had been made that it was to go over until next Wednesday in order to allow some publicity to be given in this issue of the Graphic. In connection with this hearing another bill to abolish party designation in Newton city elections will also be heard, but as this bill had not been printed when this article was written it is impossible to give any idea of its scope. It may be good judgment to assign hearings on bills before they are printed but it gives mighty little information to persons interested in the subject.

Among the many bills which have just come from the printers, several might be specially mentioned this week, as they will interest quite a number of persons in this city. One bill requires every person selling soda water to rinse every glass after it has been used in water heated to 100 degrees before allowing it to be used again. Another would require every person engaged in the insurance or real estate business to be licensed by a state board. A third provides that every person consuming milk delivered in jar or bottles shall equip their premises with a receptacle for the same at a point four feet removed from the ground, walk, step or rail, and approved by the board of health. I am sure that the good people of Newton would heartily endorse a law of this kind. The last bill would prohibit the smoking of tobacco in pipes, cigars or cigarettes in any store where goods, provisions, fruit, groceries or meat are sold, in any post office, or in any room in a hotel save the smoking room or barrooms. Just imagine how a law of this kind would be relished by several hundred thousand smokers. Senator Ellis was a member of the special committee on the Senate at the Banks centennial anniversary, held last Sunday at Waltham.

The committee on Legal Affairs gave a hearing this week on another bill to make the taking or giving of a fee for the checking of a hat or garment, an act of bribery. It is a safe bet that the committee will report leave to withdraw.

The ladies were out in full force this week at a hearing on a bill to limit women automobile drivers to machines of 30 H. P. or less, but the petitioner withdrew his measure before it came up for action. Several automobile matters were given a hearing, however, and some legislation may result. One bill has already been favorably reported and if adopted will legalize the selling on Sunday of gasoline and auto supplies.

Newton people will be interested in the rumor that Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools at Minneapolis, and for ten years, superintendent of schools in this city, is being mentioned for the position of Commissioner of Education for this state in place of Dr. Snedden who retires July 1st.

An interesting hearing was held Monday on a proposed bill to grade or classify milk something after the way things are done in New York state. The grading plan puts the burden of having good milk upon the person selling the same, by establishing a standard of quality for butter fats and of cleanliness by bacterial count, the grades ranging from AA to E, and probably selling at a graded price to correspond. Under the present law, the local boards of health must approve the dairies producing the milk and when the large milk concerns buy milk from something like 2000 different farms scattered all over New England, New York and even Canada, it is some job for the local boards to make such inspection. In addition, after the inspection and approval by the board of health, the milk ought to be watched until it is received by the consumer, and this is an absolutely impossible task. It is therefore a step in the right direction to make the seller responsible for the quality and cleanliness of the milk and by a system of grading give every purchaser some idea of what he is buying.

What Boys Are Like.

In the American Magazine Frances L. Garside, writing under the title "Just Boys," contributed the following paragraph: "If a boy is quiet, everyone wonders what he is up to now, and if he is noisy everyone knows and disapproves. When a boy enters a room in which there are seated the members of the family and his dog, he always speaks to the dog first."

Effect of Powerful Current.

PRAISING THE LUSCIOUS PIE

Writer With a Subject Worthy of His Pen Dilates in a Rhapsody Worth Reading.

Let us celebrate the gastronomic poem of the age—the pie. It graces each season, but most especially is it dedicated unto midsummer and the time of berries, black, red and blue. The pie is both friend and foe, comforter and avenger. It is mighty in the night, it can soothe and assuage the drooping spirit. It is a poem both lyric and elegiac—singing the sheer pleasures of the senses and again, adventure, the pains thereof. Deadly is the pie when overeat, but gracious, yea, and beneficent, when partaken of in due measure and in reverential awe of the lawful gastric processes.

"My blessings on the head of him who first invented sleep," sighed Sancho Panza on a memorable occasion. Be ours on the head of him who first invented pie. May he dwell forever on blessed isles of pie among the cherry orchards of Elysium. May his jowls delight in mince, pumpkins, the juicy squash, the tooth-staining blueberry, the pippin apple and oodles of lemon custard.

"Something delicious and fruity between two crusts"—that is pie. Long may it wave! Begin at one corner of the crust and eat judiciously along the outer crust in order that something delicious and fruity may remain, like wine, the best at the last.

Let us heartily rejoice that it is our good hap to dwell within the great New England pie belt, and not a thousand miles from certain justly celebrated pie foundries.

Give us liberty, or give us death. But, failing that, give us pie.—Boston Globe.

SPLINTERS OF THE FAR PAST

Declared by Scientists Who Ought to Know to Be Many Millions of Years Old.

The discovery of splinters millions of years old has been made by a professor of paleontology at the University of California. The splinters are neither decayed nor petrified, but retained the grain and distinct markings of the California redwood, and it is even possible to whittle shavings from the larger splinters. The discovery of these splinters was made at Mussel Rock, California, a bank of rock about twenty miles out of San Francisco. This stratum of rock offers an excellent opportunity for the study of rock formations, and it was while on a trip of this kind that the splinters were found embedded in the sandy base of the rock. Furthermore, these splinters were contained in a stratum which had sunk under the sea and had been afterward raised and turned over in a different position so that the redwood trees were in a horizontal position instead of vertical.—World's Advance.

Importance of the Corn Crop.

Corn is king of all the crops. More than 20 per cent of all the improved farm land in the United States is annually devoted to the growing of corn. In 1914 105,000,000 acres were planted to corn in this country, producing 2,700,000,000 bushels, which brought the growers $1,900,000,000. For nearly fifty years the land planted to corn has been equal if not greater than the acreage of all other cereal crops combined.

Corn from a standpoint of acreage yield and value exceeds every other crop.

Wherever corn is grown, there you find high-priced land and prosperous people.

No other crop can replace corn, but corn can readily take the place of any other grain crop.

Corn is put to a greater number of uses than any other crop that grows. There are greater possibilities for improvement, yield and quality of corn than any other crop.—From a Lecture by P. G. Holden.

Motoring in Spain.

Motorists in Spain describe the road between Irun and San Sebastian as very beautiful, and the latter place, even in the rain, looks most attractive to those speeding through. The way runs along the Oria river, a turbulent stream, through Tolosa to the village of Beasain, where the traveler leaves the Oria.

By a curious optical illusion, although running steadily uphill all the while, meeting the rushing torrent, the road appears to be a downhill one.

So it is on the reverse journey, although from the running of the car one is obviously going down quite a considerable gradient the road looks level.

A Swift Uppercut.

"I see you have your arm in a sling," said the inquisitive passenger. "Broken, isn't it?" "Yes, sir," responded the other passenger. "Meet with an accident?" "No; broke it while trying to pat myself on the back." "Great Scott! What for?" "For minding my own business."—Ram's Horn.

Almost Realized.

"Did you ever dream of being a pirate when you were a boy?" "Oh, yes. Isn't it queer? Now I'm in the prosaic business of managing an automobile repair shop."

"Umph! You didn't miss it so far."

Waban

—Letter Carrier Prenderghast of the Waban post office has been off duty the past week because of trouble with his eyes.

—Mr. Gardiner Gould and family of Akron, Ohio are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gould of Beacon street this week.

—Mrs. E. L. Zeiss of Neholden road is enjoying a two weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Sawyer, Jr., at Chicago.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. B. Whittier and daughter of Upland road are visiting in Georgia and will return from the South in May.

—Mr. Earle E. Conway and family of Windsor road leave next Wednesday for a trip to the Pacific coast and will spend several weeks in Southern California.

—Mr. John S. White of Waban avenue, who has been confined to the house with the grip for two weeks, leaves today for a few weeks' southern trip to recuperate.

—The Boys' Club of the Church of the Good Shepherd were entertained at the home of Donald Hill, on Pine Ridge road Monday evening with games and refreshments.

—Mr. Carl Peirce has been engaged as conductor for the recently organized choral society and Tuesday evenings selected as the time of rehearsals, which will be held in the Union Church vestry. Mrs. Morse of Avalon road is the secretary and Mrs. Charles Andrews of Moffat road the librarian of the organization.

—There was a good attendance of Waban boys and their parents in the Union Church vestry on Wednesday when Troop F, Boy Scouts of America from Newton Highlands with Scout Master Carver in charge gave an exhibition of their work, lasting nearly an hour and concluding with a one reel picture with their moving picture machine. Refreshments were then served and the Newton Highlands troop took the train for home. Following the departure of the troop Mr. Edward R. Kimball, Jr., District Commissioner for this district, gave a talk on Boy Scout Work, being followed by Mr. Carver, who gave a short talk.

—The Men's Club of the Church of the Good Shepherd announce an illustrated lecture to be given by Mr. Winfield M. Thompson, of the staff of the Boston Globe, on Saturday evening, February 26th, at 7.45 o'clock at Knollwood Hall. The subject is—"Boston Harbor—the port of the Puritans." The proceeds will be for the benefit of the roofing-fund of the Church of the Good Shepherd. Mr. Thompson has recently given this lecture before an audience of five hundred people at the Boston Public Library. Ninety-nine lantern slides are presented and they are of great human interest. The views are not merely harbor scenes, but they show the place the harbor has in the pleasures and lives of the people. They are the result of the experiences of an old sailor who for thirty years has learned every feature of interest in the history of Boston Harbor.

TRANSFIGURATION

We journeyed toward the sunset—
You and I.
Clouds, darkly gray and cold Stretched in a level line across the sky.
The chill November day drew to its close.
Then, when the sun had bade the world good night,
The dull-hued clouds grew rosy-bright
And earth and heaven were transfigured in the glowing light.

We journey toward the sunset of our life—
And dull, and gray, and cold enough it seems!

(When all our hopes become as empty dreams)
But, if the Gods are kind,
After our life's sun has declined
It may be given us to find Transfiguration.

—Elizabeth Jacobi.

Piano Records.

To enable an owner of a player piano to make his own records, an Ohio inventor has perfected a simple machine which allows such work to be done rapidly in the home by anyone who is at all familiar with music. The device not only lessens the cost of a record, but also makes it possible to obtain exactly what is wanted, since it is within the power of the operator to set a selection in whatever key he wishes when perforating a roll. The device consists essentially of a punching instrument that slides along a scale, so divided as to correspond with the apertures in the tracker board of the player piano, and cuts slots of the required lengths. The roll of blank paper is inserted at the back of the machine and fed across a platen plate guiding members at each side and grips at the ends serve to track the paper properly and prevent it from wrinkling. As the punching is done the paper is moved forward and wound on a roll at the front of the machine.

Explaining the Whistles.

A commercial traveler arrived for the first time in a small western town during the night. In the morning he was awakened by whistles—shrill ones, foggy ones, scale runners, high key, low key and every other kind. So at breakfast he questioned the landlord: "Quite a manufacturing town you have here." "Oh, yes—fine town!"
"What kind of factories?" "Wa-all," more slowly, "flour principally." "Just flour?" "Wa-all," very slowly, "yes, as yet; but the Metropolitan mill's a big one." "Why, I heard a dozen different whistles!" "Oh," edging his chair up confidentially, "them is all in the Metropolitan. You see, we got the whistles for the factories we're goin' to have an' put 'em in to make the town sound lively. Seems quite citified now, don't it?"—National Food Magazine.

Food for Cattle.

A contribution to the old question of using prickly pear (Opuntia) as food for cattle takes the form of a bulletin of the department of agriculture of Bombay. The author describes experiments at the government dairy at Kirdree, in which six bullocks were fed with a mixture of 100 parts of prickly pear to six parts of cottonseed at the rate of 72 pounds to each 1,000 pounds live weight a day during six months.
The spines, which form the danger in feeding prickly pear, were burned off over a stove, after which the fodder was cut into small pieces by means of a chaff cutter or a chopper. This experiment and others proved that a mixture of prickly pear and cottonseed will not only support life, but will restore half-starved animals to a good condition.

Leaping Spider.

The most ancient of trapeze performers, and the most skillful, never requiring a netting to catch the artist should he fall, for he never meets with accident, is the little pale gray hairy spider, of which the body is only half an inch long. This is the salticus or leaping spider, and as you step out of your doorway of a summer evening to lean a chair against a tree on the lawn your nose will walk into his parlor to your mutual annoyance. Before leaping for a fly, and he seldom misses a catch, he always fastens a thread behind him, he hangs suspended in the air ready for another leap.

St. Pierre and Miquelon to Britain.

Of all the vast North American empire over which France ruled until the fall of Quebec in 1759, only the little islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, south of Newfoundland, remain in its possession. Now Newfoundland hears that in return for certain fishing privileges the French government is willing to turn these islands over to Great Britain. Of late years the islands have not prospered, and their ill luck reached its climax last February when France summoned all the young men to the colors.—Youth's Companion.

Field Spiders.

If you look out upon your lawn any early morning in the summer you will see here and there glistening with dew, drops perhaps a score of tents about as big as one's hand. These are the tents of the funnel web weavers, the long-legged spiders of field and meadow. In the middle of these flat or concave horizontal webs in the grass is a silken tube leading down, anchoring the fabric to the ground.

Languid Larry's Luck.

Gentleman—"What would you do with a nickel if I gave you one?" Tramp (sarcastically)—"Git a new rig, mister, an' some supper an' a night's lodgin' an' breakfast an' dinner tomorrow." Gentleman—"My good fellow, take this quarter and support yourself for the rest of your life."

It Would Be Overlooked.

"I am a graduate of Yalevard and I can speak five languages," said the young man applying for a job.
"Well," said the old man, kindly,
"that wouldn't be any objection if we needed anybody now."—Somerville Journal.

Dangerous to Fire Fighters.

Measuring the current carried from electric wires by streams of water from fire hose, an Italian experimenter found that chemical extinguishers were the most dangerous fire fighting equipment to use around live wires.

Upas Tree Not Deadly.

Among the long-established beliefs which have in recent years been sadly disturbed is that of the deadly character of the upas tree. The exhalations of this tree were held to be so deadly that no animal life could survive within 150 feet of it. Dr. J. D. Gimlette, an Englishman, who has lived among the Malays for 18 years, cites a story that when the poison from this tree is wanted by a Malay witch doctor twenty condemned criminals are sent for it.
Usually only one or two return alive, and these are pardoned. He says that as a matter of fact, the "deadly upas" is largely a fake; that the tree may be chopped down in safety by anyone with a strong arm and a keen ax. The Malay smears his creese or arrow, says the doctor, with the inspissated juice of the tree and if the wound is deep enough, the poison produces a toxic effect on the heart similar to that produced by digitalis or by strychnine, a climbing vine of West Africa, which yields an arrow poison which acts directly on the muscles of the heart.

Jainism.

The temple-city of Palitana is the greatest in extent and the most complete historical monument of Jainism.
The pilgrims' way up the mountain has resthouses at intervals; the twin summits—each about 350 yards in length—are entirely covered with the temples, built by the piety of over a thousand years—street after street, square after square, in a vast enclosure from which all the activities of man are rigidly excluded. The city is kept strictly clean. Apart from the pilgrims, the daytime population consists of a number of priests and attendants; but at night the holy city is deserted. Every considerable city in India has contributed to its astonishing wealth; and the hundreds of temples, with their highly ornate decorations, represent the whole evolution of Jain religious belief.

Worry a Real Poison Disease.

Worry, like all other depressing emotions, is a poison, writes Dr. J. H.
Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich., in Good Health. It is a short circuit that burns out the mental batteries and destroys the power for useful activity.

It is not merely a habit; it is a real disease; it is not merely a surrender of the will to morbid fancies or imaginary causes of anxiety—it is an actual disease, a real physical state, as real as is indigestion, rheumatism, or any other bodily disease.
In other words, worry is not mere mind or soul malady, as commonly conceived, but a bodily disease.

Art.

Nobody has yet been able to define art correctly, because every conception of art differs with the individual.
Nobody really knows what truth is, yet art is said to be truth plus personality. Personality itself is our most incomprehensible enigma. Art must possess a supreme and constantly increasing interest. The best and most unfulfilling test of art is when it endures. Time, therefore, is necessary to proclaim it. All masterpieces turned out overnight are not to be trusted. The true artist is, therefore, most likely to be unknown. Time crowns him master with one hand and destroys him with the other.—Life.

May Be Famous Painter's Work.

During the renovation of Wick House, Richmond Hill, Surrey, England, the supposed residence for several years of Sir Joshua Reynolds, an interesting discovery has been made.
The owner of the house, writes a correspondent, noticed in the hall a certain coloring showing through the faded paper. Carefully removing the paper, she found a fleur de lys design in blue, brown and red. She is of the opinion that the design from its tone, style, and delicacy may have been painted by Sir Joshua himself.

Returning the Present.

Dora—And so you quarreled?
Lallie—Yes, and I returned all his presents, and what do you think he did?
Dora—Something horrid, I'm sure.
Lallie—He sent me half a dozen boxes of face powder, with a note, explaining that he thought he had taken as much as that home on his coat since he first met me.—New York Globe.

Never Eat When Tired.

When one comes in tired it is absolute madness to sit down straightaway to dinner; even if it is ready, let it wait a bit until one has washed, freshened up and taken even a few minutes' rest; a tired body will not allow the stomach to do its business; and, after all, meals are made for the man, not the man for the meals.

No Other Possibility.

The Sergeant (sternly)—Nah then, yer young blighter, yer ain't larfin'
at me, are yer?

The Young Blighter—Oh, no sergeant; no, sir!

The Sergeant (more sternly)—Then what the — else is there on parade ter larf at?—London Sketch.

Perpetual Subject.

"Do you feel that, with your unfortunate habit, you can do the slightest thing to make anybody happier?"
"Well," said Bill Bottletop, pensively, "whenever a man comes along asking somebody to swear off he wants he kin always depend on me."

MAY-POOR

The wedding of Mr. George Henry
May of Newton Centre and Miss Virginia Sargent Poor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henry Poor of Cambridge, took place Tuesday noon at Christ Church, Cambridge, the ceremony being performed by Rev. G. W.
Sargent, assisted by Rev. Prescott Ev-arts.

The bride was in white silk trimmed with old Point Lace and a point applique veil. She wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. Miss Adeleide Poor, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Miss Polly Poor, another sister, was the bridesmaid. Mr. William T. May, a brother of the groom, was the best man, and Mr. Clarence E. Clement of Newbury-port and Mr. C. Henry Poor, Jr., a brother of the bride, were the ushers.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride on Highland street, Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. May will enjoy a wedding trip to Havana, Florida and California and on their return will be at home after May 15 at Lonekan Farm, Lancaster, Mass.

The bride has been a student at Racaille. She is a member of the 1909 Sewing Circle, and has been active in hospital and social work. Mr.
May is a graduate of Technology, with business interests in New York. He is a member of several clubs, the C. A.
and the Country Club, Brookline.

LODGES

More than 150 members of Newton Council, K. of C., attended a meeting in Dennison Hall Tuesday evening, when the first degree was conferred on a large class of candidates. The initiator work was in charge of Grand Knight James P. Gallagher.

Following the degree work Postmaster William F. Murray addressed the gathering. He spoke on the function of the postoffice, its magnitude and the development of postal facilities in the last 25 years, giving some remembrances as a member of the Congressional Committee on Postoffices.
Mr. Murray was given a rising vote of thanks.

DANCE

Mrs. Freelan O. Stanley opened her residence on Waverley avenue, Newton, on Saturday evening for a dancing party for Miss Dorothy Emmons of Bennington street. It was a delightfully social and informal affair, and about fifty young people from Newton were present.

The rooms were very attractively decorated with yellow jonquils and bouquets of various colored roses, and in the spacious music room, where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, pink roses were arranged effectively.

MR. ROBINSON DEAD

Mr. Arthur W. Robinson, an insurance man, and formerly prominent as a cyclist, died Tuesday night after a long illness at his home, 19 Waban Hill road, Chestnut Hill, aged fifty-six years. He was born in Charlestown and had lived in Newton for the past fifteen years. As a young man he entered the insurance business and rose to be special agent of the Aetna Life Insurance Company, with an office at 50 Congress street.

An active sportsman, an ardent hunter and fisherman, he had been president of the Megantic Fish and Game Club and of the Massachusetts
Fish and Game Protective Association. In the nineties, when the bicycle was popular, his name was familiar to all followers of the sport. He became associated with it in 1883, the days of the tricycle, and was one of the founders of the Rover Cycle Club of Charlestown, the second oldest league club in Massachusetts, and a member of the Boston Bicycle Club, the oldest in the country. When the League of American Wheelmen was organized, Mr. Robinson became identified with it. In the Massachusetts division board of officers he successively held nearly every office up to chief consul, and in 1898 he was named the New England member of the National Racing Board of the league.

Mr. Robinson is survived by a widow and a brother, Henry W. Robinson.

BOLD LARCENY

One of the cheekiest robberies ever perpetrated in this city took place
Tuesday morning at the corner of Boylston and Elliot streets, Newton Highlands, when an unknown man, driving an auto truck stopped and coolly took away about 1000 brick, the property of T. H. Blinn of Newton Highlands. When last seen the machine was headed towards Wellesley.

SOME EXCITEMENT

The usual quiet of Newton was rudely disturbed for a few minutes last Saturday morning. John Zevitas, a native of classic Greece, who conducts a fruit business, had left his horse and wagon behind French's Block, while he was eating breakfast. To protect his fruit from the cold winter air, John had placed a plentiful supply of hay in his wagon, and also a lighted lantern. In some unknown manner the lantern ignited the hay, and in less than a minute the wagon was a mass of flame. The horse naturally started to depart from such warm surroundings, but being hitched to the wagon, could not carry out his intentions.

Down in the house of Engine One, a few yards away, the firemen on duty were busily engaged in their morning tasks. Hoseman Tom Enegess was working industriously in the stable at the rear of the fire house, when he noticed a red glow. Tom did not pay much attention to it at first as he thought the glow was caused by the rays of the rising sun. Of course it would be somewhat unusual for the rising sun to shine in a west window at 7.50 on a January morning, but this slight detail did not occur to Tom. As the blaze increased, the glare of the flames caused Enegess to realize that the illumination was from a fire and not from the sun, and he made a rush to the front of the station to start the fire-truck at the same time shouting a warning to the other firemen. While the firemen were hustling to their quarters, Zevitas' steed, thoroughly heated up, had "beat it" out through the alley which runs alongside the fire station and with a speed that would do credit to the Grand Circuit stars dashed thru Nonantum Square and headed towards Watertown with the wagon trailing behind like a meteor. All this occurred so quickly that when the fire-fighters were ready to go out, there was no fire in sight.

Cecil Leacy was driving his express wagon down Galen Street when he heard the commotion behind him, and looking around he beheld the conflagration rapidly approaching. With a courage worthy of a "Carnegie medal" young Leacy risked death from either incineration or precipitation or both, made a flying leap from his own team, and landed in the blazing vehicle. Not having an asbestos suit on, his stay was of short duration, and with his clothing scorched, Leacy had to make a hasty departure from the Zevitas' comet.

When a canine is frightened, he drops his tail between his legs as he puts distance between himself and danger, but unfortunately for Mr. Zevitas' steed, horses do not resemble dogs in this particular, and as he raced down Galen Street, his tail being extended, came in contact with the flames, and was severely singed. Maddened by the pain the horse broke the record between here and Watertown and racing over the bridge with his fiery equipage created consternation in our neighboring burg. Luckily an approaching car diverted his course up Pleasant Street and into a blind alley. Someone notified the Watertown Fire Department, and as the apparatus is stationed close by, it was soon on the scene and extinguished the blaze before the horse was seriously burned.

THE NEWTON BLUE BOOK

The Newton Blue Book has made its appearance and will be placed in the hands of subscribers and advertisers next week. It contains a double list of the principal residents, street directory, maps, diagrams of the principal theatres, Harvard Stadium, etc. A large number of families of Newton use the Blue Book and find it convenient for reference.

POLICE NOTES

A fine of $10 was imposed upon Dexter A. Tutein of 33 Lloyd street, Winchester, and C. E. Choate of Grove street, Framingham, by Associate Judge William F. Bacon in the Police Court Saturday morning on the charge of speeding. The complainant was patrolman J. F. Monroe, who testified that both machines were traveling at an excessive rate of speed along Commonwealth avenue, near Centre street, Newton Centre, on the evening of Jan. 26.

The police are endeavoring to locate the thief that entered the home of James E. Tully last Friday night and stole $53, nearly all of which was the proceeds from a fair held in the Methodist Episcopal Church the day before. The thief entered the house through a window and stole the money from an envelope on the desk, and also from a pocketbook found in the room.

Patrolman William Mahoney while walking along Walnut street, opposite the Newton Cemetery Monday evening was bitten on the left hand by a gray and white dog which jumped at him as he was passing. The officer received a rather severe bite, which was promptly treated by a physician. The officer was unable to overtake the dog.

INTERCLASS MEET

An unusually large crowd attended the Annual Interclass athletic meet of the Newton High Schools, held in the drill hall at Newtonville last Friday evening. The class of 1916 easily won first honors but the surprise of the evening was furnished in the 1000 yard run which was won by Bowen of the freshman class.

Arthur Roberts '16 broke the record of 5 ft. 9 1/4 in. in the high jump, clearing the bar at a height of 5 ft. 10 3/4 in. Henry Peirce, '16, only 5 ft. 4 3/4 inches in height, provided another surprise when he cleared 5 ft. 9 1/4 in. in the running high jump and was second to Roberts.

The interclass relay races and the big race with Somerville High proved very exciting, the latter team proving no match for Newton.

Capt. Raymond Adams captured first place in the 600-yard run after a close fight with McNamara and was third in the shotput. Roberts was the high point winner, with 15. The summary: 30-Yard Dash—Won by McNamara '16; Garrity, '17, second; Wansker, '17, third. Time, 3 4/5.

300-Yard Run—Won by L. Woodworth, '17; Wansker, '17, second; E. Woodworth, '18, third. Time, 38 1/5.

600-Yard Run—Won by Ray Adams, '16; McNamara, '16, second; Brennan, '16, third. Time, 1m. 26s.

1000-Yard Run—Won by Bowen, '19; O'Brien, '16, second; Matthews, '16, third. Time, 2m. 35 1/5.

30-Yard Hurdles—Won by Arthur Roberts, '16; Newell, '16, second; Ray Adams, '16, third. Time, 4 2/5.

12-Pound Shotput—Won by Arthur S. Roberts, '16, distance, 39 ft. 9 in.; Newell, '16, second, distance, 39 ft. 6 3/4 in.; Ray Adams, '16, third, distance, 33 1/2 in.

Running High Jump—Won by Arthur S. Roberts, '16, height, 5 ft. 10 3/4 in.; Pierce, '16, second, height, 5 ft. 9 1/4 in.; Billings, '16, third, height, 5 ft. 7 in.

RELAY RACES

'18 vs. '19—Won by '18 (Hughes, E. Woodworth, Farrell, Palmer); '19 (Bowen, Sivin, Huntley, Walton), second. Time, 1m. 43 3/5.

'16 vs. '17—Won by '16 (Baker, Mochni, Smith, Putnam); '17 (Manley, Garrity, Wansker, Meredith), second. Time, 1m. 41 2/5.

'15 vs. '18—Won by '16 (Baker, Mochni, Smith, Putnam); '18 (Hughes, E. Woodworth, Farrell, Palmer), second. Time, 1m. 41 1/5.

Newton High vs. Somerville High—Won by Newton High (Woodworth, McNamara, Adams; Somerville (MacLeod, Cook, Ruffer), second. Time, 1m. 12 2/5.

Newton H. S. Midgits, 80 Pounds, vs. Medford H. S. Midgits, 80 Pounds—Won by Newton H. S. Midgits, 80 pounds. Time, 1m. 52 1/5.

POP CONCERT

One of the most pleasing entertainments in local Masonic circles of the winter was that of Gethsemane Commandery, K. T., held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, last Friday evening when members and guests to the number of 400 enjoyed a delightful combination of pop concert, whist and dancing. Miss Jeannie Fletcher, an exponent of Scottish song, contributed several numbers to the program which also included readings by Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, while the women of the party assisted the men in several choruses. The guests were Rt. Warrant Frank L. Nagle, PGC, and Mrs. Nagle; George W. Knowlton, GL, and Mrs. Knowlton; Edwin S. Woodbury, PC, of De Molay Commandery, and Mrs. Woodbury.

The souvenirs in whist, at which a large number occupied tables, were cut glass articles for women and watch chain outfit for men. The winners were Miss A. N. Crane, Mrs. Harry Law, J. E. Stafford and W. R. Hill. Adjt. A. E. Billings was floor director for the dancing and had as aids a number of the commandery guards. There was much speculation as to the possible winners of the lucky number dance and the prizes, a pair of gloves for each, went to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thompson.

Grand Swordbearer Asa C. Jewett, as chairman of the committee, had the aid of Eminent Commander Charles W. Henderson, Jr., Generalissimo George H. Dale, Capt. Gen. George L. Sleeper, Past Commander William E. Peterson, Dr. Charles S. Parker, William W. Palmer, George A. B. Bacon, Frederick M. Blanchard, A. Sidney Bryant, Lyman Matthews, Albert E. Billings, John E. Cobb, Harry W. Twigg, Horace A. Carter, Charles E. Fogg, Dr. Hiram A. Roark, Roland C. March, Christopher I. Flye, Herbert M. Chase, Hollis H. Sawyer, Edwin F. Ripley, Rupert C. Thompson, Augustus H. Foucar, Frank J. Karnatz, Perry B. Howard, George E. Parmenter and Olaf Ohlson.

Had Heard It Before.

While engaged in a conversation two prominent police magistrates began telling stories of funny cases that had been brought before them.

"Probably the funniest I ever had," remarked one, "was an aged colored man, bearing the earmarks of the South, who applied to me for a warrant. The offender, it seems, had been blaspheming Rastus before and he had then appealed to me for aid. Standing before my desk he proceeded as follows:

"'You honah, I wants a warrant for George Washington. He's dat colored man that you told to be good two weeks ago, but he's been worse'n evah, sah. I can stand him no longer.'"
 "Humph," I remarked, casually, "Seems to me I have heard that name somewhere before."
 "'Yes, sah,' he answered, with alacrity, 'two weeks ago, sah.'—Philadelphia Press.

Not Very Comforting.

Mark Twain at a dinner at the Authors' club said: "Speaking of fresh eggs, I am reminded of the town of Squash. In my early lecturing days I went to Squash to lecture in Temperance hall, arriving in the afternoon. The town seemed very poorly billed. I thought I'd find out if the people knew anything at all about what was in store for them. So I turned in at the general store. 'Good afternoon, friend,' I said to the general storekeeper. 'Any entertainment here tonight to help a stranger while away his evening?' The general storekeeper, who was sorting mackerels, straightened up, wiped his briny hands on his apron and said: 'I expect there's goin' to be a lecture. I been sellin' eggs all day.'"

Stop Before You Are Too Tired.

In the Woman's Home Companion Margaretta Tuttle writes a fiction story entitled "The Runaway Rest Cure," in which a physician gives a patient the following good advice:

"It is not the brain, nor the character that suffers first from overwork, but the body; and it is not until after the body has rendered up its excess vitality—its youthfulness—that the nerves begin to pay toll. You are not yet at that place; you are simply physically tired. But this tire is dangerous, because it is the warning that the limit of your physical support is nearly reached. We are coming to learn the value of fatigue as a warning. Those who do the best work stop just before they are tired."

Secret of Laughter.

"The secret of laughter is in the return to nature. Civilization and culture are late additions and we are living to a great extent in artificial conditions. Psychology makes plain the fact that our present mental equipment has been slowly and painfully acquired and a certain strain in maintaining that high altitude is inevitable. This tension is relieved by nonsense and by the portrayal in humorous anecdotes and on the stage of evasions of convention and infractions of the prevailing code of morals and manners.

Forest Industries.

Forest industries supply 12 per cent. of the Dominion foreign trade and 16 per cent of Canada's railroad traffic, and equal in value her annual wheat crop. To make the best of native woods the Dominion department of the interior has established in connection with the forest branch a forest products laboratory. This institution is constantly at work testing wood for papermaking, furniture, etc., and has just completed an investigation into wood paving.

As Other Americans.

Hiram Jones had just returned from a personally conducted tour of Europe. "I suppose," commented a friend, "that when you were in England you did as the English do and dropped your 'h's'." "No," moodily responded the returned traveler; "I didn't. I did as the Americans do. I dropped the 'v's and 'x's." Then he slowly meandered down to the bank to see if he couldn't get the mortgage extended.

Ought to Be Ashamed.

"Are you looking for work?" asked the farmer, eagerly. "Yep," replied Plodding Pete; "what kind of work have you got on hand?" "Almost any kind you want." "Well, you ought to be ashamed of yourself, leavin' so much work undone lyin' around. I ain't goin' to hire out to no sich shiftless man as you."

She Knew.

Little Nellie had lived long enough to gain some knowledge of human nature. One day at school her teacher asked her: "Now, Nellie, tell us what a minute-man is." "A minute-man," replied the little girl, without hesitation, "is a man who wants everything done right away."

From Bad to Worse.

New Boarder—"Our landlady seems to be deeply interested in the European war news." Old Boarder—"Well, I hope she doesn't contemplate the substitution of hardtack and salt pork for hash and prunes."

The Thirteenth.

"So you are engaged to Miss Preacher." "Yes." "Why, she's been engaged to a dozen men!" "What of that? I'm not superstitious."

The proceeds from the Public Declaration are now being used to purchase new books for the school library. Most of the selections are boys' books, among them being the entire Boy Scout Library.

Miss Katherine Beatley, formerly a teacher in Milton, is to be an assistant in the English Department during the second half of the school year.

Miss Bennett, Mr. Wilson, and Mr. Stanley were absent from school Monday and Tuesday in order to take the Boston Examinations for teaching positions.

A post card has just been received from Miss Brock, a former teacher in German, whose home is in Zagreb, Austria Hungary. This card was sent by Miss Brock on November 10, 1915, wishing a happy Christmas to the teachers of this school.

At the Senior Assembly last Friday morning, the class was entertained by shadow pictures representing historical scenes. This interesting exhibition was greatly enjoyed by the members of the class.

The regular Freshman Assembly was held in the hall Tuesday morning. A very enjoyable entertainment was given by a number of the girls of the Junior Class, who presented a short program of story-telling.

By John M. Spillane, Auctioneer, 30 State Street, Boston, Mass. Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage of real estate given by John D. Sardonny of Cambridge, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, to Columbia Trust Company, a Corporation duly established under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and having its usual place of business in Boston, Suffolk County, Massachusetts, dated July 29, 1915, and recorded in Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 3987, Page 107, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Monday, February 28th, 1916, at three o'clock in the afternoon, the real estate described in said mortgage, to wit:—

The land in Newton, said Middlesex County, with the buildings thereon being shown as Lot "H" on "Plan of Land in Newton, Mass., belonging to Old Colony Realty Association, Inc., September 19, 1914, N. J. Holland, C. E., which plan is recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 228, Plan 3; said lot is bounded and described as follows:—

Westerly by Westbourne Road, by two lines respectively, Thirty-five and 21-100 (35.21) feet; and Twenty-three and 86-100 (23.86) feet; Northerly by Lot "I" on said plan, Ninety-three and 42-100 (93.42) feet.

Easterly by land of owners unknown, Sixty-two and 36-100 (62.36) feet; and Southerly by land of owners unknown, Ninety-seven and 64-100 (97.64) feet.

Containing, according to said plan, 5767 square feet of land, be any or all of said contents or measurements, more or less.

Said premises will be sold subject to the restrictions of record, so far as now in force and applicable; also to all unpaid taxes, tax titles and municipal assessments, if any. Six hundred Dollars ($600.00) required at sale.

Russell of Newton Centre, treasurer. The newly elected officers of the Democratic City Committee are James E. Farrell of West Newton, chairman; John P. Tierney of Newton, secretary, and Daniel O'Connell of Newtonville, treasurer.

MUSICAL AND TEA

Mrs. Philip Walker Carter entertained informally on Friday afternoon at her residence on Balcarres road, West Newton.

The occasion was complimentary to Mrs. Harold Burton of Idaho, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Arthur R. Smith of Berkeley street.

A very delightful musical program was rendered by Mrs. Walton Spencer Redfield, pianist, and Miss Rosalind Kempton, violin.

BRAE BURN CLUB

The diverse attractions of Brae Burn must ever remain one of its strongest assets; crowning them all during the winter season is the opportunity which it affords for winter sports. The Club is unrivalled for its entertaining features both within and without, and its popularity will be enhanced this year by the new Tea Room which is nearing completion. It is a glassed in structure admirably adapted for dancing and other amusements. It is commodious, and overlooking the attractive grounds, golf links, tennis courts, etc., and the formal opening, which will be the big event at Brae Burn, will take place Tuesday evening, February 15th. It will be a dinner dance and there will be about 200 guests present. Music will be furnished by an orchestra of ten pieces. The social activities at the Club have been numerous during the past week and many are scheduled for the remainder of the month of February. Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown of Newton entertained sixty-two guests at a luncheon bridge on Thursday. Luncheon was served at 1:30 and the tables were decorated attractively with yellow jonquills. An auction bridge followed, and the game was at thirteen tables.

Mrs. Egerton Chichester and Mrs. Munro of Brookline entertained more than 100 guests at a buffet supper and dance on Saturday evening at Brae Burn.

There were about ninety guests present at the dance given on Friday evening at the Club, by Miss Fanny Adams of Newton. The hall was attractively decorated with red roses and southern smilax and music was furnished by Poole's Orchestra of Boston.

Mrs. F. Jackson Burrage of Fairfax street entertained at a luncheon bridge on Tuesday at Brae-Burn. The decorations were pink carnations arranged in a basket as a centerpiece on the table. The game was auction bridge and the winners were presented with bunches of violets.

The first in a series of subscription dances will be given Saturday evening by a number of society people from Newton Centre.

Afternoon Tea will be served Sunday from four to six in the Club House. Music will be furnished by Walker's Orchestra.

STATE BOYS' CONFERENCE

No greater privilege has ever been granted the people of Newton and Watertown than that of entertaining the 26th annual conference of the older Y. M. C. A. boys of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Nearly 700 of the best type of older boys will invade our city on the 18th and remain till February the 21st. About 80 Associations will be represented. Each is entitled to send from five to ten delegates, according to the boys' membership in the Association represented. These boys are picked with care, and previous to their arrival here, will have prepared from two to eight weeks, by weekly devotional meetings, to give their best influence to the conference. This spirit cannot but assure us of noble Christian boys. Every delegate will be entertained in private homes. If your mother has a spare room, you don't want to miss the opportunity to have two of these boys live with you. Help the committee find homes for the fellows. Ask at the office for more particulars. As hosts, we have a grand opportunity to prove our hospitality. Every boy and girl and man and woman has a duty toward this gathering. May the delegates return to their respective cities, feeling that no other city could surpass Newton in Christian Fellowship.

A list of very strong speakers has been secured, such men as Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt of Portland, Maine; Rev. Warren F. Cooke, New Britain, Conn.; James A. Whitmore, New York City, and Principal Stearns of Phillips Andover Academy. Saturday night will be observed as "College Night." For this service the following men have been secured as speakers:—

Norman Tabor, Brown, Capt. 1913 Track Team. American Olympic Team, 1912. 4-mile relay, Oxford, England, 1914. World Champion Mile Runner. Alpha Delta Phi Frat. Stanley B. Pennock, Harvard, 1915. All-American Football Team for three years.

Delta Upsilon Frat. Henry W. Johnston, Yale, 1916. Varsity Track Team. Member of the "Skull and Bones." Zeta Phi Frat.

J. Seelye Bixler, Amherst, 1916. President of the student council. Musician.

Alphi Delta Phi Frat. Walter J. Beadle, M. I. T., 1917. Vice President of Junior Class. Banjo Club.

Mechanical Engineering Society. Delta Upsilon Frat.

Friday night will see all the delegates and guests seated at dinner. This will be the big spectacular event of the conference, making a wonderful picture. The program for the entire conference will be as follows:

JUBILEE MONTH FOR B. Y. W. C. A.

Fifty years ago, on March 3, 1866, the first Young Women's Christian Association in the United States was organized in Boston, Massachusetts. The coming month of February will be observed as a nation-wide Members' Jubilee by all the 979 Associations, comprising a membership of over 340,000 in the country today. Meetings of various kinds will be held during the month, all Associations uniting on March 3rd in a birthday service of thanksgiving and reconsecration.

On Sunday, February 6th at 4 P. M. in Lamson Hall, 40 Berkeley street, the Boston Y. W. C. A. Fiftyth Anniversary will be observed by a vesper service in honor of the Pioneers. Every one is cordially invited to this and to the Social Hour for Pioneers from 3 to 5 o'clock at the Association Building, 68 Warren street, Monday, Feb. 7.

Residents of 40 Berkeley street cordially invite their friends and the public to visit the building the evening of February 10th from 8 to 10 o'clock; residents of 68 Warren street extend the same invitation for the evening of February 17th from 8 to 10 o'clock.

On February 23rd and 24th an Historical Pageant—The Pageant of Boston Y. W. C. A., illustrating the history and purpose of Association work throughout the country will be given in Jordan Hall. Miss Lotta Clark, so well known as a pageant leader, has charge of the pageant. Kanriks orchestra furnishes the music, which is a large part of the pageant. Over four hundred girls will take part. Miss Katy Boyd George, Metropolitan Student Secretary is assisting Miss Clark by supervising the groups in the various local schools and colleges. The tickets will be sold at popular prices for this—one of the big events of the Jubilee.

On Friday evening, March 3rd at 7:30 P. M. in St. Paul's Cathedral, will be held a birthday service of thanksgiving and reconsecration. All associations of the United States unite in holding such a service on this date. Dean Rousmaniere will preside at this service and an address will be made by Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick of New York City. The body of the house will be reserved for Association Members; the public is cordially invited. A Jubilee Golden offering will be received.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular mid-year report cards were given out Tuesday noon.

The English Club holds its meetings regularly every second Friday at the close of school. The next meeting is due Friday, February 11. The subject has not yet been announced.

The Boys' Debating Club held its usual meeting last Monday morning. The boys chosen for the debating team will receive three points toward their diploma, besides having the honor of representing the school in the annual Triangular Debate.

Newton's hockey victory over Cambridge Latin last Monday counts in both the Interscholastic and Triangular Leagues. As a result Newton is again tied with Arlington for first place in the Interscholastic League. The team showed rather poor form, however, and must improve greatly before its games with Arlington and Melrose. When Captain Burkhardt returns, a much better showing may be expected.

The Newton team will not figure in another league game for nearly two weeks, but tomorrow afternoon the boys will make a trip to Middlesex to play the Middlesex School seven.

The showing made in the Interclass Track Meet last Friday was on the whole very encouraging. Particularly notable was the work of Arthur Roberts and Henry Pierce in the high jump. Roberts again broke the school record in this event, clearing the bar at five feet ten and three quarters inches, while Pierce jumped five feet nine and one quarter inches. Both surpassed all their previous efforts, and may be relied upon for their share of points in the coming meets.

Captain Ray Adams also proved that he will be a hard man to beat in the 600 yards and relay. It is hoped that O'Brien, the thousand yard runner, will be in slightly better form at the next meet.

Manager Noble has succeeded in arranging a dual meet with the crack Huntington School track team for this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Huntington team is generally regarded as the best schoolboy track team in this part of the state, being made up of a number of stars somewhat older than the local boys. Last year Huntington School was the winner of the Boston Athletic Association schoolboy games. Despite this fine record, the Newton athletes feel that on their own floor they will give the Boston team an exceedingly close meet. Some lively competition may be expected in the 600 yard run, when Ray Adams will try to prove his superiority over the Huntington runners. It is hoped that a large crowd of supporters will attend this important contest.

DEATH OF MRS. DAVIS

Mrs. Seraphina Homer Whitney Davis, widow of the late Francis Gorman Davis, passed away early Wednesday morning at her residence, 24 Pembroke street. She was in her seventy-seventh year and had been in ill health for some time. The deceased was well known in Newton and attended Channing Unitarian Church. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Richardson of Brookline and Miss Gertrude, who made her home with her mother.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from her late residence at 2 o'clock.

 —There is to be a beautifully carved pulpit presented to the new Congregational Church in memory of the Rev. Henry J. A. Pritchard, D.D., who so long was minister of the church. The Communion Table is to be a memorial to the late Captain S. E. Howard, many years chairman of the Newton School Committee and deacon in this church. The east window is to be in memory of the late Benjamin S. Palmer, who did so much for the new church at the inception of the plan for rebuilding. The minister's study is to be furnished as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. William C. Safford, and other such gifts and memorials are being arranged at the present time. The contract for the organ, presented by the late Frank A. Day, has just been let to Casavant Freres of St. Hyacinth, Canada. The present church organ is to be rebuilt for use in the chapel of the new church. The dedication services will probably not be held till the fall of this year.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Enclosed in one of the club Year Books received by the Club Editor early in the season was a card bearing the name of the club with the quotation "Light is the task when many share the toil." It then asks the question, Would you like to serve the club in any of the following lines of activity if called upon? The activities included were: Music, dramatics, war relief, social service, civic improvement, calling on club members and lastly loan of automobile to meet speakers. There was a blank for suggestions and a request to sign and return within two weeks to the corresponding secretary. How many of these were returned the Club Editor does not know, but it seems a very good plan and an easy way of discovering latent talent in a large club where it is impossible to know everyone personally. What a boon to the chairman of a program committee to be able to know just where she may turn for an automobile to meet a speaker on a stormy day without incurring expense to the club. And what a delight to a speaker who may live but a few miles across country to learn that a tedious round-about trolley and train trip with poor connections along the way is made unnecessary by word from a club. We will send an automobile to your door and take you home again afterward. Such little courtesies are deeply appreciated by those who are visiting clubs after and have repeatedly to return home exhausted and late for dinner owing to infrequent railroad or trolley service. The clubs cannot be too thoughtful in these matters. A suggestion like this may well be treasured up for another year.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will hold its regular meeting on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 12, with Mrs. H. W. Drew of Dedham street.

Local Happenings

A large number of presidents of neighboring clubs and special guests responded to the cordial invitation of the West Newton Women's Educational Club for its meeting last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Harry N. Milken, president of the Newton Federation, brought a word of greeting from that organization and told the visitors a little about the work of the Dental Clinic. Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, first vice-president of the State Federation, in a happy way spoke of the club movement and the best thing that has come of it—the getting of the women together to do something worth while. The program, which followed was much enjoyed by all present, included two groups of songs by Miss Eleanor Eddy, accompanied by Miss Gifford, and the dramatic reading of "The Warrens of Virginia," by Miss Iva Roberts. There was a brief reception at the close when opportunity was given to meet the representatives of both Federations, after which refreshments were served in the tea room. Mrs. Robert Gorton, Mrs. George W. St. Amant, Mrs. Henry K. Burrison, and Mrs. Harry S. Wells presided over the tea table.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club was entertained at the home of Miss Alberta J. Crombie on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 29. Mrs. H. W. Drew was in charge of the historical day, when the history of the times of Richard II were considered. Mrs. Drew had the subject well in hand and was able to fill in gaps left by those taking part in the quiz and to make of it a connected whole. The religious revolution under Wycliffe was touched upon. His translation of the Bible into the English of the common people and the fact that he is known as the Father of English prose, as Chaucer is the Father of English poetry, were brought out. The strife between capital and labor had its beginning in this period. The palaces of John of Gaunt were described and pictures shown of two of them, Savoy and Kenilworth. This program made a fitting and satisfactory conclusion to the study of the play of Richard II.

On Monday evening, Jan. 31, Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb lectured under the auspices of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. in the Methodist Church. "A Study of Flemish Art" was the subject, which fitted appropriately into the study which the club has been making of Belgium. The school of painting began with the Van Eycks in the 15th century and covered a period of about two centuries. The brothers Van Eyck found a new method of mixing colors with oil, so that they would endure the dampness of the Northern climate, which had rendered the water color used by the artists in the Southern countries perishable. Examples of the work of these men, of Van der Weyden, Memling, Matsys, Mabuse, Rubens, Van Dyke, Franz Hals and others down to the time of David Teniers, the younger, were shown and explained. The development of landscape painting and of line portraiture was particularly noticeable in the examples thrown upon the screen. In closing Miss Cobb summed up their work by saying:

"With earnestness and patient fidelity the Flemish artists from the beginning to the end of the school, strove to depict what they saw in the world about them. Each one had trained his eyes to look nature and his fellow man full in the face, and his hands to depict with patience and skill the truth which the ever-seeking eyes beheld. The work of such artists must always live, because, aside from the charm of their pictures, the study of their truthful portrayal of nature will continue to uplift mankind."

Mrs. Lotta B. Miller addressed the Newton Highlands Monday Club in Odd Fellows Hall at this week's meeting, her subject being, "Our Clothes." Mrs. Miller, who is connected with the personal service bureau of one of Boston's stores, advocated the making of a budget, that is, forming a plan of what one is going to buy and then going and purchasing those things, instead of the hit or miss manner, which the majority of women follow.

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild had a rare treat in the program presented at the meeting on Tuesday. Rev. A. J. Muste, himself a Hollander, spoke upon the "Problems of Immigration," and Rev. J. Edgar Park under the title "The Romance of Immigration" described the feelings of the young man, who breaks away from his native land to find a home in a new country. He also recited several charming Irish poems. Miss Collier added much to the pleasure by her piano selections from Chopin and Liszt. Ten was served by the Industrial committee, during the social hour.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club held its monthly business meeting and the reports of chairmen of committees were more than usually full of information and interest. The chairman of Home Economics spoke at length of the Public Markets. The chairman of Education described the work of the school nurse, setting forth the disadvantages under which she has been obliged to work from the fact that there was no social place for her. What has been done and still is needed in the rest room which the committee is looking after were also mentioned. The chairman of Conservation told of the effort toward Circuit Tree Planning along the route of the proposed boulevard from Boston to Boston via the Berkshires and expressed the opinion that we of the East have not learned how to boom the things which we have, as she found is being done in the West. The club voted the following appropriations for philanthropic work: Stearns School Centre, $250, Newton Hospital, $100, Hampton Institute, $70, Dental Clinic, $25, School Gardens, $15.

At the meeting of the Pierian Club held with Mrs. Charles Mills on Wednesday, Mrs. H. E. Locke was in charge of the program. The Early History of the Philippines, Manila and its conquest, Aguinaldo, and the condition of the islands today were all set forth in the paper of the afternoon.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Woman's Charity Club were entertained at Bridge on Wednesday by Mrs. James I. Wingate of Auburndale. Tea was served and souvenirs were presented to Mrs. E. L. Thresher of Brighton and Mrs. J. Babson Ladd of Brookline.

At a meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, February 3d, announcement was made that the Bray family have given to the club a piece of valuable property in the center of the village, known as the Bartholomew place, to be used as site for the erection of a club house. This gift comes unsolicited from a family whose generosity is surpassed only by their modesty. This most valuable donation makes possible an earlier realization of the plans of the club for a suitable club home.

Members and guests of the Auburn-dale Woman's Club to the number of about 300 assembled at Woodland Park Hotel for the annual Gentlemen's Night on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Charles A. Brown, the president, assisted by some of the other officers, received the guests as they arrived, after which came the formal program. Miss Sallie Turner rendered a group of songs and Miss Frances Nevins gave a dramatic reading of "Monsieur Beauchamp," both of which were well received by the audience. At the close there was a general social hour with refreshments.

LODGES

The Catholic Union of Newton observed Parents' Night Wednesday evening in Nonantum Hall with a musical program. More than 200 were present. Rev. Fr. Lawrence Slattery, P. R., of the Church of Our Lady, Newton, who was to have been the guest of the club, was unable to be present because of a severe cold. Mayor Edwin O. Childs was given an enthusiastic reception at the conclusion of his short address. The other speaker was Clifford S. J. White, president of the club. The arrangements were under the direction of Edward Gray.

AUTOMOBILE CONTEST

Wide Spread Interest All Over the City in Fight For Maxwell Car.

PRIZES OFFERED IN THE NEWTON GRAPHIC AUTOMOBILE CONTEST

GRAND PRIZE Open to All Districts.

Five Passenger Maxwell Touring Car, 1916 Model, Electric Lights, Electric Starter, One Man Top, Demountable Rims, Clear Vision, double ventilating windshield and Tire Carrier. Priced $655.

DISTRICT ONE

$50 in Gold

DISTRICT TWO

$50 in Gold

DISTRICT THREE

$50 in Gold

And 10% to be paid to non-prize winners. Get Busy!

The offering of the Maxwell Touring Car as well as the cash prizes, announcement of which was made last week, seems to have met with popular favor as the number of entrants that are published today will show. Each district is represented with a fair representation and while some of the districts have more nominees it is safe to assert that the next issue will see many more who will enter their name to strive for the honor of driving The Newton Graphic Automobile this summer.

The value of the prizes offered and the extreme easy manner in which they can be won makes it a competition that appeals to all alike. Coming at the most opportune season of the year, the month of April, the winner of this beautiful little Maxwell Car may have the happy distinction and much pleasure while some will have to be content with the delays that are so common in delivery. The district prizes, of fifty dollars in gold to each are not to be viewed with any disfavor. All the prizes offered are worth much energetic hustling and the person who secures any of the prizes will have many pleasant recollections of the time spent in the quest of votes. Not unlike any other venture where anything of value is at stake it needs some work to accomplish the desired result. To win the Automobile it is essential that the aspirants show real signs of life and let all their friends know that they covet the prize offered and mean to have it. The more energy displayed during the early part of the contest means just so much larger a total when the grand finish comes.

From this time the contest will be on in earnest, and interest will increase each day. This will be the only election this year where you can "stuff the ballot-box" and vote as many times as you may desire.

While several nominations are given in this issue it is safe to predict that many more will be made public next week.

Each and every one of those whose names appear in this issue will have sent to them a receipt book and a report blank with a circular letter which will be all the necessary forms for use in the gathering of the votes which will be the means of winning the Grand Prize, The Maxwell Automobile. The Automobile Manager will commence calling upon each one of the contestants at once and try to enlighten each one in regard to the best ways of getting the greatest amount of value for the effort expended. But each entrant is urged not to wait for this visit, which may of necessity be delayed, but get right after the promises of subscriptions while the field is open and the gathering of the needed counters is much easier. Call up the office without delay and ask all the questions that you can think of. As we said last week, it is easier to answer questions than to correct mistakes. An early start, and a right start, may mean the banner prize for you.

The only possible cost to the candidate who will win the prizes that have been offered is the cost of ambition that it takes to secure the votes. The world loves a hustler and this sentiment will be much more manifest as the candidates show by their persistence and endeavor that they desire to really win. The support that will be accorded each one will be in proportion to the activity that is displayed. It certainly pays to be up and doing. The faint-hearted never get anywhere. Any how, so it will not pay them to enter this competition as it is going to become spirited. But the happy satisfaction that will come to the person who secures the Automobile, for the spare time spent judiciously in gathering votes, will be most gratifying.

No time should be wasted. The contest is not a long one. Each day can be made to bring forth substantial returns if the right spirit is put in to the work. Subscriptions are what will count the most and each worker is urged to get after these subscriptions at once.

It is a satisfaction to know that the paper you read each week is reliable. True value can be gleaned from the bright broad views and the conservative reports from the columns of a newspaper like the Newton Graphic which is as well fitted to the man of affairs as it is to the home, combining as it does, and as few newspapers do, the element of state-wide information, detailed local news from all the Newtons, special features, and a stand, never abandoned, for the best interests of the community.

The coupon which will appear in The Newton Graphic, and are worth 25 votes each, can be clipped and put in bundles and sent, or brought, to the office each week. These little counters expire and must be watched so that the value of each one can be of service in extending the total of your vote. If your name is not on the list as presented today send it in so that it can be announced with the next issue. There is plenty of room for any one who will enter and get active at once. The winners will not be known until the end of the balloting.

While the Newton Graphic is going to award the prizes offered, as well as some that have not yet been announced, whether the vote is large or small, and the wise ones will at once see that it will take some votes to win. To amass a large vote should be the uppermost thought in the mind of each aspirant for prize honors.

The first vote exhibit showing the number of votes that have been cast for each candidate will be given in the next issue of The Newton Graphic and in order to have votes appear in this showing all votes must be reported to the office on Thursday night. No candidate will be allowed to poll more than five thousand votes ahead of the next highest until further notice is given.

Now that we have told you, Hustle.

FAVOR SENATOR WEEKS

Advices recently received in Washington from Missouri indicate that the first county delegates elected to choose delegates to the Chicago convention, are supporters of Senator John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, for the Presidency.

"I am one of the number selected," says a telegram reaching Washington from Missouri, "and can assure you that all from this county will vote for Weeks delegates. I have heard from most of the delegates, and the district is for Weeks, beyond a question."

The supporters of Senator Weeks have felt confident of strong support in Missouri, and the assurance that the first county delegates to be chosen are for the Senator, is very gratifying to them. Congressman L. C. Dyer, of Missouri, and commander-in-chief of the Spanish-American War Veterans, predicted several weeks ago that the Massachusetts Senator would have the solid vote of Missouri in the Convention, and that he would receive the Presidential nomination on the third or fourth ballot.

SILVER LAKE DRAGGED

Another effort to find some clue to the mysterious disappearance of ex-mayor Thomas F. Kearns of Waltham was attempted Tuesday, when the Newton police dragged Silver Lake, Nonantum, in the vicinity of which Mr. Kearns was last seen alive. The pond was thoroughly gone over by Sergeant Clay and officers Conroy, McAleer and Dolan without results.

SUFFRAGE SCHOOL PLANNED

Courses in citizenship and suffrage are to be conducted by the Boston Equal Suffrage Association on alternate Tuesday evenings at the new headquarters, 167 Tremont street, Boston, beginning Feb. 1.

The subjects to be taken up for the respective evenings are: the development of democracy, the federal government, the State government, the modern city and its problems, governmental agencies, woman and some human civic problems.

At these meetings Mrs. Marion Booth Kelley will explain the organization of government, and current legislative measures will be discussed by the following speakers: Miss Mary O. Wilcox, secretary Massachusetts Commission on Immigration; Mrs. Mary S. Woolman, chairman of Education Committee, Miss Esther Barrows, chairman of Industrial and Social Conditions Committee, and Mrs. Julius Andrews, chairman Legislative Committee of State Federation of Women's Clubs; Miss Marion Nichols, chairman Legislative Committee of City Federation of Women's Clubs; and Mrs. Eva Whiting White, director of extension work of Public Schools.

Suffrage objections will be discussed on alternate Tuesday evenings, beginning with Feb. 8, and practice in suffrage argument given by Mrs. Teresa A. Crowley, Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, Miss Florence Luscomb, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, and others.

These courses are free to all. Persons who wish to join should send in their names at once. Mrs. Evelyn Howe Scanlan and Mrs. Alice G. Brandeis are the committee in charge.

IMPORTANT MATTER

The writer would like to call the attention of the proper authorities to the matter which he believes could and should receive their attention. Our streets are constructed in the interest of those who are fortunate enough to be able to ride in automobiles and other vehicles, which we will admit is commendable. Is there any reason why the comfort and welfare of pedestrians should not receive the same consideration as is given to the occupants of vehicles? Why should the city allow a 5 ft. sidewalk to be ankle deep with mud, when the streets from 40 to 75 ft. wide are so constructed as to be hardly effected by the frost?

Once properly constructed the cost of maintenance of sidewalks would be infinitesimally small, while the streets require constant attention. There are many gravel sidewalks in Newton which, on account of the mud are absolutely useless at certain seasons, necessitating walking in the streets, which endangers life and limb, and is a source of anxiety to the drivers. Our Board of Trade, the various Improvement Associations, and other societies organized for the betterment of conditions in our city, can do the public no better service, than to agitate and insist upon this much needed improvement. The writer objects to his clients, from out of town, being mired in Newton's gravel sidewalks, necessitating using a derrick to hoist them out.

DEATH OF MRS. DOANE

Mrs. Elizabeth Doane passed away Thursday, Jan. 27th, at her home in Boston. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Rena Doane.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Henry F. Cate, on Temple street, West Newton. An impressive service was conducted at 2.15 o'clock by Rev. Harry Beal, rector of the Church of the Messiah. Sacred selections were rendered by a quartet. The burial was in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

WILBUR THEATRE—In entering upon its fourth remarkable week of success at Ye Wilbur Theatre next Monday night, "It Pays to Advertise" has the distinction of already having broken all records at this popular little playhouse, although the attraction has been in Boston but three weeks. And breaking records at this theatre means something, for it only required two successes, Wm. Hodge in "The Road to Happiness," and "A Pair of Sixes," to fill out an entire season there. All who remember the large attendances to see the latter farce during its long six months' run at the Wilbur will be surprised to learn that "It Pays to Advertise" is running far ahead of it in box office receipts. It is difficult to describe the magnetism of "It Pays to Advertise," but magnetic comedy it surely is. It has been running a year and a half and has been seen in but two cities before coming to Boston—one year in New York and a half year in Chicago. It is doubtful if any farce yet presented has found such immediate and pronounced popular favor in any community as has "It Pays to Advertise" in Boston.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—A farce "A Mix Up," by a newspaper man, Parker A. Hord, will occupy the boards at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, for one week beginning next Monday evening. Stella Mayhew, always a great favorite in this city, by reason of her many appearances here, has the title role in the farce, which is in three acts. Supporting Miss Mayhew are Maurice Naughton, Sarah McVicker, Albert Reed, Martin Brown, Helen Beaumont, Jack Dougherty and other favorites. It is announced that specialties will be interspersed in the farce. Miss Mayhew will give her repertoire of songs that she used in vaudeville, including the "Devil" and "Indian" songs. She will be accompanied on the piano by Billy Taylor, her husband who writes all of her music for her. Mr. Taylor is the author of "Vanity Fair."

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—For the fifth time a Harvard Prize Play will be given next Monday at the Castle Square Theatre. Its title this year is "Between the Lines," and is the work of Charlotte Chorpennan, a student in Radcliffe College. It is a bright and vivacious comedy of modern American life in a prologue, three acts and epilogue, and it is not, as might be imagined from its title, a play of war and battle. Its title really refers to certain incidents in family life that may be inferred if we "read between the lines" of what they write us, or of what they say to us. The entire personnel of the Craig Players will be in the cast. Mr. Craig and Miss Young will be seen respectively as Tom and Rachel, and Mr. Carleton, Mr. Friebus, Mr. Meek, Mr. Roberts, Miss Barnicott, Miss Sidney, Miss Adams and Miss Kate Ryan will also have important roles.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Ada C. Langley who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the fourteenth day of February A. D. 1916, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of January in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

No. 5761
LAND COURT

To Francis E. Stanley, Mary Joyce, Mabel F. Crocker, Margaret MacLean, Elizabeth F. Taaffe, Mary A. L. Taaffe, Sanford A. McLean and Honoria McLean, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex; William A. Bunton, Melvina M. Williams, Frank W. Thomas, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk; all in said Commonwealth; William H. Thomas, Trustee under the will of John Thomas, late of said Boston, deceased; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by the Newton Cemetery Corporation, a corporation duly organized under the laws of said Commonwealth, and having an usual place of business at said Newton to register and confirm its title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton, bounded and described as follows:

Easterly by Channing Street seventy-one and 14-100 (71.14) feet; Southerly by land now or formerly of Stanley eighty-seven and 33-100 (87.33) feet; Westerly by a private way known as Thornton Place and by land now or formerly of Joyce seventy (70) feet; and Northerly by land now or formerly of Crocker ninety-three and 13-100 (93.13) feet. Containing 6359 square feet of land, more or less.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land a right of way for all purposes in said Thornton Place, in common with the owners of other land abutting thereon.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty-first day of February A. D. 1916, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles T. Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of January in the year nineteen hundred and sixteen.
Attest with Seal of said Court.
CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.

Rules and Conditions

Any man or woman, married or single, or any boy or girl who resides in any of the districts represented may enter The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest by having his or her nomination properly filled out and endorsed by one reputable citizen of their district. A person may nominate himself.

There will be three separate districts, (as described elsewhere on this page), from which to enter.

The grand prize—a MAXWELL TOURING CAR—will be awarded to the person who secures the greatest number of votes, under the rules and conditions governing this Contest. The three district prizes—one in each district—FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD—will be awarded to the persons securing the greatest number of votes in each district, excluding the winner of the grand prize.

Votes will be credited by means of COUPONS, and CERTIFICATES. A voting COUPON will be printed in each copy of the NEWTON GRAPHIC during the nine weeks the Contest will continue, which should be clipped, filed in with the name of the candidate, and deposited at the office of the Newton Graphic before the expiration of the time printed thereon in order to count. Voting CERTIFICATES will be issued only on payment of new or old subscriptions to the NEWTON GRAPHIC as described below.

Each contestant will be given a receipt book to be used in all cases where money is paid, the receipt proper, to be given to the subscriber and the stub, which bears a corresponding number to the receipt, will be reported to the office, where it will be copied on Report Blanks, and on which voting CERTIFICATES will be issued.

No employee of the NEWTON GRAPHIC will be allowed to enter this contest.

Candidates must enter from the district in which they live.

Votes are not transferable from one candidate to another.

In the event of a tie vote the contestants who tie will receive a prize of equal value.

A Board of three responsible citizens will inspect the vote at the close of the Contest and will award the prizes accordingly.

The publisher of the NEWTON GRAPHIC guarantees fair treatment to each Contestant, and reserves the right to amend these rules, if necessary, for the protection of all concerned.

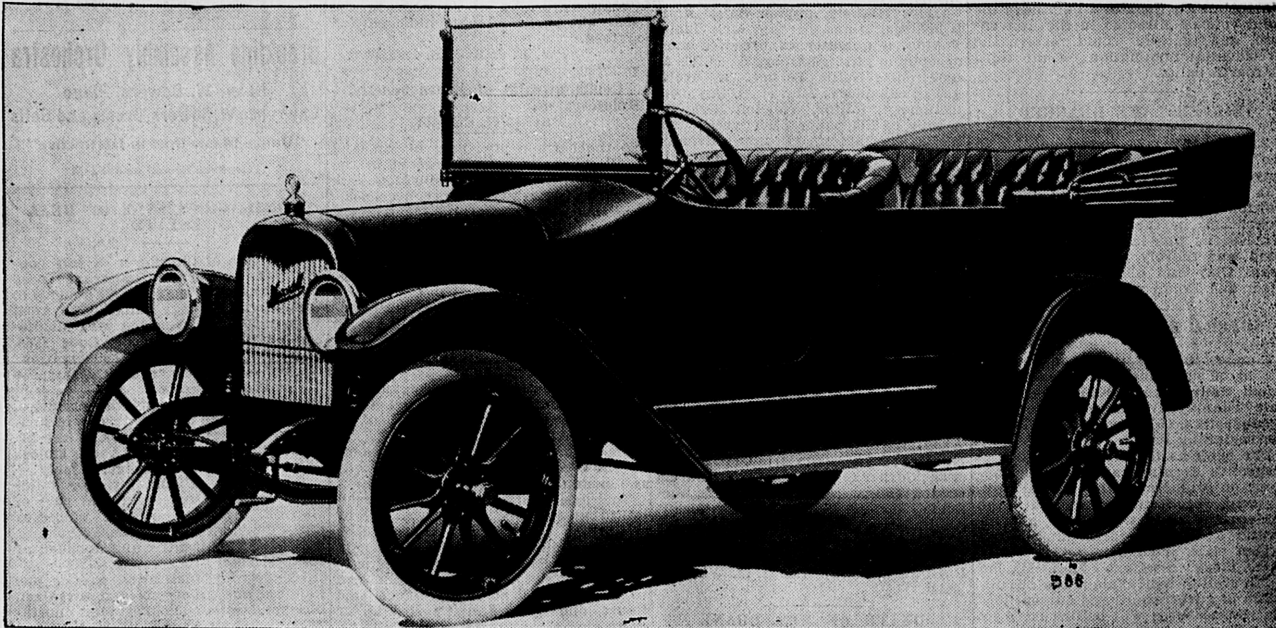

The publisher of the NEWTON GRAPHIC will not recognize any statement or promise made by any solicitor, agent or contestant, other than those contained in the printed Rules and Conditions of this Contest, or which may bear his signature.

Persons who enter and take part in this Contest will thereby agree to all conditions.

Votes will be given on subscriptions, both old or new. All the new subscriptions will count more than old.

In order to protect subscribers, the names of those who pay subscriptions directly to the office in behalf of any contestant, will not be divulged.

In the event of inactivity in any district the management reserves the right to withdraw the prize offered or award same at its own discretion.

THE DISTRICTS

Do you live in any of these districts? If so, you are eligible to compete for the Automobile and other prizes.

District 1—Newton and Nonantum.
District 2—Newtonville, West Newton, Auburndale and Lower Falls.
District 3—Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban and Upper Falls.

Every Worker Can Win in This Contest.

How to Win a Prize

The first thing to do is to enter your name as a candidate, then either write, call or phone the NEWTON GRAPHIC AUTOMOBILE DEPARTMENT for a receipt book with which to secure subscriptions. Then let all your friends know that you are in the race and request them to save votes for you. Don't wait. Get busy at once. Use the telephone freely. Let everyone know you are a candidate before they promise their help to a more enterprising contestant.

Be ambitious and determined to win. If you have friends whom you cannot see, write them at once.

Urge your friends to help you win. If you belong to a club, society or organization, let your fellow members know, so they may assist you. Do not let a day pass without securing some votes. The steady, persistent work is what will make you the winner of the valuable prize.

It is easier to answer questions than correct mistakes. Do not hesitate to ask questions. The management will be glad to help you.

These valuable prizes will be won by some one. WHY NOT YOU?

GENERAL INFORMATION

Each district is separate and distinct and the number of votes cast for candidates in one district has no bearing whatever upon the number of votes cast for candidates in other districts, except so far as the capital prize, The Automobile, is concerned.

The one person securing the greatest number of votes in any of the districts will win the Maxwell Touring Car. Then each district will receive the prize which has been offered according to the vote cast. Each district having two or more active candidates to the end of the contest will be awarded a district prize.

PRIZES OFFERED TO BE WON BY HUSTLE

The only way in which the Maxwell Touring Car, which will be given as the Grand Prize, and the other district prizes which have been offered can be won is by becoming a candidate and competing for the same according to the rules and conditions which will govern the competition.

Personal work is a prime requisite for success and the manner in which the contesting aspirants entice their friends will have much to do in the awarding of the desirable prizes.

The contest presents an opportunity of a life time to all. The Maxwell Touring Car which will be given to the one candidate whose vote exceeds all the others in the race is something that all of us would appreciate but cannot have. This excellent plan provides the vehicle for some one to profit immeasurably. Who it will be depends on the spirit and determination shown by those who become interested. The offerings have been announced. The rest is up to YOU. You know what has been said of the procrastinator? Opportunity knocks at your door. Let it in and be happy ever after. The Newton Graphic will be glad to receive a query from you. By starting today you may head off some one in your district.

MARKED CHANGE IN OPINION

Naturalists Claim That Ideas Held by Former Colleagues Were Based on Wrong Conclusions.

Naturalists are not pinning their faith to all the theories of the Darwinians, as they were a few years ago. They are ready to discard any theory as soon as it is demonstrated to be incompatible with facts. One of the latest ideas to be cast into the discard is that every part of a plant or of an animal had a definite value and played a part in securing its survival.

This change in attitude is well illustrated by an article in the Journal of Heredity in which the editor expresses the opinion that the extrafloral nectaries found on cherries, cowpeas and other legumes, castor beans, ferns, etc., "just happen," they have no particular reason, once they remain, for any of no disadvantage.

Nectaries are the glands that secrete nectar. They are found in most flowers, but in many are also found on the leaf stems. Many theories as to their use have been advanced, but long experimentation has proved each of these theories to be erroneous.

"We can hardly avoid the conclusion in many cases," writes the editor, "that they have no vital function and that the plant would probably get along just as well without them," although he admits that it is "dangerous for man to assume that he can understand all the ways of Nature and decide by his own standards whether or not a certain structure is of value to a plant."

IS CALLED DUTCH THACKERAY

Work of Maarten Maartens, Says Eastern Journal, Will Live as Long as "Pendennis."

Holland lost in the death of Joost Marius Willem Van der Poorten Schwartz, known to the world of letters as Maarten Maartens, the one great novelist of whom it had a right to be proud, a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle declares. In some respect he was the leader of the world in novel making. His breadth of sympathy, his keenness of observation, his hatred of sham, his gentle humor, made "God's Fool," "The Sin of Joost Avelingh," "Dorothea," "The Healers" and a dozen other works familiar to readers in every land, and there was a grave loss to the world of letters as well as to his native country in his passing.

"Maarten Maartens" lived much in Paris. He loved to be in the world and of the world. But his work was mostly done in the old castle of Zonneheuvel, near Doorn. With Maurice Maeterlinck, the Belgian, he kept the literary art of the "low countries" in the world's van. To Americans his skill was a delight, losing little in translation. He might be called the Dutch Thackeray without much stretching of the imagination. He had much in common with the author of "Vanity Fair," and his works are bound to live as long as "Pendennis" or "Henry Esmond."

HAS ITS PECULIAR QUALITIES

Guncotton, Powerful Explosive, Will Simply Burn Rapidly When It Is Unconfined.

If someone should place a wad of guncotton on the palm of your hand and threaten to touch it off with a lighted match, you would be frightened. Yet you need not be. Though guncotton is one of the most powerful of ordinary explosives, it would not hurt you.

When dry guncotton is exposed to the air it does not explode when ignited, but burns with great rapidity. So rapidly does the burning take place that if a loose wad of the material be held in the hand and touched with fire, there is a sudden flash, and an instant later not a trace of smoke or a mark on the hand remains to indicate what has taken place. Guncotton does not detonate unless it is confined, as in the barrel of a gun.

When dry, however, guncotton can be made to explode with great violence by being struck sharply between two hard surfaces. Detonation, as such an explosion is called, is quite a different phenomenon from burning. It seems to consist in the instantaneous disintegration of the molecules of the exploding substance. It is as though all the bricks in a great building were in a fraction of a second to be scattered about Greater New York.

—The monthly meeting of the Newton W. C. T. U. was held Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. D. MacFarlane, Aberdeen street, Newton Highlands.

—A meeting of the Unity Club will be held Monday afternoon at the residence of Miss Eva Bailey on Surrey road.

—The Dancing Class meets every Friday morning at the residence of Mrs. Freedom Hutchinson on Centre street.

—Mrs. John Q. A. Whittemore of Washington street has sent out cards for a dancing party on Monday evening, Feb. 28th at the Hotel Somerset, Boston.

—The Complexion.

The food we eat has much to do with the condition of the complexion. Green salads are an important aid to the digestion and will accomplish much toward bleaching and whitening a salow complexion. They possess certain chemical qualities and supply the body with needed salts. Tomatoes, endive, etouee and young onions are splendid for the skin. Spinach contains salts of potassium, iron and other properties that act upon the liver. Tea and coffee must be taken in moderation.

—Nothing to Be Proud Of.

"I can't say they will forgive but can't forget an injury simply bury the hatchet while they leave the handle out ready for immediate use."

—Dwight L. Moody.

—Rag-Time.

Ragtime music, "being in no wise serious," is the reverse of depressing. "The African jingles of the present day create an emotional atmosphere of restlessness and excitement which is typically American, and which is opposed to health only so far as our national restlessness and lack of poise tend to make us a people whose national disease is nervous exhaustion."

Roughly speaking, lively music, such as rag-time, is likely to rouse depressed persons from their melancholy; sad and pathetic music will soothe the excitable and hypernervous.

—Offered a Compromise.

Househusband—Yes, I'll give you a good, square meal after you saw some wood.

Trampette—My back's too lame, but, instead, I could lecture on suffrage before your literary society.—Life.

—The Ferguson Club met Thursday evening in the Methodist Church. Following the dinner an interesting illustrated address on "Travels Through France" was given by Mr. J. Wesley Barber.

—At the monthly supper and meeting of the Immanuel Associates, which was held last evening at Immanuel Baptist Church, Rev. F. S. Retan of West Newton gave an interesting address on "The Making of a Man."

—At an election in the Methodist Church on Friday evening Mr. Fred-eric D. Fuller was elected Delegate, and Alonzo R. Weed, Reserved Delegate to the Lay Electoral Conference, which will be held in Worcester on Friday, April 14th.

—The Men's League and the Immanuel Associates met as one class on Sunday at Immanuel Church, under the leadership of Mr. Henry Turner Bailey. Mr. Raymond B. Johnson spoke on "The Coming of the Kingdom of God in our Foreign Policy."

—The Junior Society of Christian Endeavor for boys and girls from 8 to 14 years of age, of which Miss Helen Moore is superintendent, met Sunday afternoon at 4:15 in Immanuel Baptist Church. Alden Somerby was the leader and the topic was "The Children of the Bible."

—Church Day of the Women's Association was observed Wednesday at Immanuel Baptist Church. Luncheon was served at 12:30 and the afternoon program commenced at 2:30. Mrs. Chamberlin was the leader of the meeting and the topic was "The Sign of the Son of Man in India."

—At the meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor on Sunday evening at Immanuel Baptist Church, Signor Francesco Argento, Italian minister of Newton, spoke interestingly of his work among the Italians in the city. Music on the mandolin and guitar and vocal selections in Italian were furnished by two Italian young men.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Crowell and family who have been spending the winter at Vernon Court, moved Saturday into their new residence recently completed on Commonwealth avenue, Newtonville.

—A Candy, Cake and Valentine Sale will be held in Grace Church Parish House on Saturday, Feb. 12, from 3 to 9 o'clock P. M., under the auspices of the Senior Band of the Girls' Friendly Society. Tea will be served in true Colonial style. Everyone cordially invited.

—Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown of Washington street entertained a large company of guests at luncheon followed by bridge on Thursday afternoon at the Brae Burn Country Club. A scheme of yellow was carried out in the decorations, large baskets of yellow jonquils with yellow satin ribbon bows were arranged as centre pieces on each table. Beautiful Japanese bags in attractive boxes tied with yellow ribbon were awarded as souvenirs.

—DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Plimpton Scofield and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marcy Hill entertained at a very delightful dance on Thursday evening at the Hunnewell Club, Newton.

A merry company of guests numbering about 140 assembled in Stanley Hall, which was decorated most attractively for the occasion with baskets of pink Killarney roses tied with satin bows. Russell's Orchestra was in attendance with the usual excellent program of music, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. A pleasing feature was a solo dance, "Little Glow Worm," very gracefully executed by Miss Pauline Dunne, with partner.

The ushers were Mr. John Webber of Brighton, Mr. William F. Garcelon, Mr. Prescott Warren, Mr. Richard Badger, Mr. Ralph Angier, Mr. Henry Curtis of Newton, Mr. Howard North of Waban and Mr. Henry A. Hill of Brookline. Guests prominent in social life were present from Boston, Brookline and the Newtons.

SHUBERT THEATRE—E. H. Sothorn will appear at the Shubert Theatre beginning next Monday night for his farewell appearances on the Boston stage in Alfred Sutro's comedy, "The Two Virtues"—a comedy which was originally produced with great success by Sir George Alexander, at the St. James Theatre, London, in March 1914. Mr. Sothorn first appeared in "The Two Virtues" last October in Washington, D. C., and then went direct to New York to the Booth Theatre where the play enjoyed a prosperous run of three months. Mr. Sutro's comedy, "The Two Virtues," delicately satirizes woman's attitude toward woman. Miss Alexandra Carlisle, who was so charming as the heroine in "David Garrick," has the leading feminine role. Mrs. Guildford, a part that enables her to prove her worth as an actress of real emotional power. Mr. Sothorn's last appearance in Boston will take place on the stage of the Shubert Theatre, Saturday night, Feb. 12th.

WEEKS FOR PRESIDENT

The Presidential candidacy of Senator John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, continues to gain strength in the Northwest, where he has always had a strong following. During the past week two prominent citizens of that section, both of whom are leaders of political thought in the Northwest, have given out statements indicating that the State of Washington will support Senator Weeks at the Chicago convention. The statement of Hon. E. A. Sims, a member of the Washington State Legislature, appearing in several Western papers, is as follows: "I am a presidential candidate, and after national capitol, I carefully analyzed the statements of the press and the views of those interested in politics. I have talked personally with most of the presidential candidates, and after nature consideration and thought, have arrived at the conclusion that the Hon. John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, is the proper man to head the Republican ticket. I met Senator Weeks and I was very much impressed with him; in fact, so impressed that I have decided that the State of Washington could do no better than to make him their choice in the convention, and I want to impress my friends as I have been, so that we can get to work with one idea, and that is the election of Mr. Weeks to the White House."

The other Westerner coming out this week for the Massachusetts senator is William Jones, of Seattle, a delegate to the last Republican national convention, and a probable delegate to this year's convention. Mr. Jones gave the following statement to the Washington Post during his visit in Washington.

"I believe Senator Root would have had the Washington delegation at Chicago had he not eliminated consideration of his candidacy. There is a very strong sentiment for a conservative candidate, and I should not be surprised now to see Senator Weeks the choice of the State of Washington."

DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whittemore entertained a large company of guests at a very delightful dancing party on Saturday evening at their residence on Summit street, Newton.

All of the rooms on the lower floor were elaborately decorated in a scheme of yellow, with a profusion of yellow roses in combination with daffodils, arranged with palms and potted plants.

Hugh Payne's Orchestra was in attendance and furnished an exceptionally fine program of music and about forty couples participated in the dancing.

Mrs. Whittemore was assisted by Mrs. Carl Whittemore and Mrs. David Whittemore of Newton. Supper was served in one of the glassed-in sun-porches in the upper part of the house and yellow roses were arranged attractively on the table. Guests of social prominence were present from Boston, Brookline, Cambridge and the Newtons.

Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe of London, England, will speak at the February meeting of the Christian Forum, Sunday, February 13th, in Eliot Church. His subject will be "Democracy and Leadership."

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

A very interesting innovation has been made by the Massachusetts State Board of Education. On January 1st there was established a department of university extension, authorized to co-operate with existing institutions of learning in the establishment and conduct of university extension and correspondence courses, to supervise such courses which are supported in whole or in part by state revenues, and also to establish and conduct such courses for the benefit of residents of Massachusetts.

The Board now announces a series of correspondence courses based in large part upon similar work that has been found successful elsewhere. These include courses in language, in history and government, in economics, in mathematics, in commercial lines (including industrial accounting and management), in drawing, in engines and boilers, in heating, ventilating and power plants, in electricity, in structural, highway and hydraulic engineering, in homemaking, civil service and agriculture.

In connection with these courses there has been sent out also a list of reference books which the Board recommends, and of this list the Newton Free Library will soon add to its collection such titles as are lacking. The titles listed herewith are those which the library already has upon its shelves: New practice book, by Hitchcock (ZB.H63); English composition, Wendell (ZB.W48); Handbook of English composition, Woolley (ZB.W88); Specimens of prose composition, Nutter, Hersey & Greenough (ZB.N96); Study and practice of writing English, Lomer & Ashmun (ZB.L83); Civics for new Americans, Hill & Davis (JTS.H55); Money and banking, White (HM.W58); Plane geometry, Wells (LG.W46n); Retail selling and store management, Neystrom (HKH.N49); Essentials of electricity, Timbie (LM.T48); Overhead electric power transmission, Still (TGG.S85); Strength of materials, Merriman (SC.M55); Hydraulics, Merriman (SL.M55); Furnishing of a modest home, Daniels (WSH.D22); A Civil service manual, Ewart, Field and Morrison (JVC.E94); Formation of the Union, Hart (F83.H25); Select documents illustrative of the history of the United States, 1776-1861, with notes, ed. by Mac Donald (F83.M14); Critical period of American history, Fiske (F83.F4); Preliminaries of the Revolution, (F83.9H2a v. 8); The American Revolution, Van Tyne (F83.9H2a v. 9); The federalist system, Bassett (F83.9H2a v. 11); Jeffersonian democracy, Channing (F83.9H2a v. 12); Rise of American nationality, Babcock (F83.9H2a v. 13); Rise of the new west, Turner (F83.9H2a v. 14); Industrial history of the United States, Coman (HE83.C7); Tariff history of the United States, Taussig (HU83.T19); History of the presidency, Stanwood (JUS.S75b); American political history, Johnston, ed. by Woodburn (F83.J64); History of the United States of America under the constitution, first three volumes, McMaster (F83.M22); Cambridge modern history (F07.C14); Preliminaries of the American revolution, Howard (F83.9H2a v. 8); Life of Patrick Henry, Tyler (E.H.396.T); The American revolution, Fiske (F83.F54); The confederation and constitution, MacLaughlin (F83.9H2a v. 10); Contemporaries, Hart (F83.9H2); Washington, Lodge (EW.277.L); Winning the west, Roosevelt (F89.R67); Tariff controversies, Stanwood (HU83.S79); Federalist system, Bassett (F83.9H2a v. 11); Congressional government, Wilson (K83.W69); Thomas Jefferson, Morse (E.J.359.M); History of the United States, Adams (F83.A21); Madison, Gay (E.M.265.G); History of the United States Elson (F83.E49); Marshall, Thayer

ALLIES' RELIEF

The January shipments of the Newton South Allies' Relief Association were as follows: to the American Fund for French Wounded, 306 Boylston street, 5370 surgical sponges, 229 knit sponges, 12 comfort pillows, 3 feather pillows, 3 down puffs, 1 slumber robe, 1 quilt, 2 pr. blankets, 1 sweater, 1 pr. wristers, 1 pr. rubber gloves and 1 surgical appliance.

The following articles were sent to Mrs. Huntington Smith of the Animal Rescue League to be sent by her to Rome: 2 hot-water bottles, 8 feather pillows, 7 blankets, 1 down puff, 5 boxes soap, 85 comfort pillows, 1 woollen sweater, 1 dressing gown, 1 overcoat, 5 woollen undersuits, 5 cotton shirts, 1 pr. woollen gloves, 4 pr. socks, 11 games, 8 packs of cards and 5 comfort bags. The hand-knitted woollen goods were also sent to Rome through Mrs. Smith's agency as follows: 11 mufflers, 9 sleeveless sweaters, 5 helmets, 5 pr. wristers, 1 knee-cap, 23 pr. socks, and 12 pr. hospital socks. To the Cunard Line for use in the convalescent hospitals the Association sent 500 books and magazines.

Meetings of the Association will continue to be held at Trinity Parish House on Friday mornings beginning promptly at 9:30. All the work done this month, with the exception of the regular surgical supplies, will be sent to Miss Julia Colby of Newton Centre now working in the Johnston-Reckett Military Hospital near Paris.

FAVOR PUBLIC MARKETS

Interesting Hearing at City Hall on Question of Continuance

The board of aldermen sat until nearly midnight on Monday and not only transacted a large amount of business but gave a long and interesting hearing on the matter of continuing the experiment of public markets. President Blanchard was in the chair and all the members were present.

Hearings were given on Telephone poles on Cedar street, Edison and Telephone poles on Dexter road, and Edison pole on Washington park at which no one appeared and orders were subsequently adopted.

Mr. L. C. Oakley appeared in favor of the petition of the Texas Co. to locate tanks on B. & A. land near the Hospital and there was no opposition.

On the matter of sewer in Pennsylvania avenue, a letter in favor was read from W. F. Curtis.

Mr. Henry H. Kendall opened the hearing in favor of continuing the Public Markets saying that the need and value of the market had been demonstrated with its greatest success at Newton Centre. At a recent mass meeting at Newton Centre the matter had been given a strong endorsement and a postcard canvass showed a 90 per cent favorable vote. The system was well worth while for it reached a class of people who needed to buy on a close margin. The state law compelling the designation of street stands for farmers opened a wide door unless they were supervised for these places should be kept clean and need supervision to be profitable and serviceable.

Mrs. Brigham said that 500 women in Newton Centre favored the market and in her work among the poorer classes she had found a great need for this opportunity.

Mr. H. W. Hall said he had sent out 2400-2500 postcards and out of 930 returned only 16 were opposed. He stated that in the few months the markets were operated last fall about $20,000 worth of produce were sold at an average saving to the consumer of 35.8 per cent over the local prices, or $10,000. The experiment showed the necessity of supervision to enforce the board of health rules, to require horses to be unhitched from the teams, to require grading of produce and to avoid misrepresentation. Hucksters should be excluded. Mr. Hall stated that 98 per cent of the taxes of the state were paid by consumers of which two thirds resided around Boston and that four-fifths of our food came from outside the state, the further away, the more it costs. We can only lower the cost by increasing the production of our own state. Hon. J. M. W. Hall argued that these markets did not affect the local storekeeper. He also said that young Mr. Hall was not in this thing for any job or office. One reason he said why we pay high taxes is because our farms are not productive, as only about 80 of the 300 millions of produce which can be grown in this state actually comes from Massachusetts. To encourage an open market for farmers will develop the farms and taxes will soon be reduced. We lose a great opportunity if we don't encourage the public market and it is mere moonshine to say the local dealer will suffer.

Mr. George N. Goddard said that while the Newton Centre mass meeting had favored the public market it had done so with certain definite restrictions. It believed that sanitary conditions should be better, that the farmers should be willing to pay a reasonable rental fee to make the matter self supporting. That the city ought not to subsidize the market to compete with local dealers and that the meeting had protested against the Mason school location with the school lawn littered with boxes and barrels. Mr. Goddard suggested a new location east of the school house on Langley road and Beacon street. He also believed that out of town hucksters should be excluded and that meats should not be sold.

A letter was read from the Newton Centre Woman's club endorsing the public market plan.

Mr. Kendall said that the markets had cost $1500 the past year and that the farmers paid a small fee of 25 cents per day for each team sufficient to meet incidental charges. This should be continued. The supervision he believed was more a police duty. It was not necessary to have a separate bureau and it might be possible to have the Market in charge of an assistant to either the Health or Sealers departments. There is need of some control or there would be more or less trouble. He thought that $2000 would be sufficient to care for all the expense and that this might be returned to the treasury in fees.

Ex aldermen Burton P. Gray said that the law requires the board to designate stands for farmers and others to use and said that hucksters could not be kept out, as the law contemplated a free public market for any one who wished to sell. He agreed with the petitioners in wanting to obtain produce as cheap as possible but believed we had also a duty to our

NEW BRIDGE

Plans Ready for New Structure Near Norumbega Park

The new bridge will span the Charles River, replacing the old stone structure near Norumbega and on the main road from Boston to Worcester. The plans have been prepared by the Metropolitan Park Commission and have been submitted to the city government of Newton and the town government of Weston for their approval. When approval is received work will be started by the Commission and it is expected that the cost will be about $50,000. The bridge is to be of reinforced concrete with three spans. The forty-foot roadway will accommodate the heavy motor and other traffic passing that way from Newton boulevard into Weston on the route to Worcester, and the three spans, the centre one thirty-five feet wide and nine and one-half feet above the water and the other two thirty feet wide and nine feet above the water, will give much more room for the canoeists. In addition to the roadway there will be two ten-foot sidewalks and at both ends of the bridge large bastions with seats for those who desire to watch the pleasure craft on the river. There will be iron railings and ornamental lamp-posts. The road surface will be of concrete and the sidewalks of granite.

23RD DIVIDEND

Boston Electric Associates have paid their 23rd regular quarterly dividend February 10th, 1916, to shareholders of record February 1st. The companies owned by the Associates have the exclusive franchise and furnish all the light and power from Cape Cod Canal to Chatham, a territory of something over fifty miles in length, containing 10 prosperous towns, and also all light and power on Martha's Vineyard. The companies are showing excellent gains and are in more prosperous condition than at any time in their history. Carpenter and Company of 409 Centre St., Newton are fiscal agents.

HUNTINGTON WINS

Newton High Defeated in Close Track Meet

Newton High's track team was defeated by the Huntington School of Boston in a dual meet at the Newtonville "gym," Friday afternoon. Huntington winning the relay run, the last event, and with it the necessary points to take first honors, the final score being 37 to 31.

Newton High at the time had the wrong end of a 32 to 31 score and started off like a sure winner in the relay race, with Arthur S. Roberts having a comfortable margin on Charles Welch of Huntington School at the outset of the second lap. Roberts tried to speed up on his second lap and stumbled. Before he could get going Welch had several yards to spare over him. Morrill, Shum and Marling of Huntington were able to hold O'Brien, McNamara and Adams. One of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a dual meet was on hand. Coach Alfred W. Dickinson of Newton and Manager Mark Noble were in charge and everything went off without a hitch.

The most spectacular race was the 600-yard run annexed by Charles Morrill of Huntington School by a hair over Capt. Ray Adams of Newton High. Adams led until 15 yards from the tape when Morrill uncorked a sprint and threw himself over the tape, winning by a hair.

Alden Shum of Medford gave Huntington five points in the 1000-yard run nosing out the pick of the Newton distance runners. Marling of Huntington had an easy time in the 30-yard dash and 300-yard run, though in the dash Hayes and McNamara of Newton were close up. In the 300-yard run, Marling beat Charles Welch

Large Attendance at Open Meeting in Newton Centre

At a largely attended public meeting held Tuesday evening in Mason School hall, the subject of allowing a moving picture show to locate in the village of Newton Centre was discussed. Dr. George L. West, president of the Improvement Society was in the chair and Mr. J. Albert Cole was the secretary.

At the close of the discussion a vote was taken and the location opposed 353 to 24.

In opening the discussion, Mr. William C. Brewer said:

It is possible that it may be helpful for this company to have a brief statement along the line of a suggestion that was made at the last meeting. Someone mentioned the facilities that we will soon have on our playground in the form of a new building there. The suggestion is this. That land where that building now is, was put in the hands of trustees for the express purpose of some time placing a building on that land for the needs of the playground and the community.

There is a state law which prevents a building of over a certain size being put on a public park or playground without the consent of the legislature, hence that land is held in that form. The Episcopal Church people finding that they were soon to dispose of their old house of worship offered it to the playground league and that building was moved to the playground in April and will probably be available for public use, the basement being used for playground purposes, and in addition we have a good sized auditorium on the first floor seating about 250. The use of the building and its care and maintenance will undoubtedly be an expense to the league, but we hope that in due time the city will be willing to relieve us of the burden. We have a problem before us. We have a hall there which we must soon decide what to do with. We have thought of boy scouts, dances, etc., and we have had suggestions of movies. We have had it brought home to us that this is a village of homes and family life and for the sake of a few that might find entertainment it was inadvisable to drag the young people from their homes. We have plenty of opportunities for both children and adults during the day time. If we are satisfied that there is sufficient demand for a good moving picture show I am confident from personal conversation that they will be willing to undertake that work for the village. We may have to ask you to contribute something. At least there will be an opportunity to experiment with it. We have also asked some of the woman's club members whether they would censor the undertaking and they have kindly consented to do so.

Mr. S. B. Paul said:— I am and always have been against the introduction of the moving picture house in this city, because of the bad effect that I am perfectly confident it will have upon a large number of our school children. There is no question in my mind but that a good many children here will get the "movie" fever and that simply means that they will be most lazy so far as school lessons are concerned. They must be lacking in interest and ability to study these lessons because they are lacking in excitement in moving picture houses. Now no matter what you think of our school lessons as an end I think mighty little of them as such. As a means they are very important to an end; that end being the education of our young people. The people most affected by moving picture houses will be those children who cause us teachers the most trouble at the present time. Of course there are a great many who do not cause trouble but I feel it is absolutely wrong for us to sanction anything which will prove a stumbling block to those not very steady on their educational legs. I realize that it will be a good thing for a certain number in this community and it will be a splendid thing for them to have close at hand a means of entertainment. Personally I do not think that there are very many that cannot find time to go to Boston, Newton, Waltham and in time to Newtonville, as often as it is well for us to do so.

No. 1. Absolute Protection

The Newton Trust Company is authorized by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to act as executor and trustee under wills. The Company is particularly well equipped to serve the people of Newton in a fiduciary capacity. In the first place it affords ABSOLUTE PROTECTION to every beneficiary.

The property of every Trust is kept separate from that of every other and from the assets of the Trust Company itself. The capital and surplus of the Trust Company, exceeding $750,000, to which should be added the stockholders' statutory liability of $250,000, make up a guarantee of over $1,000,000 for the protection of all trust beneficiaries. The standing of the Newton Trust Company in the community, and the unquestioned integrity of its Directors, are additional factors in the protection we offer which are worthy of serious consideration.

Our officers would welcome an opportunity to talk confidentially with you about your own problems.

EDITORIAL

The public hearing on the question of continuance of the public markets in this city failed to add very much to the general knowledge of the subject.

Mr. Hall's figures as to the volume of business and the percentage of savings are interesting but need to have far greater backing than Mr. Hall's well known enthusiasm on the subject. It is interesting to note on this subject that from the best evidence the editor can obtain on the matter, the volume of the load of a market team or auto truck is less than $50 and that this would mean an attendance and clean sale of about 4000 teams or trucks during the recent public market season. It is only necessary to state this fact to show the utter impossibility of Mr. Hall's figures as to the volume of business. The percentage of savings must be problematical, as the matter of difference in quality between the goods sold by the local markets at one figure and those sold in the public market at another figure is unknown. Mr. Goddard's figure of about 5 per cent saved is probably nearer the true facts in this case.

The taxpayers will be glad to learn that the advocates of the public markets only intend to ask for an appropriation of $300 instead of the $10,000 suggested a few months ago, and that there is evidence of returning sanity on the entire matter.

It is also well to remember that the law only requires the city to designate standing room which the farmers may use if they choose. It is not obligatory to send out into the highways and byways to invite them to come in, nor to drum up trade for them if they do come here.

The Metropolitan Park Commission has, at last, sent to our city government, the long delayed plans for a new bridge over the Charles river near Norumbega Park. The act authorizing this bridge was finally passed May 28, 1915 and the neglect of the Park Commission in this matter should be vigorously condemned, particularly as it will bring about the work of construction during the coming summer when the traffic at this point is always at its height. It would seem as if these plans might have been prepared last summer in time to have had the work begun in the fall and finished the present spring.

The coming conference of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island in this city gives every resident an opportunity to show a little hospitality to the hundreds of young men who will be our guests on that occasion.

KNIGHTS OF KING ARTHUR

The Knights of King Arthur held an open Conclave last evening in Congregational chapel which was attended by about 250 members and their friends. It was a celebration of the Tenth Anniversary of Castle Stirling. Mr. Arthur Brown of Cambridge, the first King of Auburndale Castle was among those present and gave an interesting address. A musical program was given which included an original piano solo by Mr. Raymond Sikes, which was very pleasing to the audience.

A turkey supper was served at 7.30. After the exercises in the chapel the guests were invited to adjourn to Castle Hall, where fruit-punch and light refreshments were served. It was one of the most successful and enjoyable affairs that the Knights have ever given.

And 10% to be paid to non-prize winners. Get Busy!

One of the chief regrets in life is to have forced upon you the unpleasant realization that a bright and shining opportunity has been neglected. To know that which some one else has obtained, by accepting an opportunity generously afforded, which you could have just as well had is what is going to happen to some who are not becoming interested in The Newton Graphic Automobile prize offering.

Few indeed are the plans in which so much is given without the least semblance of chance as in this case. "Everybody Wins," has rightfully been accepted as the slogan for this event. No person who enters will have cause for regret when the grand finale comes.

The distribution of the offerings have been so evenly arranged that each candidate will be substantially rewarded for all the effort put forth.

The little word effort is all that stands between you and the grand prize. To the person who puts the necessary amount of effort into the pleasant work of interesting friends in their candidacy will go the Maxwell Five Passenger Touring Car. The district prizes are of sufficient size to encourage any person to utilize a portion of their spare time in securing votes.

Inasmuch as no entrant can lose, there is no real valid reason why YOU or some one favored by you should not enter. The person who never ventures from the stereotyped routine of life rarely ever succeeds in getting any of the little extras that can be had for the mere reaching out and trying.

The monetary value of the prizes which have been offered, and surely awarded, is sufficient to entice most any person. It is simply the "getting started" that stands in the way. By acting today you gain time.

The first and most valuable asset is self-confidence. Make up your mind that you are going after that banner prize and then install this same feeling in your friends. Hundreds of your acquaintances stand ready and willing to lend a helping hand if you will say the word.

If you want an automobile there is no better time than the present to assert yourself, and, "presto," your wish is granted. To be sure you will have to do a little something to get this desire granted, but when if ever will you have the golden opportunity handed you to secure a car so well and favorably known as is the Maxwell. Minute description of this, "The Wonder Car," is entirely unnecessary as it is very well known. In durability and speed contests this vehicle stands in a class by itself.

The fifty dollars in Uncle Sam's best Gold will not come in handy to the most of us and in this event there are three of these purses to be given. Then the certainty of getting the ten per cent commission, which goes to non-prize winners, makes it an enterprise worthy of the honest consideration of any person.

The best thing to do is to make up your mind that you are going to try—and become a winner. Then plan your campaign and conduct this business of securing coupons and subscription votes with the same care and precision that any other business would warrant of a like nature.

Make it a business proposition. Keep verily at it during your spare time. Keep up your enthusiasm and courage with a full determination to win and the support you will receive will surprise you.

A FEW TIMELY TIPS

There are just two ways of securing votes. Each week a coupon is published in The Newton Graphic which is good for the number of votes printed thereon. These coupons can be clipped and with the name of the candidate written on at least the top one, and tied securely together, or enclosed in an envelope, and brought to this office before the expiration date, will count in the person's favor to whom they are given.

But, the most effective manner of securing the counters is by the subscription route. With each payment of one dollar, or more, a liberal number of votes will be given. A new subscription counts just double that of an old one. Get after the new ones. The votes are counted each Thursday night and the standing given in The Newton Graphic on the following Friday. Votes to be counted must be in the office on Thursday night.

The real voting will commence with this issue and the interesting part of the contest will be to watch the fluctuations of the various totals from week to week.

The end of the race comes Monday night, April 3rd. Just time enough, but not too long.

Not a few subscriptions were paid at the office during the past week and the votes that were issued on these payments will be found to the credit of several candidates today. Candidates are permitted to have as many receipt books as they may desire. If a friend is located in some other part of the territory and wants to secure votes for you they can have a book. Just as soon as one book is filled it should be returned to the office. All receipt books have to be brought in before the close.

The attention of the candidates is called to the necessity of getting the coupon votes to the office in time for counting. These little counters are valuable and may mean much in the final awarding of the prizes. Reports of all subscriptions should be made at least once each week. This acts for the benefit of the candidate as well as the subscriber.

An absolute fair deal is assured each and every candidate who tries for a prize in this big event. The system in use is the best that can be secured and the protection of the workers is guarded very carefully. The complete details of the working plan will be explained to any interested person, at any time.

All remittances or checks should be made payable to The Newton Graphic Publishing Co.

If any candidate has been entered in the wrong district the office should be notified so that a correction can be made.

WEST NEWTON MUSIC CLUB

The meeting of the West Newton Musical Club on Monday afternoon was held at the residence of Mrs. Charles E. Gibson on Bigelow road, West Newton. The program which was in charge of Mrs. Dorothy A. Sprague included selections by Miss Claire McGlinchey and Miss Ama C. Royce on the piano, songs by Mrs. Ethel Keach Ferrin, violin selections by Miss Rosalind Kempton, duets by Mrs. Ferrin and Miss Bernice Keach and an ensemble by Miss Kempton, Miss Keach and Miss Lucy Clarke Allen.

OPPOSE MOVIES

here I feel it would be wise to put that matter up to the playground association and they can give us moving picture entertainments several times a week. I am sure the young people will be satisfied with several entertainments and the children will be satisfied with one on Saturday afternoon. I hope that this company, if we must vote in favor of moving pictures, will vote to put it up to the playground association to furnish it for us.

Alderman R. M. Clarke said:— At our last meeting it seemed to a good many of us that this question divided itself into three questions, first that of as to whether we should have a so-called commercial moving-picture show in Newton Centre; second, whether we should have a moving picture show occasionally during the week, perhaps 2 or 3 performances, under the auspices of the playground association or league, and the third is associated with the first one, the question as to whether we should pass the whole proposition. Of course at that meeting a great many lights were thrown on this whole matter that were intensely interesting and it seemed wise that we should have this matter brought before this body at this time in this form and then if anyone wishes they can put other votes, but in order to have something established to talk to I would like to place these placards before the house.

Question 2. Do you favor granting a license to operate a picture show under the direction of the playground league?

Question 3. Are you opposed to a picture show of any character?

On the first question those who are in favor of having a commercial picture show, will say that this will not be strictly on a commercial basis because our good friend George McDonald is going to ask some of our citizens to co-operate with him in securing pictures to which no one can object. I submit to you that if a license is granted for a show of that character we must have a house built especially for that and Mr. McDonald may get out of business. In that event we will have the ordinary moving pictures in the village of Newton Centre. Unquestionably if a house is erected for that purpose it would be unfair to refuse to grant a license to the owner of that house because in other parts of the city there are similar shows going on and it would not be right to refuse such a license to a moving picture show of the same general character. Some persons feel that we ought to give the people what they want even though not in the majority. We did not follow that plan when we voted against giving 1-3 of the people saloons in Newton. We do not hesitate to compel them to go into Boston for their tonic and I do not know why we should furnish a moving picture show on a commercial basis in this city.

Miss Frost said: It seems that we might have a show as has been suggested tonight under the operation of an association here in town that we know would run it not for money but to run a decent show and keep the young people from going to Newton and other places which we all know are most undesirable. There has been a very strong desire to have moving pictures here. If it is possible to run it our young people here will be protected. If that is not possible, it would not be a bad plan to see what can be done to improve the show in Newton. With this in view I went to see the managers of the Newton Opera House and found them most willing to co-operate on giving an entertainment once a week of a character such as we would like to see the children go to. Undoubtedly it will cost quite a sum to run a decent show here. I have been told that it is impossible to run a decent show anywhere in Newton and make it pay for itself. Unless a decent show is run here in Newton Centre it would seem highly desirable to co-operate in some way so as to produce a decent show with the co-operation of the Newton Opera House and certain members of the library staff and the teachers. It might be possible to run an entertainment of various kinds of reels. There might be the story reel or the nature reel.

We have got to face the question whether we are decent enough in this town to support a decent show. A show that is in the slightest way questionable after the first performance, when it is noised abroad, finds the house packed and it is not packed by your lowest class, but it is packed by your people who by every right should not be there.

Father Haney said: We as a body are opposed to the coming of the moving picture show into the village. Our first reason is because of the interest in that type of child of which Mr. Paul spoke so well, the child with whom he is having so much trouble. We are told that no one can properly conduct a show but those who are in the business. They tried it in the Highlands and after 3 performances they had to get out because they were watched so closely. The children have plenty of recreation. The home is the place for these children and we do hope that you will stand strong and firm against the coming of the show.

I know well that it is going to bring down the tone of the village and of the type of child that goes. You and I cannot right the home condition of these children perhaps, but we have no right to injure or hurt and we believe that if the coming of the moving picture show is a downward step. There is always something in the plan somewhere that you as Christian gentlemen and Christian women are ashamed of. Mr. E. C. Potter said: Last night I took the trouble to go over to Newton to see the picture show. The reel shown in great detail the inside of gilded gambling places and how a mother gave to her daughter through heredity, the taste for gambling, and I was told that they showed the same reel in the afternoon to a house filled with children. I dug out the proprietor Mr. Reid. He was perfectly will-

NEW SQUASH RACQUET COURTS

One of the most eventful occurrences in the history of the Newton Club will be the opening of the squash-racquet courts on Saturday evening, February 12. The building committee has completed this work and is turning over to the athletic committee the well-constructed building containing two of the best equipped squash-racquet courts in New England. The architect, Mr. Hubert G. Ripley, is a member of the club and has shown his excellent skill and good judgment in the general arrangement of the building, and has harmonized the exterior so that it is an added attraction to the general character of the premises.

The interior of the building contains, in addition to the courts themselves, a locker room, adjoining toilets and shower baths, and also a gallery where spectators may view the games from an excellent vantage point. The right hand court is especially designed for squash-racquet playing, and the left hand court for hand-ball playing.

The opening entertainment will be exhibition playing between Messrs. Billy Ganley, the champion professional squash-racquet player of the country, and Arthur Bryant, who is considered one of the crack amateur players of New England, having been the runner-up in last year's championship tournament held in Boston. A hand-ball contest will be held in court No. 1, Messrs. Halliday, Joe Bryant, Wright and Roy Collins, all members of the Newton Club, being the contestants. It is expected that not only a fast, but a highly interesting game is assured, for those gentlemen are all exceptionally good players, particularly Mr. Collins who is a past master at the game of hand ball.

These exhibition games will begin at 8.15, and members have been requested to confine themselves, as much as possible, to inviting prospective new members only as guests, on account of the limited standing capacity in the galleries.

Already a large number of new members have been enrolled, and the total membership is now far beyond 200, it being the belief that the addition of this squash-racquet court building will attract a still larger number of new members.

The athletic committee also announces for the same evening, immediately after the exhibition squash-racquet and hand-ball games, several wrestling matches in the assembly hall of the club house. The Boston Y. M. C. A. has agreed to send four wrestlers who will compete in two 10-minute bouts, and the Y. M. C. A. of Newton will send young Corbett and Ernest Gagney, two crack members of their team. Joe Bliss, a well known and particularly finely built wrestler, with the assistance of Martin Adams, will demonstrate the various wrestling catches, breaks and holds. All of the bouts will be properly refereed, and the club members will be instructed by the referee regarding the various holds as they are executed.

DEATH OF MRS. FIELD

Mrs. Alice Hastings Field, an old and highly esteemed resident of Newtonville, widow of the late Edwin Field, and mother of the late Mrs. Ezra W. Sampson, passed away Tuesday evening after a short illness.

The deceased, who was 87 years of age, was born in Stowe, Mass., but had lived the greater part of her life in Newtonville. She was prominently identified with the New Church Society of which she was an active member. Her husband was at one time treasurer of the New Church Society.

Mrs. Field was a kind friend and neighbor and greatly beloved by a large circle of friends. She is survived by three grand-daughters, Miss Ethel V. Sampson, Miss Alice Sampson and Miss Margaret Sampson of Newtonville, and three grandsons, Dr. Edwin F. Sampson of New York City, Mr. Winslow Sampson of Newark, New Jersey, and Mr. Harold Sampson of Newtonville.

The funeral was held this morning at her late residence on Washington street, Rev. John Goddard, pastor of the Church of the New Jerusalem, conducted an impressive service at 11 o'clock. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends.

The burial was in the family lot in Newton Cemetery.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

At the hearing last Friday morning on the bill to authorize preferential voting at Newton city elections, about twenty representative residents of the city were present and most of them sided to be recorded as favoring the bill. There was no opposition. Those who spoke in favor of the bill were Messrs. H. M. Bunker, chairman of the Republican city committee, ex-alderman A. F. Bemis, R. D. Holt, C. W. Blood, and Chas. H. Porter. Others present were Aldermen G. M. Winslow, Wm. L. Allen, and Reuben Forknall, ex-alderman J. W. Bartlett, and W. S. Wagner, Messrs. Fred A. Ferri, H. J. Kellaway and Geo. S. Fuller of the city committee, and Messrs. Chas. A. Andrews, Chas. H. Porter, Harold S. Watson and H. F. Young. At the hearing on the bill to abolish party designations which immediately followed, the other hearing, Alderman A. W. Hollis appeared in favor.

Quite a number of Newton persons were interested in the bill heard yesterday morning by Mercantile Affairs to prohibit bill board advertising of liquors in No license communities. The bill is aimed at the bill board now in Nonantum square. Those in favor of the bill from this city include Messrs. C. V. Moore, E. B. Church, Mrs. C. E. Birdsall, Dr. J. F. Brant and the writer. The bill was also favored by the Mass. W. C. T. U., and by people from Somerville, Malden, Everett and Wareham. It was opposed by the counsel for the liquor interests, as unnecessary legislation.

In the Senate on Tuesday, City Treasurer Newhall's bill to ascertain the addresses of grantees, mortgagees, etc., was substituted for an adverse report of the committee.

In the House on Monday, the first roll call of the session was ordered on a bill in regard to appointments, etc. to municipal offices, and aimed largely at the present situation in Cambridge. Mr. Weston was the only Newton member recorded on the bill.

In the House on Tuesday, all three of our representatives were recorded against the initiative and referendum bill.

Representative Weston is a dissenter with several other members of Metropolitan Affairs against a bill to appropriate money for band concerts in the metropolitan district.

At the hearing yesterday in regard to the consolidation of the Public Service Commission with other bodies, Mr. Percy M. Blake of Newtonville and Mr. Thomas W. White of Upper Falls appeared in opposition and warmly praised the work now being done by the Public Service Commission.

ROSEDALE REHEARSAL

The Dress Rehearsal of Rosedale, or the Rifle Ball was given in Players' Hall on Monday evening, Feb. 7. The performance ran smoothly and well, and only the highest praise is being given the members of the cast who so successfully played their parts in this rather difficult piece. The waits between the acts were long, as was to have been expected on the first try-out of a four-act play, both costumes and scenery being new to the performers and their assistants, but a repetition of the piece will eliminate all delay.

Mr. Arthur G. Hosmer of "The Players" had charge of the stage effects and several of the scenes brought forth an instant burst of appreciation from the audience invited to witness this rehearsal, especially when the Gypsy Dell by Starlight was shown.

At the rise of the curtain, a daughter of the gypsy band is discovered posturing in the background, and she at once springs into a free, graceful dance that bids fair to be one of the features of the program. Grouped about her are the men and girls of the camp who have temporarily suspended their various occupations to witness the spectacle. Mr. Hosmer considers this scene one of the most beautiful ever placed on Players' Hall stage.

Four performances of Rosedale will be given on the evenings of Feb. 10, 11 and 12, and a matinee for children on Saturday, the twelfth.

DEATH OF MRS. FURNESS

Mrs. Mary Furness, widow of Samuel L. Furness, a former resident of Auburndale, passed away Saturday at Brockton. The deceased was born in Madrid, Maine, and was the daughter of Asa and Mary Randall Orebton, and shortly after her marriage came to Auburndale, where she had resided for 39 years. In 1900 she removed to Boston and three years later to Brockton. Mrs. Furness was a member of Riverside Lodge, N. E. O. P., of Auburndale. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harold E. Conkey of Brockton.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at her late residence, 920 Crescent street, Brockton. Services were conducted by Rev. John Matteson of Whitman, a former rector of the Church of the Messiah, of which Mrs. Furness was a member during her residence in Auburndale. Members of Riverside Lodge were present at the service and the burial was in Melrose Cemetery.

local dealers who pay taxes, rents and who supply us when the public markets are not here. Mr. Gray was opposed to the market as conducted last fall in Newton Centre with the school lawn covered with boxes and barrels and chickens being drawn into barrels on the sidewalks in a way which would not be allowed by the local storekeepers. Mr. Gray had no objection to the city designating some side streets where the farmers might stand out objected to the use of our squares for this purpose. He would also strongly oppose any appropriation for this purpose as it was not a function of the city to advertise or promote business of out of town persons to compete with our own taxpayers.

Mr. W. H. Brayton for the local storekeepers stated that they believed the market was unfair competition. The local stores pay rent, taxes and employ considerable help. Their employees must live near their work and on account of long hours must transact most of their business in this city. $200,000 is a rough estimate of the amount paid for wages by the local stores most of which is spent in this city. It is not fair to subsidize people who pay no rent or taxes and who bring in produce and cold storage goods to compete against the local dealer. The price of articles in Newton is due to the higher rents and wages which have to be paid as well as the service which the people demand. None of the local dealers have ever retired with a competence and only one who was in business 28 years ago has survived.

Mr. G. L. Marcy was opposed to any city appropriation and said the stores were giving good service. He thought people could save something on expense if they gave a little forethought to the way they ordered goods delivered to them.

Mrs. L. S. Drake said that the women who were interested in the public market now trade in Waltham or Boston and she did not believe it interfered with the local dealers.

Mr. E. W. Darrell was also opposed to any appropriation being made.

Mr. H. W. Orr was opposed to the appropriation as class legislation and against the interest of our own people and tax payers. Mr. Orr said there was a cost of production and another cost of distribution and argued that if we were fair to our distributors there would be but little difference in price.

Mr. Brayton called attention to the fact that many kinds of produce cannot be produced in the state and must come from the South and he also said that in his opinion the public market served more rich people than of the poorer classes.

Mrs. E. I. Leeds called attention to the fact that it was the consumers who benefitted from this market and many of them do not trade in Newton at the present time. She thought the farmers might eliminate the middleman and bring in fresher goods and thus bring back to Newton the trade now going to Boston.

Mr. H. W. Hall said that there were 27 storekeepers in Newton and over 43,000 people and he thought the consumers had as much right to protest as the marketmen. He knew of 8 marketmen who had bought from the farmers and one had sold apples thus purchased at a lower price than the farmer himself was retailing them. He knew of one dealer who had bought fowl at wholesale from the public market at 16 cents and sold it in his store for 30 cents a pound. The whole purpose, he said was to make it possible for the farmers and consumers to get together. He thought it might be possible to provide separate market places for farmers and hucksters.

Ex-alderman J. B. Jamieson spoke in the interests of the consumers and said that when hundreds of citizens desire a public market the city should spend its money to meet that desire. He did not believe the public market would hurt the storekeepers at all but as business conditions are continually changing, the marketmen should adjust themselves to the changed conditions.

Mrs. Miller said that many Newton residents were forced to go outside on account of the high prices charged by local stores. She had studied the public markets and was convinced that they were patronized by all classes of people and in her opinion an automobile was not a sign of wealth.

Mr. Gray questioned Mr. Hall's figures of 35 per cent saving and Mr. Hall said he had kept account of prices of each item and of each variety and had compared them with the price asked by the local dealers before the public market had opened, as the public market had later caused the local stores to reduce prices.

Mr. Goddard said that his own experience was very different for on a few vegetables there was a substantial reduction, some prices were the same as the stores and some were materially higher. He instances apples selling at the stores at $1.25 and 25 cents higher at the public market with a charge for delivery in addition. He doubted if the net saving after delivery charges was over 5 per cent.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell questioned Mr. Hall as to the sale of cold storage poultry and when Mr. Hall had denied it, stated that he had been informed at Faneuil Hall market by persons he had confidence in that Mr. Gordon had sold that kind of poultry in Newton.

Mr. Goddard then said that if no cold storage stuff had been sold in the market, why had the inspector condemned a half dozen fowl as unfit for food.

The hearing closed at 9.25 o'clock. Mayor Childs sent in a large number of papers and recommendations including claims of Raphael Manning for loss of an overcoat, James Bros. for injury to horse, M. L. B. Kanzler for damages to house on account of drainage, relative to the advisability of issuing bonds at present time, transmitting plans for new Weston bridge, relative to authorizing city solicitor to represent the city at hearings at State House, relative to perpetual care of Davenport burial lot in Winchester street cemetery, recommending $2845 for purchase of street department equipment and $4000 for a new steam road roller, relative to necessity for work on Parker, Dedham and Winchester streets, relative to laborer's pensions to James Collins, Richard Beard and Andrew Marshall, and recommending various appropriations, transfers and grants.

The betterment assessments of Annie M. J. Burns, $67, and Mary E. Alford, $93, on Chesley road, were apportioned. John Carmody was granted a license of a taxi cab, the Telephone Co. was granted attachments on Beacon street, ward 5, and the Edison and Telephone Companies were given a joint re-location on Beacon street, ward 6, and petitions were received from the various women's clubs of the city in favor of reforestation of water works lands in Needham, of the Newton Highlands Garage for a taxi cab license, of Vincenzo Pinto for license for an auto truck, Ward et al for acceptance of Garrison street, Mague et al for sewer in William street, Newbert et al for sewer in Dorset road, Filene Co. for damages to automobile, and Mary Conlon for personal injuries.

On recommendation of committees, claims of James Bros., $65.19, Michael Norton, $200, Elizabeth Harney, $600, Wilhelmina Richburg, $75, William Perlmutter, $31, Workmen Compensation for Thomas Darcy, $1, Simon Bontempo, $9.50, Henry P. Moynihan, $10, were ordered settled, leave to withdraw granted on claims of J. W. Hotin for personal injuries, to Wilfred Hotin, to J. H. Ritchie for return of fee paid for gasoline permit, and of Thomas Killey for personal injuries, also on petition for change of ordinance relative to vehicles standing in Nonantum square, on matter of bowling alleys at 801 Washington street, and of Telephone poles on Vista avenue.

An amendment to the ordinance relating to acceptance of streets was also adopted.

Licenses for 8 taxi cabs and 1 auto truck was granted Fred L. Crawford, and a Common victualler license at 260 Walnut street to Miss B. A. Howard. Edison petitions for poles on Webster street, for attachments on Washington park, Fisher avenue and Centre street, for re-location of pole, Centre and Homer streets, of the Edison and Telephone Companies for joint poles on Harvard street, and for joint re-location on Dedham street, of the Edison and Middlesex & Boston Co. for joint locations of poles on Commonwealth avenue, were also granted.

No action necessary was reported on petition of the Edison Co. for poles on Centre street, ward 6.

Mrs. Jane Begman was granted Soldiers' Relief of $8 per month, $30,000 in sewer bonds were authorized and numerous small appropriations, grants and transfers approved.

A proposed change of grade of sidewalk opposite the new Trinity Church on Centre and Homer streets was approved, the new plans of the Weston bridge was approved, and pensions granted to James Collins, Richard Beard and Andrew Marshall, city laborers.

The appointments of John R. Prescott as assessor for 3 years, and of T. D. Murphy, J. G. Thompson, C. E. Brannan, W. F. Hadlock, C. B. McGee, H. H. Read, Joseph Byers, F. E. Hunter, B. D. Farrell, Gordon McMullin, B. V. Degen and H. B. Coffin were confirmed with 21 votes each and the appointments of Chas. H. and Geo. N. Howard as public weighers were also approved.

Alderman Hollis opposed the majority report of no action necessary on communication from Herman Weinberg relative to charges of American Express Co. for transporting liquor in Newton, until the opinion of the city solicitor was obtained on the subject, and Alderman Clark had the opinion which had just been received, sent to the desk, and read. The City Solicitor stated that the board had no authority in the premises and that Mr. Weinberg had a right to carry the matter to the Public Service Commission. The committee report was then accepted.

Alderman Harriman explained the report of the committee on Mayor's Address, which reported that there was no conflict between the ordinance relative to the Comptroller, of Accounts and the city charter as suggested by the Mayor, but recommending that certain changes be made in the ordinance to lessen the evident friction now existing. The committee did not approve a new fire station at Chestnut and Fuller streets, but recommended the removal of the Lower Falls hose station to a point near Beacon street and Varick road, thereby saving about $8000 a year in maintenance. The committee favored reforestation of water works lands in Needham, the care of all the school flags by the city messenger, stated that it was illegal to furnish the Newton Hospital with water at cost, but pointing out that it was getting its water at practically cost at the present time, and reporting no action necessary on matter of lights at Riverside and on the carting away of leaves.

Alderman Winslow presented an order endorsing Senate bill 76 providing for preferential voting at Newton city elections and the bill was explained by its author. Action was opposed by Alderman Murphy, who had not seen the bill, and favored by Alderman Forknall. The matter was then referred to the Committee on Legislation.

An order accepting an act to provide for pensions for permanent and call firemen was referred to the Finance Committee.

A recess was taken during the session for committee meetings and the board did not adjourn until 11.40 P. M.

Little of Value in Poverty.
 There is no doubt, of course, that poverty develops much that is precious in life, not talent nor genius alone, but valuable qualities of character. But it does vastly more harm

REASON CANNOT BE GUIDE

Product of the Mind, and is Subject to the Will but Never Superior.

Reason cannot select correct premises; she can only prove the premises you give her. "Oh, what a wonderful creature is man," exclaimed Ben Franklin; "he can find reasons for anything he wishes to do." That is the trouble with reason as a guide. Reason cannot guide. Reason is always guided by something else behind it, which supplies the premises from which reason makes its calculations and records. Reason is a calculating machine. Give it correct premises and it will compute and record the right answer every time. But reason has no power of choice in the matter of premises; like any well regulated calculating machine it automatically accepts the premises fed into it. You have but to watch your own thoughts carefully to prove this.

Who, or what, then, is responsible for the choice of premises that you feed into your calculator? It is life itself which uses reason. It is life itself which creates reason, the calculator. And why does life need reason? Life needs reason to weigh, compute, compare and record life's institutions and experiences. Without the calculator and recorder, reason, life would endlessly duplicate its experiences and intuitions without learning anything from them. Life is the creator, reason the creature. Life is the actor, reason is acted upon. Life is positive and reason negative. To depend upon reason as guide is to exalt the machine above the mind that made it.

"ALARM" THAT IS NOISELESS

Yet the Invention May Be Relied Upon to Awaken Even the Soundest Sleeper.

Alarm watches that signal the time for which they are set by a shrill ringing are common, but a "noiseless" alarm watch which accomplishes the same result is entirely new.

The story has been told of a married man who possessed a ringing alarm watch and who, with his wife, was awakened every morning by the silvery tinkle of the watch under his pillow. It took this man's wife five years, so the story goes, to discover that the alarm watch and not the neighbor's alarm clock was really awakening her every morning. The noiseless alarm watch, however, performs its early morning task differently. The noiseless alarm consists of a cord which tightens about the wrist, the pressure gradually increasing until released by the wearer of the watch. This is accomplished by pushing a small slide and twisting the stem of the watch a half turn.—World's Advance.

The Pity of Self-Pity.

Self-pity is indulged in by most men. Some more, some less. The human mind is so constituted that under certain conditions of stress, it turns upon itself and says: "You poor, abused thing." The ruination which is wrought by it appears in the fact that when a man pities himself he does so for the very reason that ought to lead him to self-condemnation. He pities his weaknesses, rather than reforming them. He coddles his infirmities, when they need to have the punishment which pugilists give each other. No man ever pitied himself when he is doing the hard things—we mean, really doing them. While a man is being brave the thoughts of being abused or ill treated are impossible thoughts to him. The business man who sits down, and while he holds his face in his hands, bemoans: "I am having a hard time," needs the dash of that really cold water which adversity always uses when she would make a strong man. Self-pity untwists the fiber of which manly men are built. Hard times make great, robust, stalwart men—when the substance is there to work on.—Bloomington Journal.

Most Solid Book in the World.

Consisting of but ten pages, yet laying claim to the title of the most solid book in the world, a volume recently presented to the Columbian Field museum is a unique work, says the World's Advance. It is made up of ten slabs of the finest jade, exquisitely engraved with Chinese characters. The text is in both Chinese and Manchu, with the most elaborate ornamentations on the first and last pages. This queer jade volume was made at the order of Emperor Kang-hsi, who lived from 1662 to 1722, and it is a family document of great historic value. It is supposed that this relic was sold on account of the financial stringency affecting the deposed imperial family, who lived in retirement on a limited income since the establishment of the Chinese republic.

A Venetian Trait.

"Our town is considered the Venice of Sagebrush county."

"A town on a prairie? Why, you have to haul your drinking water to this alkali burg."

"That may be true."

"Then where does your resemblance to Venice come in?"

"We have a large floating population."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"It would be better for them if she did, for then she would give them a flick every day."

NEWTON CEMETERY CORPORATION

The Sixty-Second Annual Meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation was held February 2nd, 1916, in the New Administration Building at the Cemetery.

The Treasurer's report for year ending December 31st, 1915, showed a very satisfactory condition. During the year the total sale of lots amounted to $18,689.66—the largest receipts for any one year since the Cemetery was organized. Final payment has been made on the new office building so that the building now stands on the books of the Corporation at $19,337.65. The Perpetual Care Fund was increased during the year by $2,200 so that the fund now stands at $204,700.02 all invested in sound securities. Other Permanent Funds, invested under the supervision of the Finance Committee, are as follows: Farlow Memorial Fund, $10,000; Sinking Fund, $2,315.93; Perpetual Renewal Fund, $1,930.75.

Mr. Ross, the superintendent, reported that 233 interments were made during the year, and foundations for 36 monuments, 125 tablets and one mausoleum have been built. The new office building has proved very satisfactory not only being a beautiful addition to the grounds, but with its modern fittings far more adequate for the business of the Cemetery and the convenience of lot owners.

The shrubbery around the new office was purchased with part of the bequest from the late Warren P. Tyler who left $1,000, for beautifying the Cemetery grounds.

The Trustees expressed the hope that many Newton people would find it possible to visit the Cemetery and find out for themselves the natural beauties of the spot. The Superintendent and his assistants are always ready to show visitors around the grounds.

Trustees and Officers were re-elected as follows: Trustees: George Hutchinson, president; William M. Flanders, vice-president; Francis Murdoch, Frank A. Mason, Henry B. Day, George M. Fiske, Seward W. Jones, William F. Bacon, H. Wilson Ross; treasurer, James B. Melcher; superintendent, Charles W. Ross; asst. superintendent, Nils Mattson; clerk and auditor, George W. Auryansen.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday
Feb. 14, 15, 16

The story of Essanay's five act photo-play, "The Alister Case", written by Rufus Gillmore, is as follows: Miss Cornelia Alister, a wealthy spinster, secretly makes George Swan, a poor lawyer's clerk, executor of her estate. That night, she goes to the theatre and returns home unexpectedly, discovering her two wards, Beatrice and Linda in what she thinks, is an affair with two men.

As a matter of fact, Linda is fighting Keith the butler, who is using some knowledge of her to force her to give him money. Beatrice is entertaining her sweetheart, Allen Longstreet, young inventor.

Miss Alister waits in her room, determined to see who the men are. The next day she is found murdered. Trask, a noted detective, is put on the trail. He runs down five clues, the last leading to the criminal. It is a baffling story and an unexpected denouement. The criminal is in the cast. Which one do you think committed the crime?

DEATH OF MR. LORD

Henry Martin Lord of 39 Channing street died in his room last Friday morning, death being caused by a shock resulting from a broken blood vessel in his head. Mr. Lord was very well known in Newton having made his home here since the death of his wife about 17 years ago. He was in his 80th year and was in the insurance business in Boston, and had worked up to the day before his death.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Chapel at the Framingham Cemetery, the interment being in the family lot in the same cemetery. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. N. Thompson of Framingham Centre and three sons, Henry M., of Flint, Mich., William E., of Des Moines, Iowa, and Edward of Tilton, N. H.

ALL NEWTON STAMP CLUB

A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the All Newton Stamp Club was held Sunday afternoon, February 6th, at three o'clock in Players' Hall, West Newton.

It was voted to change the date of the informal meetings from the third Sunday of the month to the third Thursday evening at 7.30.

At the close of the business meeting, Mr. Hatfield, Mr. Hall and Mr. Sprague gave interesting talks and presented various stamps to the members.

Mr. Hatfield also gave to each member a historical chart of the United States stamps.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The February issue of The Bookman lists the following books of non-fiction as being those most in demand among the book stores in about thirty-five centres of the United States. Ranking first is the two-volume book by William Roscoe Thayer entitled The Life and Letters of John Hay, of which the Library has a number of sets, all of which are in almost constant demand. Then comes the little book by Owen Wister called The Penitence of Calamity, in which the author draws a picture of Germany as he saw it early in 1914. It is said that Frederick Palmer, the author of the third book "My Year of the Great War", was the only official representative of the American press with the British army in France. He this as it may, Palmer's work as a correspondent in wars waged by Greece in 1897, Japan, the Balkan States and at the siege of Pekin must have been a contributing factor in the choice. One of the best chapters is that on Belgium as the author saw it under German rule. Mildred Aldrich, an American, looking forward to a peaceful old age, had taken a house on the Marne. Three months later this was the centre of battle, and she has given us a description, in some letters written to an American friend, of events as they happened under the caption of The Hilltop on the Marne. Then comes Woodrow Wilson's little volume "When a man comes to Himself." The next two also deal with the war: Eric Fisher Wood's The Note-Book of an Attache; seven months in the war zone; and that anonymous book, J'Accuse, which has attracted so much comment and criticism. Mr. Wood was studying architecture in Paris at the Ecole des Beaux Arts at the outbreak of the war. He volunteered his services to the American embassy and was placed in charge of those who were interned in France. The unbiased account of what he saw and heard is compiled from letters and diaries which he wrote on the spot. His new volume on preparedness, entitled The Handwriting on the Wall, is sure to attract as much attention as his notebook has. The other two books mentioned are far different from this war literature; John Muir's Travels in Alaska, and Louise Closser Hale's We Discover New England.

The six titles of Fiction which occupy positions of rank are Michael O'Halloran; Dear Enemy; Felix O'Day; "K"; Beltane and Smith; The Gray Dawn; and A Far Country.

VILLAGE NIGHT

The second annual Village Night of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association will be held in Lincoln Hall, Tuesday evening, February 15th, 1916. The Kantrich Orchestra will play popular music from eight to ten o'clock, and for dancing until twelve, and several pleasing features by local talent will be on the entertainment program.

The object of the evening is good fellowship, and the promotion of community spirit and neighborly feeling among Newton Highlands people. It is the aim of the Committee to make Village Night, February 15th, 1916 the "Big Event" of the local winter season.

DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Nichols of Cabot street, Newtonville, entertained at an informal dancing party on Wednesday evening at the Newton Club, Newtonville.

The ball room was made attractive for the occasion with palms and greenery and on the landing of the staircases potted plants and palms were arranged. Handley's orchestra was in attendance and the excellent musical numbers were repeatedly enjoyed.

About one hundred guests were present from Brookline, Medford and the Newtons.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Between the Lines" is following the example of all the preceding Prize Plays at the Castle Square. Its first highly successful week, which began last Monday, will be followed by another that will give further evidence of the continuous popularity of this delightful comedy. It is not a war play, but a series of peaceful episodes about two young men and one young woman in widely separated sections of the country. The stage settings, and the acting by Mr. Craig, Miss Young, and the other members of the Craig Players gives the play an especial advantage.

Danger Passed.

When you have smiled a few times at the good things of life and beckoned to them in friendly fashion, you will actually be able to laugh honestly and simply—not at what hurt you once, but with a full faith in the fact that it can hurt you no longer.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Trust Company was held at the office of the company at Newton Centre on Wednesday afternoon. A satisfactory report was submitted by the Treasurer of the year's business showing increases in all departments of the company's business. During this period the deposits of the company have increased from $3,015,000 to $3,431,000, and the number of depositors from 4573 to 6022, indicating that the bank is fulfilling to a greater extent its purpose of being the banking servant of Newton people. Mr. H. H. Kendall reported for the Auditing committee that the books of the company had been audited and its condition found satisfactory. The officers and directors were elected as follows: Hon. Seward W. Jones, president; William F. Bacon, Albert P. Carter, Howard P. Converse, Samuel Farquhar, James W. French, Norman H. George, Frank J. Hale, Sydney Harwood, Fred R. Hayward, Dr. Edward E. Hopkins, Hon. George Hutchinson, John F. Lothrop, Edward H. Mason, James B. Melcher, Franklin T. Miller, Francis Murdoch, Frederick S. Pratt, James L. Richards, George F. Schrafft and Hon. G. Fred Simpson.

An auditing committee to serve for the coming year were elected as follows: C. E. Kelsey, chairman, and J. Richard Carter and Charles E. Riley. The directors met immediately after the annual meeting and elected Mr. Frank L. Richardson, treasurer; Mr. James B. Melcher, asst. treas., and secy., Mr. Wm. T. Halliday, asst. treas., and Mr. Wm. M. Cahill, asst. secretary.

ANNIVERSARY RECEPTION

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the week was the reception given by Mr. William F. Banks to the members of the Girls Friendly Society and some of the members of Grace Church parish which was held Thursday evening in the parish house.

Mr. Banks has just completed 25 years of faithful service as sexton of Grace Church, and there were about 75 present to help him celebrate the notable event. Mr. Banks was presented with a handsome silk umbrella in behalf of the society, as a token of esteem and to show their appreciation of his kindly services. He gave a short speech and a historical sketch of his service as sexton in England since 1864 until he came to Grace Church parish, which was of great interest to those present. A very pleasing program was provided for the entertainment which included vocal selections finely rendered by Mrs. Whittemore with violin obligato by Miss Bradford, who also contributed a violin solo; song by Miss Edna Banks, who possesses a remarkably sweet soprano voice and selections excellently rendered by Miss Marie Sladen and Miss Harriet Perkins, contraltos, and Miss Theresa Cram, soprano, with piano accompaniments by Mrs. Elliot Church and Mrs. George Owen.

At the close of the entertainment a collation was served consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee.

It was a very delightful affair and greatly enjoyed by all present.

DEATH OF MR. KIMBALL

Mr. Arthur S. Kimball, a life long resident of West Newton, died last Monday at his home on Henshaw place after an illness of several months. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Kimball and was for 15 years a member of the Newton Police force, resigning in 1912 to become a member of the state police. He was a prominent member of Dalhousie lodge of Masons where he was the senior warden. He is survived by a widow.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at his late home and were attended by a host of friends, who testified to their sympathy with a most beautiful display of flowers. Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Congregational Church officiated and a male quartet furnished music. The interment was at Norwell, Mass.

Plans for the New York Biennial are constantly maturing. The local press committee is issuing a series of leaflets containing information regarding program, excursions, etc. The first of these, which contains data regarding conferences to be held in connection with the Biennial and various notices, is already out and may be secured by addressing Mrs. Thomas J. Vivian, chairman of the Local Press Committee, Hotel Astor, New York City.

The Biennial will be preceded by a dramatic evening on Tuesday, May 23rd. This is an innovation and takes the place of the customary concert that other local Biennial Boards have arranged. A rare treat is assured, inasmuch as artists of the first ability will take part. A social hour will follow.

The formal opening of the Biennial convention will take place Wednesday evening. On Thursday morning there will be an important business session, and that evening will occur the one large social function of the Biennial, a reception at the Metropolitan Art Museum.

Friday will be devoted to the Art and Home Economic departments, reports, addresses by experts, etc., in the morning, and conferences in the afternoon. Friday evening is to be State Presidents' evening.

On Saturday, Conservation, Literature and Music will occupy the time. Monday, May 29th, is to be given to the Civics and Education departments, Tuesday to Public Health and Legislation, and Wednesday to Civil Service and Social and Industrial Conditions.

State Federation Announcements

There will be two sectional conferences next week, one of the Industrial and Social Conditions committee at Brockton on Tuesday, Feb. 15, when the subjects of "Industrial Preparedness," "The Hospital for Inebriate Women," and "Birth Registration" will be discussed. The other, an Art conference, will be held in Worcester on Wednesday, Feb. 16.

Friday, Feb. 18, 2:30 P. M. There will be a joint conference of the Home Economics and Art committees at the Dorchester Woman's Club House by invitation of the Dorchester Woman's Club. Topics: Efficiency in the Home—Spending Money, Saving Time; Art in the Home—Color Schemes and Furnishings, Pictures. All club women are invited. Take car from Dudley Street, marked Dorchester, via Warren Street, or Norfolk Street to Codman Square.

Saturday, Feb. 19, 12:30. The Music committee invites the music chairmen of the clubs for a conference at the Boston Art Club, Dartmouth and Newbury streets. Luncheon at 12:30. Tickets at 65 cents each may be secured from Mrs. F. L. Milliken, Hyde Park, Mass.

Local Announcements

Tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will meet with Mrs. H. W. Drew of Dedham street, when the study of "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be begun.

Dr. Wentworth will be hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. next Monday afternoon.

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Education Club will hold its meeting with Mrs. James G. Patterson of Woodbine street, Auburndale.

On Tuesday, Feb. 15, the children of the members of the Newton Highlands Monday Club will be the guests of the club at the home of Mrs. W. S. Jackson, 77 Hartford street.

Mrs. Richard C. Cabot will address the Auburndale Woman's Club at its meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 15, in the Methodist Parish House; subject, "Interests as Sources of Health and Happiness."

There will be a change in the program for the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild next Tuesday. Miss Mabel Trask will give a Story Telling Afternoon, to which the daughters of club members fifteen years of age and over are invited. Tea will be served.

On Wednesday morning at the Social Science Club "American Folk Music" will be the subject. The paper will be presented by one of the former members of the club, Mrs. J. D. Barrows of Springfield, and will be illustrated by vocal and instrumental music under the direction of Mrs. P. A. Wetherbee, who is chairman for the day. Members may invite guests.

Gentlemen's Night will be observed by the Pierian Club next Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Oscar E. Nutter, when Mrs. Irving O. Palmer will give a lecture-recital, "The Sea Islanders."

On Thursday, Feb. 17, 10 A. M., Mrs. Lotta B. Miller will speak on "Clothes-planning" in the course of Home Economics lectures under the auspices of the Newton Centre Woman's Club in the chapel of the First Congregational Church.

Mrs. Harry S. Wells will be hostess for the Home Economics class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, Feb. 18, at 2:30 P. M.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Margaret J. Stannard of the Garland School for Homemaking addressed the Newton Mothers' Club at the home of Mrs. Ernest B. Gile of Barnstable road last Monday afternoon. Mrs. Stannard's subject was "Home Training for Homemaking." Under this topic she gave helpful advice upon the training of children. A large attendance enjoyed both the lecture and the opportunity for sociability afterward.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. held with Mrs. Lincoln of Newtonville on Monday, Feb.

7, Miss Bacall was in charge of the work, and presented a careful study of the essays of the English essayist, Arthur Christopher Benson. She spoke of him as writing in an intimate vein that appeals to thoughtful minded people. She presented good criticisms of his work and read from three of his essays, "Thread of Gold," "Altair Fire," and "Silent Isle."

Members of the Newton Ladies' Home Circle are reminded that the next regular meeting will be held in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, February 17th, at 2 P. M. Members are also reminded of the special program following the meeting.

There was an unusually large attendance of both members and guests at this week's meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club, which was held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Keeler. Mrs. Salmon and Mrs. Hopkins were in charge, the general subject being, "The Opera." Miss Salmon read her paper and also spoke herself of Russian Music. The stories of four operas were told, "Arlene and Gretel," "Aida," "Louise," and "Madame Butterfly." These were illustrated by victrola records by star singers and Miss Frost rendered on the piano examples of Russian music. Miss Keeler assisted.

On Monday the Waban Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. W. F. Lamb. The largest audience of the current season, including many visiting club women, listened with intense interest to Mrs. George B. Flebbe (Beulah Marie Dix), who gave as her comment on war a very thrilling and dramatic reading of her play, "Across the Border." At the conclusion of the reading many of those present greeted Mrs. Flebbe and remained for the tea and social hour which followed. Assisting at the table were Mrs. William P. Brown and Mrs. D. E. Cummings.

The Auburndale Review Club met on Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Guy M. Winslow of Woodland road. Mrs. Gilpatrick read a resume of "Iphigenia" after which Miss Miriam Herron rendered violin selections accompanied by Mrs. Sampson. The play was presented by Mrs. Gilpatrick. Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Blood, gave a comprehensive and instructive talk upon Textiles.

An Evening of Specialties was the announcement for the Gentlemen's Night of the West Newton Women's Educational Club last Tuesday. After a reception the program included songs by Mr. Beckford and by Miss Ruth Beedle, Scotch Songs and Stories by Mrs. Bernard McCabe and cleverly illustrated advertisements. Among those taking part in the last mentioned numbers were, Miss Dorothy St. Amant, Mr. Guy Munroe, Mrs. Wein, Mr. Nowers, Mrs. Dickerman, Mrs. Holbrook, Mrs. Gibbs and Mrs. Woolston. The rest of the evening was given up to dancing and refreshments.

Mrs. William H. Daggett presented the paper on "The Peace of San Stefano and the Congress of Berlin, 1878," before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, this being the fifth in the course on Peace Treaties. Mrs. Daggett traced very carefully the history and condition of these Balkan States as they were one by one wrenched from the control of Turkey, beginning with Montenegro, which she characterized as the most peaceful of the four. Rumania, she stated, has a high degree of civilization with 2500 free schools, having kept clear of European entanglements.

Servia, on the other hand, has always furnished sensations for Europe. In times of peace it is a great pig raising country and one war indemnity was a million and half of pigs rather than money. Bulgaria was compared to the state of Pennsylvania in its shape and size, has a population of between three and four millions. There are several government railroads. Agriculture and the distilling of other of roses are the chief industries, there being no manufacturing whatever. Within its borders have been fought the principle battles of the Russo-Turkish war. The final conditions of the Congress of Berlin among other things gave autonomy to Bulgaria and Roumelia and independence to Roumania and Servia and imposed new regulations upon the navigation of the Danube. It was at best a compromise and was pregnant with difficulties. Dr. Washburn, the president of Robert College at Constantinople, has said that the conditions of peace between Russia and Turkey settled by this treaty "humiliated Russia without helping Turkey; it gained the rights of the people of the provinces which it deposed. It was a triumph for Lord Beaconsfield, but a misfortune for England and has been a source of trouble ever since."

The program committee for next year is desirous of receiving suggestions for topics from every member of the club. Kindly send them before March 1st to Miss Grace Weston.

Mrs. Charles E. Fogg of Auburndale, president of the Julia K. Dyer Circle of the Women's Charity Club, and prominently identified with the work of the Massachusetts Women's Hospital, was in charge of a Tea and Musical, recently given at the home of Mrs. Ira H. Bickford, 55 Brighton avenue, Allston. A large and appreciative audience enjoyed a most excellent program given by Miss Mary White, soprano, Miss Mabel Trask, contralto, Miss Elsie Luker, pianist, known as "the Copley Trio," assisted by Miss Eunice Avery, soprano, Miss Margaret Elliot, violinist, Mrs. Rich, accompanist, and Mrs. W. L. Bartlett, reader.

The purveyors were Mrs. E. F. Boland, Mrs. J. C. Otis, Mrs. A. H. James, Mrs. J. A. Towle, Mrs. Clement Lewis, Mrs. A. H. Hurlbut.

JOHN W. WEEKS

Thousands of men in the United States believe that what the United States needs at the head of its government is a level-headed business man. Senator John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts, is that—and much more. At the age of fifty-five his education and training have equipped him completely for the Presidency. In that office, his success in dealing with Congress would be equal to President McKinley's. With all the necessary qualifications of statesmanship, Mr. Weeks has certain special qualifications which are of the greatest interest at this particular time. If he were President, it is certain that the United States would have a large and efficient navy. He graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1881. He served as an officer in the Navy for three years. Later he served in the volunteer navy during the Spanish-American war. He has had executive experience, having been Mayor of the city of Newton, Mass. He was a member of Congress from the Fifty-ninth to the Sixty-third session and came to be regarded as the ablest man in the House.

He was elected to the Senate January, 1913, and in two years became one of the most forceful leaders on the Republican side. He made a success of the banking business. He is an expert in finance. As an evidence of his independence, he voted for the Democratic Banking and Currency bill, saying that there was more merit than evil in it, and that at least it was an improvement upon the old system.

As an expert in naval affairs and finance, it is certain that there would be an excellent administration of the Navy and Treasury Departments. He is for peace, but believes in an adequate army and strong navy. He is one of the few men, even in Congress, who really understand the tariff and he is a protectionist. At the present time, it looks as though all New England would be pledged to him, and that several Western States will fall in line. The Progressives regard him with considerable favor. He would give the United States the best business management it has ever had and foreign affairs would be handled with a safe, constructive touch.

SPARKLING WATER

There is something attractive to most of us in the mere name of "Sparkling Water." The words call up a vision of the clear sparkling of a mountain brook, or of some crystal-clear spring. Still more they call to mind the tall, thin glass with its contents of delicate flavor and perfection of taste, with the life and sparkle given by the carbonated or "sparkling" water.

It is true, however, that "all is not pure that sparkles." An ordinary faucet water may be so charged as to have all the appearance of a high quality carbonated water, but the resulting product will, of course, contain more or less impurity.

The "still" or natural water from the Nobscot Mountain Spring has been noted for many years for its exceptional purity and softness. The "Nobscot Sparkling Water" is a new product recently placed on the market. The Nobscot Mountain Spring Company has installed at the Spring the most modern and efficient carbonating and bottling equipment, and offers to the public every assurance that their "Sparkling Water" will maintain the high standard of the well-known "Nobscot."

LODGES

The members and friends of Nonantum Conclave, Improved Order of Heptasophs, will be pleased to hear that the Conclave will hold a whist and dance, Wednesday evening, Feb. 16th, at Elliot Hall, using one hall for the dance and the smaller hall for whist, both commencing at 8 P. M. The entertainment committee has planned an especially attractive program.

Nonantum Conclave, Improved Order of Heptasophs, will install new officers, in a few weeks, at which time, the names of officers will be announced. It is also expected that several new names will be added to membership.

NEWMAN TRAVELTALKS

The sale of course tickets now in progress for the South American series of Newman Traveltalks is to be presented at Symphony Hall on successive Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons, beginning February 25 and 26, is by far the largest of the many seasons this popular conductor of easy-chair-travels has appeared here. Mr. Newman has anticipated the tide of travel which is certain to follow the awakening appreciation of South American attractions. He reproduces his journey around that Continent, by way of the Straits of Magellan and the Panama Canal, with many delightful side-trips to the most interesting points in the interior. He shows colorful scenery unparalleled, enterprise unexpected and a wonderful variety of strange people and interesting places. The opening subject is to be "Brazil," to be followed by "Argentina," "Chile," "Peru" and "Bolivia."

WILBUR THEATRE—If we are to accept the consensus of critical opinion, it is many seasons since the American stage has seen so successfully constructed a farce as "It Pays to Advertise," which enters on its second month at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, next Monday evening, February 14th. The story told in "It Pays to Advertise," concerns an idle youth whose father, a captain of industry, casts him adrift. He falls in with a young man who is full of ideas, the principal one being publicity. "Say a thing often enough, and hard enough," says this young promoter, "and the man you are trying to convince will not only fall for your argument, but will shortly believe that he himself is the originator of it." The disowned son and his pal devise a scheme to boom a new brand of wonderful soap and by means of an extraordinary advertising campaign, build up a tremendous business. But unfortunately, they have no soap. Father, astounded at his son's commercial coup comes to the rescue, and all is well, but not before countless complications, sentimental and otherwise have transpired.

SHUBERT THEATRE—When the directors of the New York Winter Garden, four years ago evolved the idea of presenting an annual revue, they did not dream that they would ever reach the magnitude to which they have grown. "The Passing Show of 1915" which comes to the Shubert Theatre, Boston, next week, the first of these revues, was considered a most pretentious and elaborate production and the cast was a host of notable artists of the stage. Each year these revues have grown both in point of elaborateness and magnificence and also in the wealth of entertainment they offer. The latest one, "The Passing Show of 1915," is a grand combination of musical comedy, ballet, burlesque, spectacle, hippodrome, drama and extravaganza. It takes no less than five seventy-foot baggage cars to transport the scenery and properties of this latest of the Winter Garden productions. There are no less than 120 members of the company and the chorus alone has eleven changes of costume in the course of the play. It takes almost as much equipment to transport "The Passing Show of 1915" as it does some of the bigger circuses.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Julia Arthur continues in her triumphant resumption of the stage at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, in "The Eternal Magdalene," after her long absence from the boards. The cordiality of the greetings she receives has been without surcease for the past two weeks, each performance appearing to exceed the preceding. This heartiness of reception was not confined to the lay auditors alone, for the press has indulged in praise of her work and the play to an excess almost without precedent. The play, by Robert McLaughlin, has also won many flattering words of commendation. It is a drama of the present, written in a thoroughly modern style, void of all gruesomeness and preaching, the theme being handled in a masterly manner pleasantly presented and engrossing in the extreme. Selwyn & Co. have again presented a cast that is of perfect excellence in every part.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Monday morning the usual thirty minutes' study period was lengthened into forty-five minutes on account of a very important meeting of the Student Council in the library. This council is now organizing for the remainder of the school year. Its aim will be to look after the general welfare of the school. The members will be divided into committees to attend to the various activities of the term. Among these committees are the Grounds Committee and the Lunch Room Committee. The total number of members of this council will be nineteen. There will be nine representatives of the Senior Class, including the class president, ex officio, four students appointed by the principal, and four elected by the class. There will be five representatives of the Junior Class, including the president, two members appointed by the principal, and two elected by the class. The Sophomore Class will be represented by three members, including the president, one student appointed by the principal, and one elected by the class. There will be two delegates representing the Freshman Class, but these members will not have the power of vote. The meetings of the Council will be held regularly upon the second Monday of each month. The president may call a special meeting at any time he wishes, and must do so upon the request of the principal. It is hoped that this organization will prove to be of much benefit to the school during the remainder of the term.

Wednesday morning the upper classes assembled in the hall as usual. Mr. Adams took this opportunity of explaining the facts concerning the Student Council.

The Girls' Triangular League Debate will be held on the evening of Friday, February 18. At 7.45 a debate will take place in the Assembly Hall between the Newton negative team and the Somerville affirmative team. At the same time the Newton affirmative team will be debating against the Brookline negative team at Brookline. The subject has been announced as "Single Tax."

It is hoped that a large number of students and parents will attend this interesting event. The debate will be followed by dancing.

On account of a misunderstanding in regard to the school signals, a large number of the pupils were absent last Thursday. The signal was intended to denote that there was no session in the grammar schools. Mr. Adams has ruled that the absence shall not be counted against those who were misinformed regarding the school session.

Lack of ice prevented the hockey game with Middlesex last Saturday. Tuesday afternoon the Newton team won an easy game from Needham High at Brae Burn. This contest was marked by the return of Captain Burkhardt, who has been ill for the past three weeks. A great improvement in team play should result from his presence. This afternoon the Newton boys will try to make up for the recent track defeat at the hands of Huntington by winning from the Huntington hockey team, at Brae Burn. Next Wednesday afternoon Newton will meet the Boston College High seven on the same rink.

The track team has no reason to feel discouraged as a result of their defeat last Friday. The Huntington team is regarded as the strongest schoolboy combination in this part of the state, yet was able to beat Newton by only a very narrow margin, which Arthur Roberts slipped and fell while leading in the final relay race. Had the visitors not been favored with very unusual luck the result of the meet would certainly have been different.

Very great interest is shown in the meet with Boston College High, to be held this evening in the local gymnasium. The first event will start at 7.45. The Newton athletes have great hopes of obtaining full revenge for last year's defeat at the hands of the Boston team. The visitors have one very good man in the dashes, but in most of the other events the Newton boys appear to be stronger than their rivals.

JONQUIL SALE

Mrs. Margaret Deland's 22nd Annual Jonquil Sale will be held at her house, 35 Newbury street, Boston, on the afternoon of Tuesday, February 15th, from 2 to 5 o'clock. If the day should be stormy, the sale will be continued on Wednesday morning. It will include about 300 pots of jonquils, hyacinths, crocuses, tulips, and little grape hyacinths. This year the proceeds will be used for a Vacation Camp for working girls, in which Mrs. Deland is greatly interested.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—After ten years of notable prosperity with two plays only, "The Man From Home" and "The Road to Happiness," that inimitable portrayal of American character types, William Hodge, is now to present a new drama to his host of Boston admirers at the Majestic next week (Feb. 14). Its title, originally announced as "The Social Climbers," was later definitely decided upon as "Rising Sister," as that title is said to aptly indicate the nature of the plot, in which the unique Hodge as John Otis, a masterful type of American business man, rescues his society-worshipping and title-hunting sister, a wealthy young widow, from the consequences of her headstrong extravagances and social follies. Unlike his previous play of "The Road to Happiness," which had a semi-rural atmosphere and in which he depicted a village youth of the Lincoln type, this new piece is a comedy-drama of New York life and its background is that of the most fashionable kind.

Rules and Conditions

Any man or woman, married or single, or any boy or girl who resides in any of the districts represented may enter The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest by having his or her nomination properly filled out and endorsed by one reputable citizen of their district. A person may nominate himself.

There will be three separate districts, (as described elsewhere on this page), from which to enter.

The grand prize—A MAXWELL TOURING CAR—will be awarded to the person who secures the greatest number of votes, under the rules and conditions governing this Contest. The three district prizes—one in each district—FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD—will be awarded to the persons securing the greatest number of votes in each district—excluding the winner of the Grand Prize.

Votes will be credited by means of COUPONS, and CERTIFICATES. A voting COUPON will be printed in each copy of THE NEWTON GRAPHIC during the nine weeks the Contest will continue, which should be clipped, filled in with the name of the candidate, and deposited at the office of the Newton Graphic before the expiration of the time printed thereon in order to count. Voting CERTIFICATES will be issued only on payment of new or old subscriptions to the NEWTON GRAPHIC as described below.

Each contestant will be given a receipt book to be used in all cases where money is paid, the receipt proper to be given to the subscriber and the stub, which bears a corresponding number to the receipt, will be reported to the office, where it will be copied on Report Blanks, and on which voting CERTIFICATES will be issued.

No employee of the NEWTON GRAPHIC will be allowed to enter this contest.

Candidates must enter from the district in which they live.

Votes are not transferable from one candidate to another.

In the event of a tie vote the contestants who tie will receive a prize of equal value.

A Board of three responsible citizens will inspect the vote at the close of The Contest and will award the prizes accordingly.

The publisher of the NEWTON GRAPHIC guarantees fair treatment to each contestant, and reserves the right to amend these rules, if necessary, for the protection of all concerned.

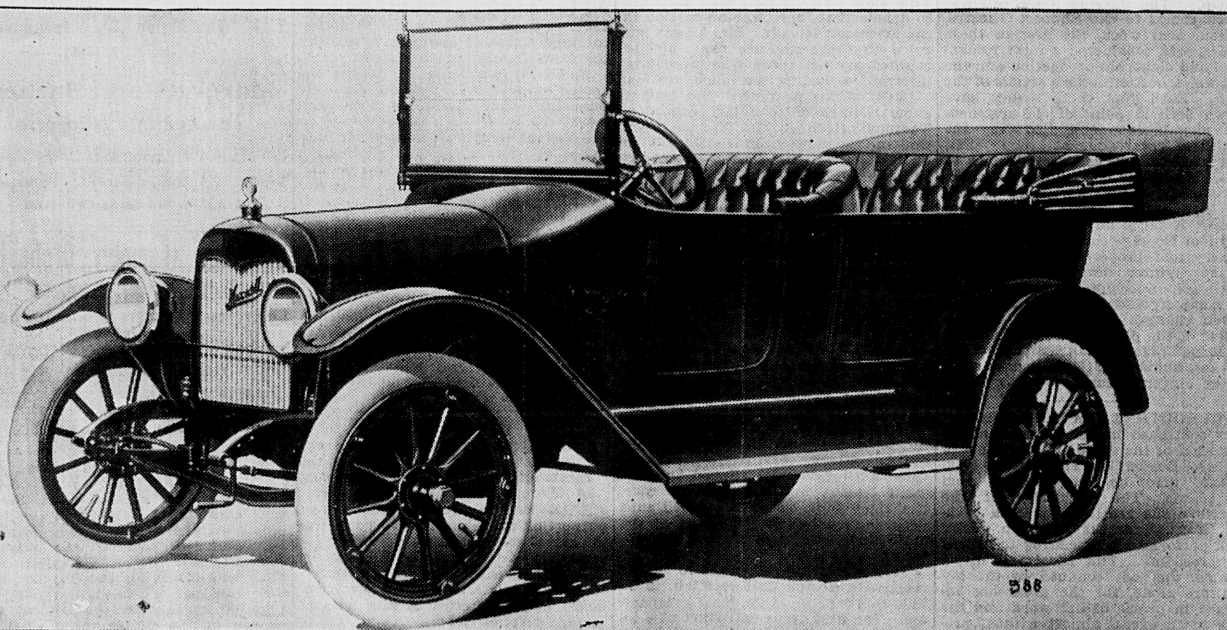

The publisher of the NEWTON GRAPHIC will not recognize any statement or promise made by any solicitor, agent or contestant, other than those contained in the printed Rules and Conditions of this Contest, or which may bear his signature.

Persons who enter and take part in this Contest will thereby agree to all conditions.

Votes will be given on subscriptions, both old or new. All the new subscriptions will count more than old.

In order to protect subscribers, the names of those who pay subscriptions directly to the office in behalf of any contestant, will not be divulged.

In the event of inactivity in any district the management reserves the right to withdraw the prize offered or award same at its own discretion.

THE DISTRICTS

Do you live in any of these districts? If so, you are eligible to compete for the Automobile and other prizes.

District 1—Newton and Nonantum.

District 2—Newtonville, West Newton, Auburndale and Lower Falls.

District 3—Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, Waban and Upper Falls.

Every Worker Can Win in This Contest.

How to Win a Prize

The first thing to do is to enter your name as a candidate, then either write, call or phone the NEWTON GRAPHIC AUTOMOBILE DEPARTMENT for a receipt book with which to secure subscriptions. Then let all your friends know that you are in the race and request them to save votes for you. Don't wait. Get busy at once. Use the telephone freely. Let everyone know you are a candidate before they promise their help to a more enterprising contestant.

Be ambitious and determined to win. If you have friends whom you cannot see, write them at once.

Urge your friends to help you win. If you belong to a club, society or organization, let your fellow members know, so they may assist you. Do not let a day pass without securing some votes. The steady, persistent work is what will make you the winner of the valuable prize.

It is easier to answer questions than correct mistakes. Do not hesitate to ask questions. The management will be glad to help you.

These valuable prizes will be won by some one. WHY NOT YOU?

GENERAL INFORMATION

Each district is separate and distinct and the number of votes cast for candidates in one district has no bearing whatever upon the number of votes cast for candidates in other districts, except so far as the capital prize, The Automobile, is concerned.

The one person securing the greatest number of votes in any of the districts will win the Maxwell Touring Car. Then each district will receive the prize which has been offered according to the vote cast. Each district having two or more active candidates to the end of the contest will be awarded a district prize.

PRIZES OFFERED TO BE WON BY HUSTLE

The only way in which the Maxwell Touring Car, which will be given as the Grand Prize, and the other district prizes which have been offered can be won is by becoming a candidate and competing for the same according to the rules and conditions which will govern the competition.

Personal work is a prime requisite for success and the manner in which the contesting aspirants enthrall their friends will have much to do in the awarding of the desirable prizes.

The contest presents an opportunity of a life time to all. The Maxwell Touring Car which will be given to the one candidate whose vote exceeds all the others in the race is something that all of us would appreciate but cannot have. This excellent plan provides the vehicle for some one to profit immeasurably. Who it will be depends on the spirit and determination shown by those who become interested. The offer is up to YOU. You know what has been outlined said of the procrastinator? Opportunity knocks at your door. Let it in and be happy ever after. The Newton Graphic will be glad to receive a query from you. By starting today you may head off some one in your district.

QUALITY GOODS

Maybe you are not a regular customer of this store and you can't tell us why. Maybe you don't know that you will obtain Quality Goods,—real Quality Goods,—goods so fine that you need not be ashamed to serve them to the most fastidious,—goods so fine that we are proud to sell them to the most particular.

Maybe you don't know that our prices are low—as low as others sell Argentine or Australian meats, cold storage goods, or inferior manufactured products.

Maybe you don't know that your purchases will be delivered to you promptly, prepared by careful workmen and cleanly and neatly wrapped and delivered. There are many, however, who do know all these facts, and many more are learning them each month. Of course if you never call and see us you will never learn how much more pleasure you may obtain in life, for after all what adds more to life's pleasures than satisfactory food. And above all in interest to you, you will never learn how really reasonable our goods are sold and then you will be able to save money.

We should be glad to welcome you and prove these statements to you.

—The Woman's Association of Eliot Church will meet Tuesday in the church parlors. There will be a sewing meeting at 9.30 and at 11 o'clock, Miss Margaret Rich of the Newton Welfare Bureau will give an address. A basket luncheon will be served at 12.30.

—The "Cent-A-Day Fund" is a plan which has been adopted by the Ferguson Club of the Methodist Church and is under the management of Mr. Elliston H. Bell, who is secretary and treasurer. The idea is to create a "Trustee Fund" which can only be used for the improvement or building of church property. The plan is, that one cent a day is subscribed, payable weekly or monthly for each name on the Honor Roll. The subscription is for one year.

—There was a large attendance at the Ferguson Club dinner on Thursday evening at the Methodist Church, and the occasion was delightful as well as profitable. The following members have been appointed on the Executive Committee of the Club: Mr. Frederic D. Fuller, chairman, Mr. Duncan MacLennan, Mr. George Bauer, Mr. Vernon B. Swift, Rev. G. Charles Gray, Mr. George W. Barber, Mr. Arthur S. Flinn, Mr. Charles Peterson, Mr. H. S. Leonard and Mr. G. Albert Aston.

—The regular meeting of Channing Alliance was held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon. After the business meeting there were selections by the Alliance choir and an address by Rev. Elmer S. Forbes of the American Unitarian Association on "Social Service and the Churches." Mr. Forbes spoke of social service as the fruit of our religion. He pointed out what was done by the early Christians in looking after their members and their individual welfare, in contrast to that done by those of the other faiths. He traced the growth of the social service idea as it has developed through the ages, until the wonderful blossoming out at the present day. In concluding his address he told of the new impetus given by Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer in the forming of a Summer Institute of Social Service at the Meadville Theological School, and urged the Branch to assist in sending some one from Newton to attend the sessions this coming summer, who may become fitted to make the lead in such good work here within our own limits. At the close there was the usual social hour, in charge of Mrs. A. W. Blakemore, Mrs. Henry P. Curtiss and Mrs. Philip Nichols presiding over the tea table.

—Miss Laura Ella Cragin appeared before the Newton Centre Fortnightly Club for the third time in one of her choice programs on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. L. H. Fitch of Sumner street. She gave a dramatic reading of the Song of Songs, with exquisite musical accompaniment by Miss Mary Frances Curtiss. Her interpretation of the ancient poem gave it an entirely new meaning. She showed that it presents a clear ideal of the pure love of one wife for one husband in contrast with the polygamy of those times. Miss Cragin's charming reading carried her hearers back to old Palestine. Under her spell the beautiful Shulamite woman lived and loved and sang once more.

Waban

—Another of the Whist Club dances will be held in Knollwood Hall this evening.

—Twelve Waban boys visited Troop 4 of the Boy Scouts at Newton Highlands on Tuesday evening and all enjoyed the visit.

—A largely attended bridge party was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Breck, Beacon street, under the auspices of the Ladies' Circle.

—Mr. Harry Woodworth of Beacon street is making satisfactory recovery from an operation for appendicitis, performed at the Newton Hospital last week.

—At an early date in March it is planned to have the Highland Glee Club give a concert in the Union Church Vestry under the auspices of the Ladies' Circle of the Church.

—Alice in Wonderland is to be presented by children of Waban for the annual children's party of the Waban Woman's Club to be held in the Union Church Vestry the afternoon of March 7th. Mrs. J. Earle Parker of Waban avenue has charge of the rehearsals.

—The Christian Discussion Class will meet for one hour Friday morning at 9.30 o'clock beginning Friday, February 25th. The class will be conducted by the ministers of the two churches. At each meeting one or the other of the ministers will open with a twenty-minute talk to be followed by discussion, the first meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. George Angier, Pine Ridge road. All women in Waban are invited.

The man who heard the first words ever spoken over a wire, will tell the story of the Birth and Babyhood of the Telephone to the people of Waban next Friday evening. Mr. Thomas A. Watson of Boston, who as a young man was closely associated with Alexander Graham Bell in the invention and development of the telephone, will tell the story at the Union Church, under the auspices of the Men's Bible Class, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecture will not be technical at all. It is a great story—full of human struggle and achievement. Admission is free, and every man, woman, boy and girl in Waban is invited.

In his lecture on "Boston Harbor—the port of the Puritans," Mr. Winfield M. Thompson shows the anxiety of Boston's first settlers to prepare against attacks of the enemy. In those early Puritan days the people were interested in preparedness. The conditions of Boston Harbor in those days, and the story of the early settlements on the islands are full of interest to all lovers of our colonial history. Mr. Thompson is well known by his series of articles in the Boston Globe on the history of the Civil War, and his writings on Abraham Lincoln, and he has made a thorough study of the early history of Boston. He is a leading authority on yachting, and his lecture is a rare combination of the efforts of a lover of the sea, and a student of historical facts. The lecture will be given at Knollwood Hall, Saturday evening, February 26th, at 7.45 o'clock. The proceeds will be for the roofing fund of the Church of the Good Shepherd. There will be dancing afterwards.

MILITARY BALL AT STATE ARMY

The Reception to Governor McCall and Lieutenant Governor Coolidge at the Armory at West Newton bids fair to present a brilliant spectacle on Friday evening, March 3rd. The Committee in charge have the acceptances of Governor McCall, Lieutenant Governor Coolidge, Adjutant General Cole and the Governor's staff.

The band of the First Corps of Cadets has been engaged, thus ensuring an excellent concert during the reception and inspiring music for dancing afterwards.

Invitations are to be sent next week to the officers of the State Militia and to the Regular Army officers stationed in Massachusetts.

Retired and active military men are to wear dress uniforms. The reception itself is to be in charge of General James G. White who will be assisted by a large corps of ushers. Edwin M. Richards of Newtonville is in general charge of tickets.

There are many other prominent men actively co-operating to make this a great occasion, among them being Frank W. Stearns, Howard Emerson, General J. W. Bartlett, Alfred H. Wing, Payson T. Lowell, Louis D. Gibbs, and Thomas Weston, Jr. Many Newton men have for a long time felt that Company C of the Fifth Regiment with headquarters in Newton, should receive more attention from Newton people. If war comes or trouble is threatened, the first men to march away from this city are those in that company. The preparedness agitation has caused many men to think that the most practical way for Newton men and women to aid is by encouraging and assisting our own Company, which for so many years as the Clavin Guards was so popular.

Captain H. D. Comerals, in charge of the Company for seven months past, has brought to it a good degree of efficiency and has his complement of 65 men.

It is hoped that the receipts for the Reception and Ball will give a substantial balance above expenses, which will be turned into the Company fund. This is the first time for years that all Newton has had a chance to greet the Governor of the Commonwealth and to rally to the support of its Military Company.

It is earnestly hoped that all the people of Newton will join in the welcome to His Excellency and His Honor and in a tribute to Company C.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

Organized in February, 1915, for the purpose of promoting co-operation among the philanthropic workers in the city.

Its offices are in the rooms formerly occupied by the Newton Associated Charities, Clavin Block, Newtonville, and are open from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. the secretary, Miss Margaret C. Rich, being personally present between 10.30 A. M. and 12 M.

Any one interested in work of this character or who know of cases of need are invited to notify the secretary.

—Miss Gertrude Duffy of Hale street is ill at the Newton Hospital.

—Miss Margaret Crowley of Pennsylvania avenue is ill at her home with typhoid fever.

—Mr. Walter Joyson, formerly of this village with his four brothers, is in active service in the English army.

—Mrs. Ralph Hamilton of Ellis street entertained the Ways and Means Society of the Second Baptist Church at her home on Wednesday.

—Mr. W. C. Willard of Champa avenue who has been seriously ill the past week was taken to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Thursday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chesley of Chestnut street were called to Concord, N. H., the past week by the death of Mr. Chesley's brother.

—The Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People held their annual meeting at the Newton Club House, Newtonville, on Saturday afternoon. The same officers were re-elected for the ensuing year.

—Mr. James Doane, president of the foremen of the Saco-Lowell company was presented with a silver loving cup last Saturday evening at the annual reunion and banquet held in Boston. Mr. William Halliday was elected president and Daniel Lynch, vice president.

—The Rev. Laurens MacLure of the Grace Episcopal Church, Newton will conduct services at the Newton Home for Aged People on Sunday afternoon, Sunday evening, Mr. Albert Wright of West Newton entertained the Ladies of the Home with his autoharp.

—On Wednesday evening the Wesley Bible Class of the First Methodist Episcopal Church held their Sixteenth Annual Banquet in the vestry of the Methodist Church. Rev. J. W. Stephenson was the toastmaster and brief addresses were given by Mr. James E. Tully, Mr. J. Charles Batey, and Mr. Herbert E. Locke. The speaker of the evening was Rev. O. P. Gifford of Brooklyn.

For more than a year the Ladies of the Newton Home for Aged People have been interested in working for the Belgians. They have knitted scarves, wristers and caps and over a hundred surgical pillows and cotton "ponges" for surgical dressing have been made by them. They are very happy in making these useful and necessary articles out of the materials which have been furnished them.

The Christian Endeavor Societies of the First Methodist Episcopal Church and Second Baptist Church observed Christian Endeavor Week, holding two socials, the Baptist Society being entertained on Monday evening at the Methodist Church and the Methodist Society was entertained at the Baptist Church on Thursday evening. Each evening a good social time and games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

—The Newton Upper Falls Athletic Club held a Ladies' Night on Wednesday evening at the club rooms with about 125 present. A musical program was enjoyed, consisting of piano selections by Mr. Willard McKenzie, vocal selections by Mr. Taylor and Mr. Dr. of Roxbury and Mr. Kerr of Newton Centre and by several club members. The Fan Dance and several fancy dances were artistically performed by the "Duke Sisters." But the hit of the evening was Master Braeland of Elliot street who rendered songs and recitations in a very taking manner. Refreshments were served.

—The most interesting entertainment which has been held at the Newton Home for Aged People was given on Monday afternoon at the Home, under the auspices of Mrs. George Frost and Mrs. Frederick Freeman. Mrs. James Richard Carter of West Newton entertained the Ladies with her wonderful stories of her travels around the world and with her display of curios which she had collected. She exhibited wedding garments worn by girls of many of the different countries, also mourning garments of the Chinese, veils and rainy weather garments of the Koreans, a lace shawl from Spain, hats from South America and quantities of other clothing and curios which had interested her during her travels. Ice cream and cake were served in the dining room and each Lady was presented with a valentine and box of candy by Mrs. George Frost.

IMPORTANT CHANGE

The school committee which has been considering the matter of re-establishing military drill at the High School has notified the city government that it has decided to inaugurate the following system of physical training.

The plan outlined below has for its purpose the development of all boys pursuing secondary school courses in the Newton Schools, physically, mentally and morally, to the end that the Newton schools may help to produce men of sound bodies, clear minds and good morals, characteristics as essential to the future doctor, lawyer, mechanic or business man as to the future soldier. In so far as any form of military drill and the development of natural instincts for group work, out-door and camp life will enable the schools to do this, these activities should be allowed to play their part.

With the present limitations of equipment, time and teaching force, the Physical Training Department has been unable to do this for boys in any adequate way. Neither has military drill, as it has been conducted in the Massachusetts schools to date, been adequate from either the standpoint of those who believe in it as a means of physical training or those who advocate it as a means of military preparedness.

The Proposed Plan

1. That the time for all boys be increased to the equivalent of three sixty-minute periods per week for four years, or some other suitable time to be agreed upon by the experts in this line of work. Probably not less than two hours of this time would have to be outside of school time, lengthening the school work by two hours. That this be compulsory for all boys unless a doctor's certificate of inability be presented, in which case, suitable corrective work should be substituted to meet the special physical needs of the individual. That suitable exercises in physical training, including swimming, be given, and that physiology and hygiene be taught to all first year boys.

2. That at the end of the first year, boys elect either (a) Three years of physical training, physiology, hygiene and sanitation, with the opportunity for additional electives in athletics, or

(b) Three years of calisthenics, personal hygiene, military science and history, tramping and training to develop the ability to take care of themselves in the open,—pitch tents, cook food, etc., with such amounts of military drill and tactics as may seem best fitted to the age and size of the boys in the different years. This group would be allowed to elect, with the consent of the parents, target practice with rifles of a size suited to the development of the boy; they would also be allowed to elect a period of two weeks in a summer camp to be conducted during the summer vacation.

Physical Training for Girls

It is expected that the time now devoted to physical training by the girls will be materially increased and continued through the four years. This will be compulsory for all girls unless a doctor's certificate of inability be presented. The work will consist of gymnasium exercises, indoor and outdoor games, physiology, hygiene and sanitation, and special corrective exercises.

A. will be held in Newton on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 18, 19 and 20. About 700 boys will attend as delegates and it is desired that they shall be entertained by the people of the Newtons. Friends who would be willing to take one or more boys into their homes are requested to communicate with Mrs. Carl T. Whittemore.

Making Money at Home.

A girl makes quite a nice sum of money every Saturday morning the year around by conducting an amusement and instruction class for children up to twelve years old. She teaches them basket weaving, raffia work and clay modeling. Before Christmas the children make presents for their parents. The class meets at her home from 9.30 a. m. to 11.30 a. m. and the children pay 25 cents a lesson.—Baltimore American.

CHRISTIAN FORUM

The February meeting of the Forum will be held next Sunday evening at 7.30 at Eliot Church and will be addressed by Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe, of England, on the subject, "Democracy and Leadership."

Mr. Ratcliffe has been for many years prominently associated with University Extension work in England, as a lecturer in History, Literature and Sociology under the London University Extension Board. For a longer time still he has been engaged in journalism in several capacities—an editorial writer on the London "Daily News" and other prominent journals, and he has been associated from the beginning with "The New Statesman." As Hon. Secretary of the "British Sociological Review" he is in touch with the formative influences in social thought.

From 1902 to 1907 he was in India, editing the leading English newspaper in Calcutta ("The Statesman"), and while there he was made, on the nomination of the Government, an honorary Fellow of the Calcutta University.

He has twice visited America and addressed large audiences in many of the chief cities.

ALLIES RELIEF

On Thursday of last week, a cablegram was received at the American Fund for French Wounded, 306 Boylston street, saying that the Paris office was in great need of surgical supplies. When the news reached the Newton South Allies' Relief Association, it was at once decided to hold an all-day session on Friday and to send in the work as soon as done. Forty-nine ladies were present in the morning and about thirty in the afternoon and a dozen or fifteen brought their luncheon and worked from 9.30 till 5. 3940 surgical sponges were folded and bundled, 45 yards of cover cotton and costing the Association over $30.00—48 bandages were rolled and 60 draw-pads made. All these articles are now on the ocean, en route to France.

The Waban Branch has sent to the American Fund for French Wounded as the result of their last five meetings, the following articles: 7300 surgical sponges, 241 knit sponges, 105 draw-pads, 128 comfort pillows, 2 feather pillows, 11 knitted mufflers, 6 pair wristers, 6 pair socks, 1 quilt, 1 overcoat, 1 suit clothes, 2 sets underwear, and several packages of old kid, worn garments and used playing cards.

ARTHUR SAMUEL KIMBALL

It is difficult for the wide circle of friends, to whom he had endeared himself, to realize that Arthur Samuel Kimball has passed beyond the veil. He should be cut off in the midst of his usefulness is not ours to question. To the many who have been privileged to know him intimately, his character stands forth as a type of the upright man, in its highest sense. The four cardinal virtues were exemplified in his life and character. Temperance in all things, Fortitude to undertake and to endure, Prudence to wisely judge and prudently determine on all things relative to his own conduct. Justice to every person with whom he came in contact, without distinction. A devout Christian and Church worker, a lover of his Country, a loyal and devoted son, husband and brother and withal a staunch friend to all who knew him, the example of his short but manly and useful life should serve as a mighty uplift and lasting example to those who have watched it develop to beautify his character and endear him to his many friends.

PIANO RECITAL

About 50 piano pupils of Miss Susanna Munster of Waltham held their monthly recital at the home of Miss Isabel Gaw, Cherry street, West Newton, last week and much credit is due both teacher and pupils for the manner in which the numbers were rendered. Refreshments were served to the pupils and guests at the close of the musical program. Among those taking part were, Mary O'Dea, Sadie Karsch, Kathryn Hession, John Powers Foster, Eva Feder, Edward Greeley, Ida Karsch, Dorothy Greeley, Miriam Standbridge, Angelo Caravaggio, Angela Murphy, Junior Standbridge, Helen Peeney, Mary and John Powers, Mary Powers, Josephine Dowd, Mary Bannon, Bernice Howell and Isabel Gaw.

THE WASTEBASKET ADVERTISER

Wastebasket! The merchant who wishes to reach 10,000 wastebaskets into which his advertising circulars fall must pay some one for their writing, printing and posting, and as the New York Herald, one of the ablest exponents of business principles in the country, says, "The wastebasket cannot read circulars and is unable to buy any of the things that they seem to exploit." Our esteemed contemporary is surprised to know that men of supposed commercial acumen spend large sums each year in the futile effort to convert the wastebaskets of the country into customers, while neglecting the advertising columns of publications that are not thrown into wastebaskets.

HOLIDAY DANCE

Newton society will be well represented at the holiday dance to be given at Whitney Hall, Brookline, February twenty-second from three until seven o'clock, by Mrs. Helen W. Bowers of Brookline.

The list of patronesses include Mrs. George T. Angell, Mrs. James Marshall Wead, Mrs. Roger I. Sherman, Mrs. Florena E. Shaal, Mrs. Henry A. Mears and Mrs. Emil W. Gobrecht. Mrs. Bower's banjo orchestra will furnish the music. An attractive feature of the affair will be the dancing of the minuett in costume by Miss Varding and Mr. Kessener.

The ushers include Messrs. Delcesare King, Arthur W. Briggs, Radcliffe Stevens and S. W. Claggett. A large and brilliant affair is assured.

WABAN MEN'S CLUB

The February meeting of the Men's Club of the Parish of the Good Shepherd was held at the home of Rev. James C. Sharp, Woodward street, on Tuesday evening, with President Cardell presiding. After a brief business session and a short talk by the Rector, President Cardell introduced Dr. H. F. Hartwell, a former member of the Harvard Unit doing hospital service in Northern France. Dr. Hartwell was of the original party which sailed on the Noordam, and told of the personnel of the Unit and of the attention given wounded men from the trenches. Wounded men are moved from the trenches only at night, so that a man wounded in the day time is not moved until nightfall. The officers are furnished with morphia to alleviate the sufferings of the wounded until they can be moved back of the lines to the Field Hospitals from where they are moved to the divisional hospitals and then further back from the lines to hospitals such as that of the Harvard Unit from which Dr. Hartwell estimates that 50 per cent recover so as to join the fighting line again, the balance being sent back to England, where they receive further treatment.

The hospital conducted by the Harvard men loses only about 1 per cent while the patients are in their care, although some die after their return to England. Dr. Hartwell described some of the wounds, the most terrible of which are inflicted by hand grenades or bombs, some of which contain corrosive liquids.

The wounded Tommies, almost invariably, when brought in on stretchers, are seen to be smoking, and one who is not, is usually in a serious condition. Dr. Hartwell had a number of interesting exhibits, including a mask which had been used by a soldier in the trenches for protection against poisonous gases, it being the duty of some of the men to spray the masks with a chemical solution which neutralizes the gas. An unexploded German hand bomb, and samples of the different bullets and cartridges used by Germans, British and French, were shown, as were also a number of pictures. The next meeting of the Club promises to be unusually attractive, as some of the talented club members will be asked to entertain.

BRAE BURN CLUB

If the weather conditions are favorable the Skating Carnival which has been postponed since Dec. 30th will be held this evening commencing at 8 o'clock. Visitors to the pond must be accompanied by members. The 8th Mass. Infantry Band of Lynn will be in attendance, and the pond will be illuminated. Dancing will follow from 9.30 until 12 o'clock. In the Club House for members and their invited guests, Table d'Hôte supper will be served from 10 to 11 o'clock and tables may be reserved by application to the Club House before 6 P. M.

Mrs. H. Frederick Lesh of Newton Centre entertained at luncheon on Monday at the Club. Covers were laid for ten.

Mr. Jerome C. Smith and Mr. G. W. Crampton of Newton Centre entertained fifty guests at a buffet supper and dance on Saturday evening at Brae Burn.

Mrs. Edward Hartshorn of Brookline gave a luncheon bridge on Tuesday at the Club.

The new Tea Room is completed and will be formally opened with a dinner dance on Tuesday evening. Two hundred guests will be present and an orchestra of ten pieces will furnish the music.

A subscription dance will be held Saturday evening, February 19th at the Club.

Mrs. Harry L. Dexter is giving a luncheon bridge today at Brae Burn.

MANY NEWTON MEN ATTEND BIG AMHERST DINNER

The Amherst College Alumni Association of Boston held the largest dinner in its history at the Copley Plaza Friday evening, February 4, 1916. Over 1000 alumni and friends of the college joined in making the banquet a monster demonstration of Amherst spirit. The toast list included Governor, McCall, Lieut. Gov. Coolidge, Amherst 1895, Gov. Whitman, Class of 1885, Chief Justice Ruggs, Class 1883 acted as toastmaster. Among the Newton men present were A. E. Alvord '84, C. E. Kelsey '84, Geo. N. Goddard '87, C. B. Wilbur '88, R. D. Holt '89, Geo. G. Phipps '62, Samuel Ward '67, W. M. Leonard '88, Charles R. Darling '74, F. W. Stearns '78, Geo. C. Ewing '80, G. F. Wales '93, Chas. A. Andrews '95, C. I. Dewitt '99, I. P. F. Snow '11, W. S. Slocum '13, R. D. Hunting '12.

Among the officers elected were C. P. Slocum, Treasurer, R. D. Hunting Asst. Secretary, J. B. Melcher, Asst. Treas. and F. M. Butts, a member of the Executive Committee.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE—"Rolling Stones," aptly described as a comedy of adventure, begins the second week of its engagement at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, next Monday. It came to Boston after six months of success at the Harris Theatre, New York. This comedy is essentially a product of the talented and successful Selwyn family, as the firm of Selwyn & Company present it, and Edgar Selwyn is the author. Its success in Boston is attested by many indications the principal of which was the long run of Edgar Selwyn's previous play "The Country Cox" at the old Park Theatre. Mr. Selwyn, whose adeptness as a narrator of up-to-date romance with a typical breezy American meek to his dialogue, is undoubtedly his best in "Rolling Stones," and it is rumored that the incidents leading up to the main situation of the play were a chapter from his own life at a time when Royalties and Play Poffers were not swelling his bank account to the proportions they are at present. At any rate the opening act of the play develops a situation as unlikely and a "carnant with possibility as has ever been unfolded for American theatre goers.

THE CHRISTIAN FORUM

S. K. Ratcliffe

The Fifth Meeting of the Christian Forum of Newton was held at the Elliot Church, on Sunday evening last. Mr. S. K. Ratcliffe of London, England, gave an address on "Democracy and Leadership." Mr. Ratcliffe said: We all, I think, feel that in times like these we are being driven back upon the foundations of our faith. As one of the makers of the American Revolution said: "These are the times that try men's souls," and I think it is a matter of conscience with each one of us as time goes on to ask ourselves whether we really do believe in the things we have stood by in the past, and this applies more than anything else to our belief in the real foundations of democracy. It is easy enough in ordinary times to believe in human freedom, to accept those ideals of democracy upon which our society and government is founded. But what in the world is the crash around us? The world is aflame. Can we still hold to those beliefs which have satisfied up to now. I suppose there is not a single thoughtful person among us who has not felt during the last 18 months that everything we have held sacred had been dashed to the ground. We have had unrolled before us the impressive picture of a great despotism at work. This war has shown us the power of a man in command of the materials of life and the power of its organized forces. Apparently up to now those forces have been practically unconquerable. And I believe there has been driven home the question as to whether the system and organization of these peoples will be accepted for the guidance of future generations or whether it will be best to continue our ideals of freedom and government. Surely this is the most searching question we can put to ourselves today. Is it true, these roles of barbarism and this appeal to brute force, is it true that the whole of that experience is tending to destroy our belief in those things to which we have hitherto clung? I know what the people of England think of this. I can name prominent men in England who are deeply disturbed over this question and they can make out a strong case in favor of this autocratic system. But for my part, I do not accept it. I do not believe in it. Since the war broke out there has been nothing to show that democracy is a failure, there is nothing to prove that we must alter the functions of society. I think we can face the future with a clear look both backward and forward. And there is justification for our democracy, for we knew when the war broke out that we would get the unity and support of the citizens of both the mother country and the colonies. Why? Because we had understood and applied the principles of free government without qualification. And I need not remind you that these principles we first learned from your forefathers of 1776.

We were a bit in doubt as to the position that would be taken by those in Ireland, Egypt and India, because we had failed in those countries to apply the principles of self-government which we do profess. I cannot think for a moment that any person can doubt but that this war has been a triumph for the principles of freedom in government.

Now as to what we were doing at home at the start of the war. We were unprepared for any such ordeal, I mean socially unprepared. Of course the navy was prepared up to the last straw, and the army was prepared up to a certain limit. But we were socially unprepared, for we had suffered from growing prosperity and luxury. We failed at the beginning, not because our democratic organization was unable to do the necessary organizing of the nation, but because we had never understood what democratic organization really was and we tried to do our work on a feudal foundation. Slowly those in charge of affairs began to wake up to the existence in England of a remarkable army of trained servants who were willing to be used for the service of the country.

It is extraordinary and difficult to realize what misrepresentation has been going about in regard to the way in which the young men of our country have responded to the call for service. I know of nothing which distresses and humiliates my people more deeply than this question. Let me put before you the figures. Mr. Balfour recently stated in the House of Commons that more than six million men had come forward and enrolled themselves under the Derby recruiting scheme. That is six million of fighting age, between 19 and 45 years, have come forward and have been accepted by the Government, out of a total of eight million men of military age. Out of that eight million men there are a considerable number of inefficient, probably not less than one million, and there are hundreds of thousands who belong to occupations from which they cannot be withdrawn because it would imperil the war industries. And altogether that would leave only a small number, not more than 200,000 men who have not come forward, out of the whole manhood of England. It seems to me this is the most humiliating statement that has ever been put out about a modern people. And it is not one class that has come forward. All the classes have responded.

As we study the situation one thing that comes to our minds looking over the nations of Europe, is the lack of real leaders. No where has there been

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

Over 700 Delegates Guests of the Newton
Y. M. C. A.

The local Y. M. C. A. officers and members have made their final arrangements for entertaining between 700 and 900 delegates to the 26th annual Older Boys' Conference of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island which will be held in this city today, tomorrow and Sunday. The delegates will be welcomed this afternoon as they arrive at the Newton Y. M. C. A. where they will register and receive their assignments for quarters. A short service will be held here at four o'clock including organ selections by Wm. G. Hambleton and an address by Rev. Ashley D. Leavitt of Portland, Me.

The remaining sessions of the Conference will be held in the Elliot Church.

The banquet Friday evening will be held from 5.30 to 7.00 o'clock and the greetings of the city of Newton will be extended by Mayor Edwin O. Childs, while Rev. Edward McArthur Noyes, D.D., will extend the greetings of the clergy of the city. Other greetings will be those of the Association, by President Charles D. Kepner and from the boys, by Donald S. Moore. In response will be heard Rufus H. Bond, Harvard, '18, president of the Pawtucket conference. The banquet will be followed by a meeting at Elliot Church at 7.15. This service will include an organ recital by William G. Hambleton; introduction of Conference officers; presentation of efficiency shield and an address by Rev. Warren F. Cook of New Britain, Conn., who will speak on "Loyalty."

At the Saturday morning conference in addition to the sectional conferences there will be an address on "Service," by James A. Whitmore of New York city. At the afternoon conference the address will be given by Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury of Boston, who will take for her subject: "Others." On Sunday morning delegates will attend church and Sunday School with their hosts.

The meeting of Saturday night should prove one of the most interesting as several well known college men will speak on vital personal and school problems. They are to be: Norman S. Taber, Henry W. Johnstone, Stanley B. Pennock, J. Seelye Bixler and Clarence P. Sheld. The central theme of the evening will be "Honesty," and each of the speakers will talk on honesty as applied to the field in which he is best known.

Norman Taber, who is holder of the world record for the mile run, and whose athletic career was divided between Brown University and Oxford, England, where he was a Rhodes scholar, will speak on honesty in athletics.

Another college star, Stanley B. Pennock, Harvard, 1915, a guard on Harvard's winning teams and an almost universal choice of the "All America" pickers, will talk on honesty in football.

Honesty in the class room will be discussed by Henry W. Johnstone, a senior at Yale, a pole vaulter and member of the Yale track team. Johnstone is also prominent in Y. M. C. A. work at Yale and in other collegiate activities.

An Amherst senior, J. Seelye Bixler, whose prominence in his class is due to activity in debating, musical and religious matters, will discuss honesty in friendships. As a member of several secret societies and fraternities at Amherst, Bixler has a large fund of experience to draw on in illustrating his points.

Walter J. Beelle, a junior at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a member of the M. L. T. Banjo Club and of several engineering and wireless societies, will speak on honesty in leadership.

This big meeting for high school and preparatory school students will be presided over by Clarence P. Sheld, a graduate of Clark College, Worcester, who is state student secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The second big meeting of the conference for boys will be Sunday afternoon in the same church. The principal speaker at this meeting will be James A. Whitmore of New York city, who is a graduate of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., where he was active in athletics before and after graduation, serving for a time as coach.

For the final meeting Sunday evening a preparatory school principal known throughout the country, Principal Alfred E. Sterns of Phillips Academy, Andover, will give an address on "Dependableness."

"THE MOVIES"

Three Interesting Articles on the Subject of Moving Pictures

To the Editor of the Graphic:—

If the City Fathers of Newton Centre expect to stop children attending moving picture theatres by refusing to have one at home they are much deceived. There is not a child in Newton who has not been to the movies at some time, or who would not like to go again.

If suitable amusement is not provided these children and grown people also are forced to take more time and spend more money, but they will never stop going.

It is perfectly possible to have a clean picture theatre in any town which is willing to give time and thought enough to have it.

At Bethlehem, N. H., last summer, we found a beautiful white Colonial theatre, well ventilated, lighted with the violet rays, and with beautiful programs; everything orderly, and quiet. A matinee every afternoon and two performances each evening—one at eight, another at nine, and everybody went to them, quite as a matter of course. The price was always ten cents, and the pictures were lovely.

What has been done in a small place like Bethlehem—which only has six open months in the year—could certainly be done in Newton.

By setting a high standard to begin with, keeping prices low, and following a systematic course of supervision the picture theatre may give pleasure to a great many, both young and old; it will keep all this money in circulation at home, and will add to the attractiveness of the village as a place of residence.

OBSERVATORE.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:—
Dear Sir:—Do the people of the village of Newton know what kind of moving picture shows are given at the Newton Opera House, so called, and do they approve of them?

For the purpose of informing myself, in view of a public meeting to be held at Newton Centre to consider the matter of licensing a show there, I attended the Newton Opera House Saturday afternoon, February 5. Some one had said that anything objectionable could not last in Newton over night and I hoped that I might see a high-grade performance, something like what I had seen at Brookline, where the only moving picture show is conducted (not for profit) by a local association called The Friendly Society, although, from what I knew of the average cheap picture show, I feared it would be otherwise. What I saw realized my worst fears. It was not merely that the plays were crude, cheap, trashy and sensational. They were all that, bloodshed, murder, etc., death-bed scenes seemed to be a specialty, there were several of them. But more than that, they contained scenes which were objectionable in another way, where the plot (if it may be dignified by that name) deals with the sexual vices, seduction and prostitution, portrayed partly in pantomime and partly in texts thrown on the screen—"I have chosen ease although with dishonor," says the female character at one point. I can hardly trust my judgment so far as to say how vile the pantomime in some of the scenes was; I might overstate the case.

I reported briefly to the Mayor what I saw and one of the proprietors of the Opera House afterwards called me on the 'phone, saying that the Mayor had shown them my letter, that (in substance) he did not find fault with me for writing to the Mayor, but urging me to attend the show that is running there now, assuring me (in substance) that I would find it a high-grade show and that it would give me an entirely different idea of their play house from the one I had formed from seeing the play which I attended. The film which was on the day I attended happened to "get by," he said. Not being interested in what is going on in that play house since I filed my complaint, but in what occurred before, I declined the invitation.

There are serious objections (well stated by Mr. Paul, Master of the Mason School, at the Newton Centre meeting) to moving picture shows, if easily accessible at all times to the pupils of the schools, quite apart from the question of decency or indecency. But it does not need very extensive information about the business to teach any one that the average cheap moving picture show usually contains an element of indecency, graduated to the taste or toleration of the community, the objectionable films "get by," you know; in short, the country is being deluged with filth through the medium of these shows, which is polluting or will pollute the minds of the children.

EDITORIAL

The action of the school committee on the general subject of physical training, and military drill as published last week, is nothing but a straddle of the whole question. The scheme proposed meets the wishes of neither side, those who favor military drill and those who oppose it. It is neither one thing nor the other. Boston has a well organized system of military drill which is giving 2500 boys splendid training in discipline and responsibility and it would seem as if this city should give its boys something of the same sort.

The residents of the Garden City of New England extend a hearty and most hospitable welcome to the young men who are holding their annual conference here. We all appreciate the splendid work that is being done by the Young Men's Christian Association and trust that renewed efforts for good may result from your presence in our city.

We publish this week several articles on the subject of moving pictures to which we invite the attention of all our readers, for we believe it is of general interest to the entire community.

TO BE GRAND SPECTACLE

Posters are up throughout Newton calling unusual attention to the coming grand military ball to be held at the State Armory at West Newton, on Friday evening, March 3.

A large number of ladies prominent in Newton affairs have accepted invitations to act as patronesses. Numerous dinner parties have already been arranged for the visiting military and naval men who will attend. Most elaborate decorations for the armory have been planned and 900 invitations have been sent out to all commissioned officers of the State military forces and to regular army and navy officers located in Massachusetts.

People throughout the city are rapidly taking up with the idea of the military ball because of the fact that it will encourage the company. The Clavin Guards Association is actively at work to make the affair the success that it deserves. The reception to the Governor and Lieut. Governor bids fair to be a most brilliant spectacle. The reception itself is in charge of Gen. James C. White, who will be assisted by a large corps of ushers.

Many Newton men have for a long time felt that Company C of the Fifth Regiment with headquarters in Newton, should receive more attention from Newton people. If war comes or trouble is threatened, the first men to march away from Newton will be those of Company C. The preparedness agitation has caused many men to think that the most practical way for Newton men and women to aid is by encouraging and assisting our own company, which for so many years has been the Clavin Guards was so popular.

Tickets admitting gentlemen and ladies are three dollars ($3) each and may be obtained of the following: Alfred H. Wing, W. F. Garcelon, Louis D. Gibbs, offices of the Newton Times and Newton Graphic, Newton; E. M. Richardson, Newtonville; Thomas Weston, Jr., and State Armory, West Newton; Howard Emerson, Newton Centre; Major Joseph W. Bartlett, Waban; Lieut. P. T. Lowell, Newton Highlands.

EXTRA INDUCEMENTS

Ten Dollar Gold Piece as Special Prize—Important Bonus Vote Offer for Hustling Candidates

In order to stimulate interest in the work of the candidates and to put additional effort in the contest the NEWTON GRAPHIC will offer a special prize for the week ending on Thursday night, Feb. 24th. This prize will be a $10.00 Gold Piece and will be given to the candidate, from any of the districts, reporting the most subscription business. The vote as it appears in the standing as given will have no bearing whatever on this award. It will pay each and every candidate to do their level best for this period as the extra votes procured thru extra effort will come in most handy at the right time. Ten dollars in Gold for a little extra work in one week. Worth it, isn't it?

Special Ballots for Extra Effort
As a special reward for extra effort during a specified time a "Special Ballot" of 35,000 votes, extra (besides those regularly issued) will be given upon each and every $15.00 in subscriptions turned in during the time beginning Friday, February 18 and Thursday evening, March 2nd. A candidate may obtain as many of these "Special Ballots" as his, or her, energy may call for as this offer is a boon to the wide-awake candidates. The Special Ballots will be issued at the close of the offer and positive assurance is given that this is the best vote offer that will be made. A "Special Ballot" may be all that is needed to carry you through a winner. Take advantage of this, the best vote offer that will be made and make your position more secure.

It should be remembered that both old and new subscriptions count in this "Special Ballot" opportunity and there is no limit to the number one candidate may receive as a result of sterling effort. Subscriptions that are paid in the office in favor of a candidate will not count toward the "Special Ballots."

FOSTER-ELLIS

Miss Ethel Ellis, daughter of Mrs. Dean S. Ellis of 574 Main street, Worcester, and Clifford A. Foster of Newton, were married Tuesday night in the home of the bride by Rev. Leopold A. Nies, D. D., pastor of Trinity Methodist Church. Miss Ruth Ellis was bridesmaid and Richard Colton of Newtonville was best man. The brides were Paul Foster and Donald Maynard of Worcester, Cuthbert Carey of Newtonville and Rollin Burditt of Rutland, Vt. After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will live at 22 Bowen street, Newton Centre.

HIGH PRAISE

Principal M. W. Murray of the Newton Vocational School is very much pleased to receive the following letter from the officers of the recent Panama-Pacific Exposition held at San Francisco.

Dec. 20, 1915.
Mr. M. W. Murray, Director,
Newton Vocational School,
Newtonville, Massachusetts.
Dear Mr. Murray:

It gives me pleasure to inform you that the Massachusetts Educational Exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco has been considered a most successful one by both educators and jurists. The Commonwealth has been awarded the highest honors for the exhibit. —The Grand Prize and four Medals of Honor.

As a participant in the group of State-aided Industrial Vocational Schools, the Newton Vocational School receives a Medal of Honor Diploma. This will be forwarded later by the Exposition authorities. The exhibit will be returned to the State where its final disposition will be determined.

I thank you most cordially for the courtesies and assistance rendered by you and your school in the preparation of the exhibit.

With personal regards, I remain,
Very sincerely yours,
Signed: C. T. C. Whitcomb,
Director, Mass. Educational Exhibit, P. P. E.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

At the evening bridge held last week Thursday evening under the direction of Mrs. Joseph B. Simpson, souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. H. P. Curtiss, Mr. J. B. Simpson, Mr. C. E. Greenwood and Mrs. T. F. Greenwood and Mrs. T. F. Murray.

The usual Old Folks' party will be held next Tuesday evening on Washington's Birthday. Special bowling prizes will be awarded for the best scores made during the day.

There will be a ladies' matinee bridge next Thursday at 2.15 under the direction of Mrs. Howard Norton. The Children's Party Thursday afternoon at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, was a very enjoyable affair. It took the form of a Valentine Dance and about 75 children assembled in Stanley Hall, where dancing was enjoyed from 3.30 until 5.30 o'clock.

One of the pleasing features was a German with Valentine favors for the young people. A program of popular music was rendered by Mr. Harold Edmund Wart of Boston.

The party was under the direction of Miss Mary Glover of the Hollis.

An enjoyable concert was given last evening in the Assembly hall.

MAYOR WILL REFUSE PERMIT

In answer to communication sent to Mayor Childs by a committee representing the recent public meeting in Newton Centre on the subject of moving pictures in the village, the following letter has been received.

Mayor's Office,
Feb. 12, 1916.
Mr. Frank H. Stewart,
Newton Centre,
Mass.

My dear Mr. Stewart:—
Sometime ago I made up my mind that unless there was a strong sentiment in Newton Centre in favor of a moving picture house, I should not grant a permit for a picture show in that section of the City. The meeting of the citizens held at the Mason School this week convinces me that the sentiment of the people of Newton Centre is against having a local picture show. I shall, therefore, grant no permit for such performance at the present time.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) EDWIN O. CHILDS, Mayor.

BRAE BURN CLUB

Mrs. Albert M. Lyon and Mrs. Alex D. Salinger of Newtonville entertained about 75 guests at a Buffet Supper and dance on Monday evening at Brae Burn. Music was furnished by Handley's Orchestra.

Mrs. Nathan of Newton Centre gave an auction bridge of 25 tables on Wednesday afternoon at the Club.

Mrs. George W. Brown of Newton Centre entertained twenty-eight guests at a luncheon bridge on Thursday at Brae Burn.

A Skating Carnival was held Friday evening at Brae Burn. The Pond was attractively illuminated and music was furnished by the Cambridge City Band. Dancing followed from 9.30 until 12 o'clock in the Club House and Table d'Hote supper was served from 10 to 11.

Mr. R. N. Hall of Newton Centre, gave a Buffet Supper and dance on Wednesday evening at the Club.

MR. EATON DEAD

Mr. Joseph L. Eaton, who was identified with the cocoa and chocolate trade in Boston, died Friday at the Riverbank Hospital, Cambridge, following illness of several months, which had become more serious of late, making necessary his removal to the hospital. Mr. Eaton, who was sixty-five years of age has lived at 12 Salisbury road, in Newton, for the past few years. He was born in Malden, and was the son of an old-time resident of that place, James Eaton, and his mother was Rebecca Waite Lynde, who came of an equally well-known Melrose family, which originally had a farm dating back fully two hundred years, and since changed into factory sites, and dwellings. Mr. Eaton, as a young man, was connected for many years with the old firm of W. S. Butler & Co., as a partner. He was a Knight Templar. Mr. Eaton is survived by a widow, a son and two daughters, all of Newton.

NEWTON CLUB

New squash-racquet courts were opened at the Newton Club on Saturday evening in the presence of about 125 members and invited guests. The new building adjoins the clubhouse at Newtonville, and has been erected with funds contributed by the subscription of members.

The architect is Hubert G. Ripley, a member of the club, and an extensive and active athletic committee, under the chairmanship of Carl F. Schipper, has provided one of the best squash racquet and handball courts in New England for the use of the members.

The first game played in the squash-racquet court was by Billy Ganley, the champion player of the country, now of the Union Boat Club of Boston, and Arthur Bryant, one of the crack amateur players of New England and runner-up in last year's championship tournament. Ganley won two out of three games, his fast play being watched very closely by a large audience in the gallery.

In the handball court, Messrs. W. T. Halliday and Joseph Bryant played against Messrs. Wright and Roy Collins, the latter winning the best four in seven games.

After the courts were opened, the members gathered in the assembly room, where there was an exhibition of wrestling by Joe Biss, assisted by Martin Adams, and there were several good bouts by members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. Six applications for membership was the result of the evening's entertainment, and there is every prospect of there being a waiting list in a very short time.

On Wednesday evening one of the largest crowds of the last five years gathered in the assembly room, on the occasion of the annual masquerade. There were about 225 members and their ladies and guests present, about 150 of them being in costume and masked. The grand march began at 8.30 and was a varied glory of color and design. The costumes this year seemed to be unusually complete and attractive, for their harmony of tone and attractiveness of form. Handley's orchestra kept the lively feet prancing and dancing until one o'clock in the morning, and instead of there being the usual intermission, refreshments were served during the period of two hours, enabling one-half of the dancers to continue in the assembly room while the refreshments were being served.

Among those in costume were: Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley, Turkish lady; Mr. Ripley, Frenchman; Mrs. C. N. Woodward, Turkish lady; Mr. Woodward, Yama Yama; Mrs. Charles W. Ryder, Turkish maid; Mr. Ryder, "Golden-glow"; Mrs. Bartlett F. Kenney, Colonial dame; Mr. Kenney, Mephistopheles; E. W. Hanna, buccanier; Alva Ohlund, Turkish dancer; Sere Ohlund, "Closeness"; Allen Hovey, U. S. Infantryman; Robert H. Burrage, same; Mrs. F. G. Schipper, Turkish lady; Mr. Schipper, a puritan; Pauline M. Brant, balloon girl; Mrs. Norman Marshall, Pocahontas; Mr. Marshall, Ku Klux Klanman; Mrs. C. L. Hatch, "Night"; Mr. Hatch, colonial dame; Mrs. Henry J. Nichols, gipsy; Mrs. W. N. Shelton, colonial lady; Mr. Shelton, monk; Hubert G. Ripley, Jr., clown; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Crawe, snow man and lady; Fred E. Mann, monk; Herbert Taylor, Englishman; Miss Marguerite Jones, clown; Miss Lillian Northrup, Turkish lady; Miss Mary Esther Bamberg, as a Helen Dryden cover girl; Miss Marguerite Bamberg, French maid; Mrs. Edward S. Barker, Spanish dancer; Mrs. C. A. Boutell, clown; Dr. Boutell, Yiddish gentleman; Phillip S. Houghton, U. S. Infantryman; Mrs. W. H. Marsh, Turkish lady; Mr. Marsh, clown; Miss Mary G. Wescott, newsboy; Josiah P. Wescott, Jr., strawman; Mrs. R. C. Thompson, Spanish girl; Mr. Thompson, Buster Brown; W. A. Hayes, Spanish grandee; Shepherd Crain, hussar; Judge Copeland, naval captain; Mrs. William Cushing Bamberg, quaker lady; Mr. Bamberg, oldtime country photographer; Mrs. H. A. Young, Egyptian princess; Mrs. H. Jordan Dooley, Russian military girl; Sheldon Root, cavalier; Albert Williams, U. S. Infantryman; Miss Anna Louise Kittelle, Dutch milk maid; Mrs. Benjamin Owen, "Mrs. Malaprop"; Ralph Brown, Arab tribesman; Clark Hayden, clown; Miss Marjorie Owen, Pierrotte; Miss Irene Tolman, French folly; Miss Myrtle Cannon, "Juliet"; Lieut. P. E. Speicher, U. S. N.; "Omar Khayyam"; Miss Rachel Owen, Turkish princess; Sheldon Root, cavalier; Harold W. Wheeler, Pierrotte; Mrs. Warner Marshall, clown; Mr. Marshall, clown; Mrs. W. H. Graham, clown; Mr. Graham, the devil; Master Alfred Stafford, a young swell; Miss Toole, a clown; and many other members and guests who were masked as well as nearly a hundred who were spectators only.

Messrs. Henry J. Nichols, H. Belden Sly, and William D. Fulton were the patrons of the dance and also the judges of the costumes. They awarded souvenirs of the event to Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley, for the beauty and perfection of her costume as a Turkish lady; and to Mr. W. H. Graham for his costume and impersonation as the devil.

This masquerade was without question the most notable in five years and warranted the attendance of the great crowd which was attracted to it. On Saturday night, February 19, there will be a smoke talk for the benefit of the male members, who will gather on this occasion, and a master of mysticism, Camil Saldanha, will talk on "Occultism and Frauds Practiced in its Name." It is expected that it will be an absorbing and varied entertainment, with a series of pseudo-psychic demonstrations in spiritism, clairvoyance, telepathy and hypnosis. Mr. Saldanha will explain how human ingenuity has devised endless fraudulent imitations of the genuine. He was born in India and is familiar with the jealously guarded secrets of the Hindoo fakirs. These Saturday nights are becoming immensely popular at the present time, particularly drawing great crowds to the bowling alleys. There have been nearly 13,000 strings rolled so far this season, and the athletic committee expects a total of 21,000 strings before the end of the season. The squash-racquet courts are in great demand already, and appointments are being made for occupancy of them, from time to time.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS
53d ANNUAL STATEMENT
December 31st, 1915

The Directors report that the year 1915 was one of satisfactory progress. The Company made substantial gains in all essentials, with a good mortality rate, and continuing reductions in operating costs. The new insurance written was of good volume and the investments were carefully made. The Directors feel warranted in expressing the opinion that the interests of the many Policyholders committed to them are upon a sound and safe basis.

GOV. JOHN A. ANDREW HOME

The Gov. John A. Andrew Home Association held a special meeting in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, Monday evening. There was a large attendance of the members and much interest in the new Home was manifested.
As stated in a recent issue of the GRAPHIC, the object of the Home is to allow needy veterans and their wives to pass their declining years together. A contribution of fifty dollars from a Grand Army Post in Malden and fifty dollars from the Woman's Relief Corps of the same city was announced. On Thursday, the Newton Ladies Home Circle paid a visit to the Home carrying with them donations of groceries, etc. Such an institution should receive the support of our citizens. Contributions of money should be sent to the Treasurer, Mr.
Eben W. Pike, 48 Norfolk street, Cambridge.

Groceries and wearing apparel suitable for elderly people can be sent to the Home, 92 Washington park, Newtonville.

DEATH OF COL. HESSELTINE

Col. Francis S. Hesselstine, a veteran of the Civil War, died last night at his home, 403 Walnut street, Newtonville.
He formerly lived at 45 West Emerson street, Melrose, moving to Newtonville about two months ago.
Col. Hesselstine was a student in Colby College when the war broke out, and he enlisted in the 3d Maine Regiment of Infantry. He became captain of this, and later rose to the command of the 13th Maine Regiment.
He received a Congressional medal of honor for his bravery in December, 1863, during the far Southern campaign, when he was directed to detail a captain and 60 men for a trip along the Matagorda Peninsula, a very dangerous place. He himself commanded the expedition, taking 100 men, and was so skillful in safeguarding his men that not a single life was lost.
Col. Hesselstine was a member of the class of '63 at Colby, and received his degree at the front. The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by his alma mater in 1913.

ARBOR DAY ACTIVITY IN THE SCHOOLS

A meeting at City Hall, Tuesday, February 15th, of representatives of organizations interested in the future welfare of the shade-trees of Newton was addressed by Mr. Ulysses G.
Wheeler, Supt. of Schools, and Mr.
William W. Colton, City Forest Commissioner. Mr. Wheeler believes the school children of Newton should learn to know the trees out-of-doors as part of their nature-studies.
As a result of this meeting Mr. Alfred McDonald of the Harvard Forestry School has been engaged until Arbor Day, April 29th, by the Newton Branch of the Mass. Forestry Association to organize Tree Protectors' Leagues in the different grammar schools and to co-operate with the teacher delegated by the principal in each school to have charge of this far-sighted school activity.

Every sizable place is being called on to say whether it will admit them. They are not admitted everywhere where they apply. Brookline has decided against them. It does not trust any concern to conduct a moving picture show as a matter of business; and thus it protects its children. Newton, on the other hand, seems to be within the polluted area. To be sure we voted against a license in Newton Centre and that will probably protect us against their coming there, but Newton Centre boys, cruising about on their wheels, find the shows at Newton and innocently enter them. Indeed attendance from Newton Centre is likely to increase, as some of the ladies there have been negotiating with the proprietors of the Opera House (as was stated at the Newton Centre meeting) for one show a week which is to be censored, or in some way made certain of being all right, an arrangement which, I should suppose, would be quite agreeable to the proprietors. Most people are willing to be good, some time—for a consideration.

Is there not some escape for us all from this situation? The Mayor has the power to revoke licenses of this kind. Perhaps the Mayor would be glad to have an expression of public sentiment from Newton Corner. My excuse for calling attention to this, although I am not a resident of Newton Corner, is contained in what is said above. We have a common interest.

CHARLES R. DARLING,
 51 Everett Street,
 Newton Centre.

PARENTS—ATTENTION!

Just suppose our local moving picture house would show pictures such as Stevenson's Treasure Island, Defoe's Robinson Crusoe, Alice in Wonderland, Capt. Scott's Dash to the South Pole, The Making of Asphalt, from Trinidad to our Streets, Uses of Bamboo, and the like, wouldn't you be glad and even anxious for your children to see them, thus forming a right conception of what is best in the literary and industrial world.

Now within a week a movement has been under way, whereby our Newton children may profit by such pictures. Thru the very hearty co-operation of the managers of the Opera House with the Library, schools and several educational clubs, Thursday matinees have been given over to the committee entirely, and they will select and obtain only films suitable to the youthful mind. The managers have engaged, at the suggestion of some of the library staff and school teachers, the Community Film Co. to supply the films. This company is especially suited for this work and is carrying on such programs for Brookline, Springfield, Worcester and elsewhere. They do not supply direct to the theaters, but only thru educational clubs or organizations and as it selects its films from all exchanges, has a wide field on which to draw those films that are the best in their particular line.

The program will be known at least one week before and announced in some of the schools, library and elsewhere.

Only children's vaudeville such as animal acts, sleight of hand, and songs by the house singer, who is well known for the high grade of songs she selects, will be put on that afternoon. When possible, we will have copies of the feature picture on call at the children's room in the library beforehand, thus working the two lines of education into one, useful and good literature and good visual literature.

Comedy and current events will have their place upon the program also. All together it should appeal to the thoughtful people of Newton who want the best there is and are willing to show it by their support. We, the pioneers of this movement here ask urgently for your support and will endeavor to do our very best to earn your approval. The time is ripe for a splendid forward movement along these lines now, if our children and young people will attend motion pictures once and twice a week, as was found to be the case, after a canvass of one of our larger schools, also if we find their desire for the saner, better literature is degenerating and it worth while to get together and make at least a beginning toward the goal in view? One afternoon a week may develop into more, provided we come forward and do our share as parents, teachers and workers with and for the welfare of our young people.

Here is our chance, let us not be found wanting.

Our Program for Feb. 24th at 2 and 4 o'clock, will include among others, Treasure Island, following Stevenson's story.

Goldilocks and the Three Bears, modern version of the old story.

A Day with Circus.

Fighting Fire by Aeroplane, showing actual way in which hydro-aeroplanes are used to conserve our national forests.

To be given by co-operation with the Newton Opera House and the Library, Schools, the Stearns School Center Association and the Social Science Club.

Signed ELIZABETH HORSFALL,
 Children's Librarian.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

Organized in February, 1915, for the purpose of promoting co-operation among the philanthropic workers in the city.

Its offices are in the rooms formerly occupied by the Newton Associated Charities, Claffin Block, Newtonville, and are open from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., the secretary, Miss Margaret C. Rich, being personally present between 10:30 A. M. and 12 M.

Any one interested in work of this character or who know of cases of need are invited to notify the secretary.

BRAE BURN CLUB

The new Tea Room at Brae Burn was opened Tuesday evening with a dinner dance, at which 250 guests representing society from the Newtons, Brookline and Boston were present. This attractive addition adjoins the library on the south and west sides of the Club House, and connects with the sun-parlors and all of the rooms on the lower floor, making a commodious glassed-in apartment, perfect in elegance, and manifesting refined taste in its size, arrangements and equipment. It is rather suggestive of Winter Garden style, and on Tuesday evening the floral decorations of pink and white carnations and palms, were very artistic, and effective.

Dinner was served at tables arranged along the sides of the room, and each table was lighted with pink candles and had a centre piece of pink carnations. As many as sixteen guests were served at some of the tables, and great care is taken at all times to have the service first class in every respect, the general superiority of the Club in all its appointments being maintained by the management.

During the dinner and for the dancing which followed, a very select program was rendered by Russell's full orchestra of 15 accomplished musicians, each of whom is a finished artist in his line.

Brae Burn has more than its share of good dancers and Tuesday evening was an occasion which they all improved. The gowns worn were all unusually handsome and added to the brilliant effect. All present enjoyed the evening immensely, and voted it one of the most successful of the season.

Among those who had tables were, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Day, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Young, Mr. and Mrs. G. Edwin Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Crooker, Dr. and Mrs. David W. Wells, Mrs. William B. H. Dowse and the Misses Dowse, Mr. and Mrs. William R. King, West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Ripley L. Dana, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Donham, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Badger, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Stratton of Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hopewell, Mr. and Mrs. E. Irving Locke, of Newton; Mr. Levi Cooley, Dr. and Mrs. George H. Talbot, Mrs. Walter Lovell, of Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Priest, of Auburndale; Mr. Horace Sanford Ridley, Mr. Homer Albers, Mr. H. R. Clapp, of Brookline; Mr. F. M. Briggs, Mr. Jacob Mosser, Mr. Wayne E. Stiles, Mr. E. P. Holmes, Mr. Geo. W. Keates, of Boston; Mr. George K. Heald, of Waban; Mr. W. H. Rice of Waltham; and Mr. Frank J. Hale of Newton Highlands.

ALLIES RELIEF MEETING

There was a large number of interested workers at the last meeting of the Newton South Allies Relief Association which meets every Friday morning in the Parish House of Trinity Church, Newton Centre. Mrs. Kaltenbach, who has lately returned from abroad, read some very interesting letters from some of the men in the trenches. These men were those for whom she and her husband had done a great deal to alleviate their sufferings.

On Friday, February 25 the regular monthly shipment will be forwarded; this month almost all of the articles made will go to Miss Julia Colby, a resident of Newton Centre, who since the beginning of the war has been in charge of a hospital near Paris. Contributions of money, knitted goods, flannel shirts or in fact anything of warmth which can be used in hospitals or trenches will be gladly received and may be sent to Mrs. G. A. Pierce, 1081 Centre street, Newton Centre, or to the Parish House on the morning of Friday, February 25.

VALENTINE PARTY

Among the social events of special note in Newton was the Valentine dancing party given Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Freedom Hutchinson at their residence on Centre street.

All of the rooms on the entire lower floor and two on the second floor were thrown open for the dancing which was enjoyed by a large company of guests. The floral decorations of pink roses and greenery were very attractive. The favors included Valentine emblems, pink balloons, Cupids, and hearts.

Supper was served at small tables lighted with pink candles, and the Valentine decorations were carried out most effectively in the ices, cakes and candies.

The musical program by Hugh Payne's Orchestra, was of exceptional excellence, and the popular numbers were repeatedly encored.

Guests of social prominence in Newton, numbering about eighty, were present.

IDEAL FOR SUMMER HOUSE

Most Attractive Table Is One Covered With Chintz and Fitted With a Plate Glass Top.

For the well-appointed summer house, a table covered with chintz and fitted with a plate glass top is exceedingly attractive. This is very expensive if ordered from a professional decorator; but if you buy the chintz yourself, fit it to your table and have the glass cut to measure, the cost will be much less and the effect quite as pleasing.

Another device for an inexpensively furnished country house is the transformed kitchen table. A cheap kitchen table can be treated in a variety of ways to make an attractive bedside or writing table for the guest chamber. One that I have seen, for a green and white bedroom, had the legs sawed off to a convenient length and was painted an apple green. Over the top was stretched—and tacked on the under side—a cover of green denim; on the top of this was set a large green writing blotter, a rack for note paper and a green pottery ink well. The result was a pretty and original writing table at a cost of two dollars and a half.

A kitchen table painted white and decorated to match the chintz or wall paper is attractive; but this demands some skill with the brush.

PANCAKES ON SUMMER DAYS.

Made in the Right Way They Are Just as Welcome as Those Popular in the Winter.

Very tempting griddle cakes may be prepared without a soapstone griddle—or in fact any griddle—if you have an ordinary frying pan and a good hot flame from an oil or gas burner. Summer pancakes should be thin, delicately browned and rather small, for the appetite is not as hearty as on a crisp winter morning. For two people, mix a cupful of flour, a pinch of salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a level teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat up one egg in about a half cupful of sweet milk and add this to the batter. If it is not thin enough to pour easily add a little water or more milk. Have the griddle—or frying pan very hot and well greased—and pour a little of the batter from the tip of a spoon to make each pancake. Turn with a knife as soon as the batter bubbles in the pan. If the cakes brown without cooking through the griddle is too hot; if they refuse to brown, it is not hot enough.

Rich Orange Cake.

Yolks of five eggs, two cupfuls granulated sugar, two cupfuls bread flour, one-half cupful cold water, one-half teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful cream tartar, whites of three eggs, grated peel and juice of one orange.

Beat yolks until thick, sift sugar three times and add. Beat the whites of eggs stiff and add to first mixture, next the water and soda, then flour and cream of tartar sifted twice. Lastly, add the orange juice and grated rind. Bake in a dripping pan, and when done cut in halves and frost with orange frosting.

Frosting—Whites of three eggs, one orange juice and grated peel and powdered sugar to make stiff enough to spread. This cake is not good until the day after making. Be sure to use bread flour. Frosting may be made without whites of eggs.

To Save Work and Fuel.

I always cook enough vegetables to last two days, preparing them in some different way the second day. It makes things easier when you have to do your own cooking, and it is easier for the servants if they do it.

In winter I cook potatoes for three days. It takes no longer than boiling a smaller quantity, and when you have a potato cooked in its jacket you have the foundation of most of the potato dishes. I do as much of my cooking as possible in the morning, and I prepare the Sunday meals on Saturday so that I will have nothing to do on Sunday but to reheat them.—Woman's World.

Kentucky Spoon Bread.

Two cupfuls cornmeal, two teaspoonfuls salt, two eggs, one and one-half cupfuls buttermilk, one teaspoonful soda, one and one-half tablespoonfuls butter.

Sauté the cornmeal with enough hot water to make it the consistency of mush. Add salt and butter, and set it aside to cool; then beat in the eggs whipped light; dissolve the soda in the buttermilk, beat into the mixture, and bake in a rather deep buttered pan in a quick oven for thirty-five or forty minutes.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Inexpensive Summer Beverage.

A very nice cheap drink which may take the place of lemonade and be found fully as healthful is made with one cupful of pure cider vinegar, half a cupful of good molasses put into one quart pitcher of ice water. A tablespoonful of ground ginger added makes a healthful beverage.

Salad Dressing Hint.

Many housewives fail on boiled salad dressing because they add the eggs to hot vinegar. If beaten eggs are thoroughly stirred into cold vinegar and the mixture is then boiled, the dressing will not take on a curdled appearance.

Baked Peaches.

Peel ripe peaches, put them in a pan, sprinkle generously with sugar add a few drops of lemon juice, nearly cover with water and bake in a slow oven about two hours.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Committee hearings are coming thick and fast and leave to withdraw reports are becoming monotonous. As a rule a committee takes the wisest course in disapproving new legislation and usually it takes considerable work to produce a favorable report. For that reason there is cause for congratulation in the rumor that the Election Laws committee will probably report a bill to allow Newton to adopt a scheme of preferential voting at its city elections. There seems to be a general desire to try this experiment and as residents of this city are utterly disgusted with the present law on the subject, it is something like "Hobson's choice." At any rate the new plan will save the city over $1000 in election expenses and that is worth while.

The first real fight of the House came at the Monday session on the substitution of a bill to make 48 hours a week's work for persons employed on public work. Mr. Jarvis voted with the majority to substitute this bill for an adverse committee report and Messrs. Allen and Weston voted against substitution. The vote was 138 to 83. In this connection it might be well to state that this bill if enacted will add quite a large sum to the expense of the Water department where it is necessary to employ labor for seven days in the week. The present law limits work to 8 hours a day and our Water Commissioner has been able to operate the pumping station with one set of employees. The new bill if enacted will require him to employ more men to do the same amount of work. The bill was supported by the entire Democratic strength of the House.

The adverse report of the Metropolitan Affairs committee on a bill for a public convenience station for Lynn Shore and Kings Beach reservation was overturned on Monday by a vote of 110 to 101, all three Newton representatives voting to sustain the committee. The vote is interesting as an attempt immediately afterwards was made by Representative Young of Weston to overturn a similar adverse report on the matter of a public convenience station on the Weston shore of Charles River. Mr. Young's amendment was defeated by a vote of 48 to 59.

The appointment of a sub-committee of the Special Redistricting committee on the matter of councillor and senatorial lines is of some interest to this city for Representative Wilson of Brighton is one of its members. Mr. Wilson is making a strong effort to have Newton and Ward 25 (Allston-Brighton) Boston, as a nucleus of a new senatorial district, the natural line of Ward 25 being with Brookline, rather than with Newton. Mr. Wilson is a prospective candidate for the senate, however, and seems some political trouble if his district is tied up with Brookline, where Representative Sherburne is also a potential senatorial candidate. The efforts of every resident of this city interested in political affairs should be exercised to prevent any alliance with any part of Boston. Our natural interests, as has been stated before, is with Waltham, Watertown and Weston, and we should work for that combination, if possible if not, let us retain our present district.

J. C. Brimblecom.

WEEKS FOR PRESIDENT

"As a part of the mental equipment which especially marks Mr. Weeks as a man of Presidential size is knowledge and practical experience in all that pertains to the needs of the Navy, a subject that looms large as the foremost factor in the current discussion of the question of preparedness and the means of national defense. Mr. Weeks has been one of the foremost advocates of a large Navy, not for purposes of menacing our neighbors, but for the protection of our commerce. His has always been one of the most potent voices in favor of the development of our merchant marine, though strenuously opposing the Administration bill providing for government ownership of merchant vessels, and he was the leader of the successful opposition which defeated that bill." From the "New York Journal of Commerce."

"Senator Weeks has never yet chased a vagary," observed Victor Murdock, of Kansas. He might have added that vagaries seldom chased Senator Weeks—that is, not successfully. But this does not mean that Senator Weeks is drab or austere. On the contrary, he has a perpetual twinkle in his eye, and when he tells you that nothing really funny ever happened to him in his life, well—you don't exactly believe him." From Current Opinion for January:

VILLAGE NIGHT

Brilliant and Successful Affair at Newton Highlands

The second annual village night of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association held on Tuesday in Lincoln Hall was a brilliant and enjoyable affair.

The hall was gaily decorated with pink and green bunting, gracefully draped on the walls, and with hundreds of colored Japanese lanterns and umbrellas suspended from the ceiling, while the stage was adorned with the national colors.

The hall was filled with numerous small tables at which refreshments and candy were served during the early part of the evening, and which were later removed for the dancing.

The entertainment consisted of an enjoyable musical program, including popular melodies by Karich's Orchestra, singing by the Highland Glee Club, Mr. A. J. Fairbanks, director; solos by Mrs. Marie Kaula Stone, reading by Mr. Albert R. Lovejoy, and the singing of popular songs by the audience.

During this program, highly colored paper caps and bonnets were distributed to those present, adding greatly to the attractiveness of the scene.

After the musical program, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

The affair was under the direction of the following efficient committees.

General Committee: A. H. Elder, Chairman; A. L. Ball, Treasurer; Mrs. A. L. Ball, Refreshments; Emery W. Clark, Program and Publicity; Mrs. A. H. Elder, Candy Table; F. S. Fairchild, Hall and Music; C. W. Mercer, Tickets; Edgar J. Smith, Entertainment; John R. Sweeney, Reception.

Mr. Uzziel Putnam, one of the oldest members of the Boston Fire Department, passed away at his home, 103 Webster park, this city, on Friday last, at the age of 78 years, 5 months and 12 days. Mr. Putnam was for 50 years an active member of the Boston Fire Department, the last of the Fire Department, the last 35 of which he was connected with the Fire Alarm service. He was born in the "North End" of Boston of good old Puritan stock, and at the age of 14 became a "runner boy" for old Engine 4—one of the "hand tubs" with which the department was then equipped. At 24 he became an active member of the department and continued in active service until the installation of the electric fire alarm service about 1876, when, being of a very mechanical trend, he was transferred to this work, with headquarters first in the tower of the City Hall on School street and later in the new building on Bristol street. He continued in this division until his retirement, with the rank of Captain, about 5 years ago. Mr. Putnam was for many years a resident of Charlestown, moving to this city about 15 years ago. He was one of the oldest members of the Boston Veteran Firemen's Association. A man of few words, but of sterling worth and unswerving fidelity to his chosen profession, he was a loving and affectionate husband and father, and a loyal friend. He is survived by a widow, Adelaide M., and three sons, Dr. F. W. Putnam of this city, Mr. J. Warren Putnam of East Orange, N. J., and Mr. Harry A. Putnam, for many years connected with the Robling Wire Company at Trenton, N. J. Funeral services were held at his late residence Sunday last, Rev. J. Edgar Park officiating. The Beethoven Quartet sang "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Still, still with Thee" and "Abide with Me."

TURNER CENTRE CREAMERY

The Turner Center Creamery started in business 34 years ago in the village of Turner Center, Maine, from which it derives its name.

The concern was organized by 34 farmers and conducted as a co-operative Association, and the proceeds of the business were divided pro rata among all patrons after resuming all expenses.

Annual reports have been given to all producers whether stockholders or not, showing the financial standing and profits of the Association. In this way the best of feeling has been maintained, and all producers have worked harmoniously with the management to produce good stuff, and assure the success of the Association. They had good reason for doing so because success to the concern meant success for the producer. At that time and for a considerable number of years they only produced butter and cheese; later on the sale of cream was taken up, and orders were attended to with such care and integrity that it was not long until the T. C. C. were the largest producers of sweet cream in New England.

About six years ago they became interested in the whole milk business and have made wonderful progress since selling in the Boston Branch alone about 5000 gallons daily.

The Turner Center headquarters are situated at Auburn, Maine, with 18 branch creameries all through the State. I will mention some of the more important ones which are situated at Wiscasset, Richmond, Unity, Benton, Troy, Jackson, Farmington, etc. And the Branch Store at Portland, Maine, which they purchased a year ago. Twenty-two years ago they opened a branch store in Chelsea, Mass., but found after a very short time they had outgrown their quarters and moved to Chatham street, Boston, where they remained about 6 years and moved to Fulton street, which at that time seemed ample room for all time, but owing to the increase of business they were obliged to move to their present location, 63-69 Endicott, corner Stillman, a building they purchased two years ago.

The Turner Center Creamery Cream and milk is all pasteurized by heating to a temperature of 145 degrees F. holding 20 to 30 minutes, passing through centrifugal machines to clarify it and thence over coolers to 1000 gal. vats, it is then drawn off in cans or bottles as needed and shipped to the different branches.

According to the best authorities this process should destroy all germs of disease by the heating, holding and chilling, remove any accidental foreign matter by the centrifugal process, and by aeration remove any unpleasant flavors due to feed of cows. I might also add that during these 34 years, and the wonderful progress the company has made, they have scarcely ever advertised their product, the belief of the General Manager is, the goods speak for themselves.

CHARLTON-SIMPSON

At a charming home wedding last Friday evening, Miss Persis B. Simpson, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edmund S. Simpson, of St. James street, Newton, became the bride of Mr. Leslie A. Charlton of Cambridge. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. George H. Parkinson, pastor of the Newton Centre Methodist Church.

The house was attractively decorated, the color scheme being green and gold, the bridal couple standing under an arch of evergreen, hemlock and pine.

The bride was gowned in embroidered marquisette with a tulle veil and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. Her sister, Miss May A. Simpson, in blue silk, was the maid of honor.

Mr. Frank A. Fenwick of Belmont was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. George C. Pearson of Boston, Lawrence M. Beard of Melrose Highlands, Edward S. Beard of Worcester and Clarence Briggs of Lexington were the ushers.

A reception followed until 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Charlton being assisted in receiving their friends by Dr. and Mrs. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Charlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlton left on a wedding trip and on their return will reside at Scituate, Mass.

PARTIES TO BE SHOWN DEMAND

Forty thousand suffragists representing every State in the Union are expected to be in Chicago in June for the greatest national suffrage demonstration ever held in this country, in an effort to get a full suffrage plank into the Republican platform, according to plans formulated by a conference of suffragists with Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, national president, in Chicago last week.

Fully as large a demonstration will be planned for the Democratic convention in St. Louis.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

We city dwellers, who think of snow as only so much hindrance to locomotion of all kinds and the sooner it is carted away the better, need occasionally to get a glimpse of the real thing in the country. Seldom can the country offer so much inducement in the way of an abundance of snow as this season. May it last until after the holiday next week, that those who seek a respite from the routine of every day may find the inspiration of the broad expanse of whiteness and the clear blue of the sky and the white covered hills glistening in the sunshine.

State Federation

The Mid-winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in Memorial Hall, Main street, Melrose, on Friday, Feb. 25. The morning session opens at 10.30 and will be devoted to the consideration of Legislative matters. At the afternoon session at 2.30 Dr. Edward A. Steiner will speak on "The International Mind and the Inter-racial Heart." Luncheon tickets at 50 cents each must be ordered from Mrs. George A. Vittie, 170 Grove St., Melrose, before Feb. 20th. The white and blue tickets will be necessary for admission. Take electric cars from lower level, Sullivan square, marked Lowell or Lawrence, via Malden and Melrose, running time 30 minutes.

Newton Federation

Attention is called to the change in date of the Newton Federation meeting. It will be held on March 9, instead of the 8th as previously announced, in the Technical High School at 3 o'clock. The speaker will be Rev. Florence Buck of Boston and her subject, "Is it well with the child?" Miss Buck is an eloquent speaker and her address fits in appropriately with the Baby Week observance. Since the clubs of Newton are uniting in this movement the co-operation of every individual member is needed to make it a success and every one will be well repaid for her effort to attend. Let us give Miss Buck the hearing she should have.

Local Announcements

The Shakespeare Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet with Mrs. Henry K. Burris on Monday, Feb. 21, at 2.30 P. M.

Miss Marion Dorr will be hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. next Monday afternoon, Feb. 21.

On Feb. 21, Mrs. G. W. Barker, 31 Duncklee street, will entertain the Newton Highlands Monday Club.

The Waban Woman's Club will meet on Feb. 21, when Mrs. Marion Dorr will give "Little Stories of North Africa," illustrated by songs and costumes. Children of members who attend the higher grammar grades or the high school are to be guests at this meeting.

At the meeting of the Brightelmston Club on Feb. 21, Miss Grace E. Ripley will speak on "The grotesque and the beautiful in dress," the talk being illustrated by original costumes.

On Monday evening the Auburndale Review Club will observe Gentlemen's Night in the Congregational chapel. Mr. Denis A. McCarthy will speak, the subject being, "From Tipperary to Boston," and will also read from his poems.

The monthly current events lecture will be given before the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Feb. 22nd.

The meeting of the Newton Parliamentary Law is deferred one week on account of the holiday on Tuesday.

Next Wednesday morning Mrs. F. E. Stanley will present the paper at the meeting of the Social Science Club on "The Convention of Versailles and the Peace of Frankfurt-on-Main, 1871." Guests may be invited.

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, Feb. 24, Mr. Frank Spaight, England's celebrated Dickens interpreter, will interpret "Pickwick."

On Friday afternoon the Legislative committee is in charge of the meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club. Miss Edith Haynes will speak on "Proposed current legislation of particular interest to women."

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will meet with Mrs. Edgar J. Smith of Hyde street on Feb. 26.

Local Happenings

Members of the Boston Woman's Civic Club lunched together at the Women's City Club on Feb. 9, and then adjourned to their rooms in the Colonial House for the regular meeting, which was addressed by Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr., on some of the current legislative matters. There was a large attendance and much interest displayed.

Mrs. H. W. Drew was hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club on Feb. 12. Two acts of Mid-summer Night's Dream were read and discussed. This play differs from the others in that the status of the fairy is raised to an entirely new footing. Hitherto they have been portrayed for the most part as demons or evil spirits and in this play we see the beginning of the good fairy. Sources and the history of the play were also considered. The rendering of the second act by Miss Bagley, a professional reader and a guest that afternoon, was highly enjoyed by all present.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon held with Dr. Wentworth, Mrs. Philip S. Sweetser was in charge of the work, the subject being "The Plays by John Galsworthy." Mrs. Sweetser gave some account of each and read criticisms. Afterwards she read selections from "Justice," "The Silver Box," "The Pigeon," and from "The Mob."

The meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club was postponed from Monday to Tuesday afternoon in order to entertain the children of the members. Mrs. E. G. Allen was in charge of the program. Miss Edith Briggs read from "Pollyanna," "Anne of Green Gables" and other stories all of which were much enjoyed by her audience. Miss Louise A. Wallon sang a group of children's songs, including several of Eugene Field's. Refreshments were served and both members and guests of whom there were a large number, spent an altogether delightful afternoon.

Storytelling by Miss Mabel Bragg formed the entertainment for the meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Feb. 15, when the daughters of club members were the special guests. Tea was served by a special committee, with Mrs. C. F. Schipper as chairman.

Among other announcements at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club at the Methodist Parish House on Feb. 15, the War Relief committee reported that $80 had been cleared at the Bridge Party on Feb. 5, which they hoped to raise to $100, to be devoted to buying yarn for the Belgians themselves to knit into needed articles, thus providing both work and warmth for them. The Hospital committee announced a vaudeville entertainment and dance to be given on March 4 at the Woodland Park Hotel to start a fund for a new operating room at the Newton Hospital. A new set of slips arranged for the co-operative buying of various groceries was given out by the Home Economics committee. The program was in charge of the Education committee, Mrs. W. I. Lawrence, chairman. In her absence Mrs. Harry Beal introduced the speaker of the afternoon, who was Mrs. Richard C. Cabot, well known not only as the wife of a famous physician, but also for her able work on many boards and councils and as a teacher of and writer on Ethics. Her subject was "Interests Sources of Health and Happiness." After the lecture the club members enjoyed a chat and a cup of tea served in the ladies parlor.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, Mrs. C. S. Ensign, Jr., chairman of the Moving Picture committee, announced a new project, which is being backed by the school authorities and the Newton Library, that of community pictures and an uplifting picture show at the Newton Opera House every Thursday afternoon beginning next week. This is a matter in which the club has been much interested, so that the announcement was heard with satisfaction.

The program for the morning was in charge of Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee and the subject, "American Folk Music." A short paper on the subject was presented by Mrs. J. D. Barrows, a former member of the club. Mrs. Barrows stated that no people is really musical unless they possess folk music. The folk songs cannot be made to order, it springs spontaneously from the hearts of the people and becomes a part of their very lives. The mere listening to music does not make a people musical. The Americans have been sung to and played at as have no other people in the world, but to be musical we must be able to think and express ourselves in terms of music. She referred to various of our American composers who have taken their inspiration from the Indian and negro songs, our two sources nearest akin to folk music. No primitive race is more genuinely musical than the American Indian, when we come to understand their music. She pointed out the strange anomaly of the most uncivilized people using the most civilized art in which to express itself. The negro music, she said, is more advanced than the Indian. They are natural singers and employ harmony without knowing it. Rhythm is the most distinctive thing about it.

Stephen Foster has supplied our lack of the American folk song, for his simple songs have found their way into the very hearts of the people and are sung and will be for all time. If rhythm is the distinctive feature of our primitive music, then ragtime is our most truly characteristic music. It has been dubbed American music, the whole world over, and good or bad, it is ours, and may well be stamped, "Made in America."

At the conclusion of the paper followed an hour of music illustrative of the points which had been brought out by Mrs. Barrows. The first group were selections, which are founded upon Indian music and included three for the piano, by Farwell, MacDowell and Loomis, rendered by Mr. Robert Atkinson of Brookline, Cadman's song "The Land of the Sky Blue Water," by Mrs. Edward H. Hallett, and a violin solo by Miss Fowle of the West Newton Music School, "Indian Lament." Dvorak. The remaining selections were from the negro songs, the first, a piano solo by Mr. Atkinson, "Negro Epitaph," by Gilbert. A chorus of club members, Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, Miss Alice Emery, Mrs. H. G. Person, Mrs. C. H. Patton, Mrs. Harry Lutz and Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee then sang "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and "Go down Moses," after which Mrs. Ralph Emery rendered Sidney Homer's "Banjo Song." "Deep Silver" by Coleridge Taylor, a negro melody for the violin was rendered by Miss Fowle, after which the chorus gave "Old Black Joe" and "Doodah." Mr. Atkinson played examples of the appropriation of negro themes and some true American ragtime and the program closed with the singing of "Old Folks at Home" by the audience.

Mrs. Harry Stebbins accompanied Mrs. Hallett and Miss Dorothy S. Emmons, the chorus. The whole program was listened to with great enjoyment and reflected great credit upon all who had a part in it.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Oscar E. Nutter opened her home on Boylston street for the Gentlemen's Night of the Pierian Club when between twenty and thirty members and their guests enjoyed the delightful program. Mrs. J. W. C. Easterbrook, the president, was in the chair and after a few words of welcome presented Miss Elsie Bishop, who sang several songs with Miss Billings at the piano.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer was then introduced, who entertained the company most acceptably with her lecture, "The Sea Islanders." Mrs. Palmer took her hearers with her to Beaufort, on one of the Sea Islands off the coast of South Carolina, where she showed them the old negro in his native surroundings and native conditions. The place, founded in 1713, still retains much of the ante-bellum days, the manners, customs and even dialect of the negro being little changed. Although the population is nine-tenths blacks, nowhere are they so friendly nor so easily controlled. Here we have found the surviving remnant of the old time darkey, for only about four percent have any white blood, whatever. They are for the most part self-supporting, cotton growing and truck farming being the chief industries. The lecture was interspersed with the quaint remarks and droll stories of the old time darkey which kept the audience in the best of good humor all the evening. Two sermons were repeated in which the scripture was so hopelessly mixed and so ingeniously interwoven as to be irresistibly funny. Many of their holiday customs were described and some of their songs were rendered in a most realistic manner. Another group of songs by Miss Bishop closed the formal program and the guests remained chatting until a late hour. The house was attractively decorated with a variety of potted plants and cut flowers, while the dining table was particularly lovely with its pink decorations of floating cupids and cut flowers.

Travel Class

The travel class of the West Newton W. E. Club met on Monday, February 14, at the residence of Mrs. James Patterson, Auburndale. Seventeen members were present out of a total membership of twenty-five.

A paper on "Social and Economic Problems" written and read by Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald was greatly appreciated by all present for its thoroughness and excellence. A short intermission for the transaction of business followed.

At its close Mrs. George D. Byfield read "A Trip from Boston to Seattle via Panama," written by Miss Magarity. This trip was presented in the form of three delightful and descriptive letters.

The Auburndale Women's Club will give a Vaudeville and Dance at Woodland Park Hotel, Saturday, March 4, 1916 at 8 P. M. The receipts to start a fund for a new Operating Room at the Newton Hospital. Home made refreshments will be on sale. The patronesses are Mrs. Frank H. Porter, Mrs. Henry F. Keever, Mrs. Henry H. Godfrey and Mrs. H. F. Pomeroy.

On Thursday, February 17th, Mrs. Lotta B. Miller of the Wm. Filene Sons Co., spoke to the Newton Centre Woman's Club on "Clothes Planning." The meeting was held in the chapel of the Congregational Church and was well attended.

Rev. Joel H. Metcalf of Winchester lectured before the last meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on "Maeterlinck," giving some account of his life and an analysis of his plays. Piano selections both before and after the lecture were rendered by Miss Goldie Hoar. Tea was served during the social hour.

MRS. FOWLE DEAD

Mrs. Mary E. Fowle, widow of the late Hon. William B. Fowle of Auburndale passed away Tuesday, February 15th after an illness with pneumonia. Mrs. Fowle is survived by two sons, Mr. Harry Fowle of Auburndale, and Mr. A. L. Fowle of New York. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at her late residence on Ash street. The burial was in the family lot in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Those interested in brightening their homes should not fail to see the exhibition of Electric and Gas Lighting Fixtures as shown by McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin St., corner Congress, Boston.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER

At the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday afternoon, February 14th, the regular meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton was held, the regent, Mrs. Fessenden, presiding. There was a full attendance. The business meeting was called to order at three o'clock. The reports of the secretary for December and January meetings were read and accepted. Mrs. Ellery Peabody reported on the meeting of the society at headquarters on Newbury street on January 17th, when the Lucy Jackson Chapter entertained with the Watertown and Waltham chapters. The regent spoke of a number of important matters discussed at the board meeting January 24th. It was voted to send $5 to the Philippine Chapter to help establish a D. A. R. Scholarship Endowment Fund for specially gifted young Filipinos; also $5 to Old Trail Road Committee to assist in the work of placing marks on Old Boston Post Road from Springfield to Cambridge.

The following ladies were elected to attend the Continental Congress, as delegates and alternates, to be held in Washington in April: Delegate, Mrs. John W. Rice; Alternates, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve, Mrs. Wm. H. Lucas, Mrs. Alexander Bennett, Mrs. John L. Damon, Mrs. Gardner I. Jones and Miss Ella M. Rice.

Music was in charge of Miss Alice Morton who introduced Miss Choate. Much pleasure was given by Miss Choate's singing, accompanied at the piano by Miss Morton. Mrs. Fessenden introduced Mrs. Ralph M. Kirkland, regent of the Minute Man Chapter of Boston, who spoke on "The Mother of Washington." Mrs. Kirkland gave a very interesting account of the life of Mary Washington from a young girl up to the time of her death at the age of eighty-one. She described her as in no sense commonplace, but as a woman of noble heart, high courage and sound understanding, devoted to her family and her church. At the conclusion of the talk a rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Kirkland for her charming paper. After singing "America," a delightful tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Edward Merritt, Mrs. Charles D. Meserve, Miss Alice Morton and Miss Emily Jordan.

"EVERYBODY WINS"

Third Week in the Newton Graphic Automobile Contest

GRAND PRIZE Open to All Districts.

DISTRICT ONE $50 in Gold

DISTRICT TWO $50 in Gold

DISTRICT THREE $50 in Gold

And 10% to be paid to non-prize winners. Get Busy!

If a good fairy was to knock at your door, and say, "Wake up, John, your Maxwell Car stands without," you would no doubt be somewhat surprised. But, in the offer so generously made by THE NEWTON GRAPHIC by which plan it is made possible for one to secure an automobile, almost as easily, it seems that the days of the good fairies is not altogether extinct.

The past week has been resultful in many of the candidates, whose names have been entered in the race, securing quite a number of counters. This is as it should be. From this time until the last lap of the race the votes should be procured with something like lightning rapidity. Big final totals means larger winnings. There are many thousands of persons in Newton, and surrounding territory, who are willing to lend a helping hand in boosting some of the workers toward the coveted goal, the Automobile. Enlist this support for votes at once. The next two weeks will be important ones as it will show who the ones are who have the stamina to weather the storm and will be at the pole for the home stretch. It is just as easy to be up among the top-notchers as it is to be down among the also-rans. The only difference in the positions is through the little word, which means so much, effort.

Each candidate who hopes to win something in this great event, and each one who tries will, is urged to report their subscriptions Thursday, either during the day or evening. The counting of the votes is done in the evening and the office is always open Thursday night. Other times by appointment. The attention of candidates is called to the importance of sending in the coupons correctly. Write the name for whom they are intended upon the first one and then either tie them up securely or enclose them in an envelope and send or bring them to the office. Remember there is an expiration date upon each one. It is entirely useless to bring in coupon votes which have expired. They will be thrown out.

The Automobile department has some very neat mailing cards which have been printed for the use of the candidates in reaching friends that may be out of personal reach. They can be had for the asking.

Some one has asked if it is too late for an entrant to get into the race with any possibility of winning out. The opportunity is just as good today as it was several days ago—but it will not be a very good plan to wait much longer. The best time to be active is now and the sooner, of course, the better. A few new candidates have been entered since last week and the result of their efforts will be shown in the next vote exhibit. The field is still open and no one can say with any degree of certainty that any one candidate has any apparent advantage over another.

This is just as it should be as the plan for the distribution of the prizes that will be awarded is one of the most liberal that was ever given. All element of chance is entirely eliminated as "Everybody Wins" in THE NEWTON GRAPHIC Automobile Contest. Nothing could be more fair. With just one real requisite, "Hustle," needed to win, and the opportunity here, it is surely up to the candidates and their friends to join hands and make the votes fly into the ballot box. The successful candidate will have much cause for loud rejoicing and the ones who come in a close second will have little cause for complaint for fifty dollars in gold is not bad to accept for a little time spent judiciously. But it is a good plan to aim high. Say "The Automobile or nothing" and your friends will join you in the slogan and soon you have several hundred persons plugging for the votes for you in a manner that is most certain to bring success. Who are the successful candidates? Always the live progressive, never-say-die folks who always go into everything they undertake with all the vim and determination they are capable of commanding. They throw themselves heartily and wholly into the struggle. They inspire their friends with confidence by their example and keep everlastingly at it.

Whatever friend, or friends, entered you in the contest, expected you to get busy and try your level best to win. If you don't make good with them they will be as much disappointed as you will yourself. Don't allow this. Time waits for no one. As an evidence of this fact the calendar has only to be consulted to convince you and your supporters, that this is the logical period to become active and secure the votes that can be gotten if you just assert yourself—and before the other fellow.

It is not a very long time until April 3rd, yet long enough, if you become active. The month of April will appeal to you much more if you have visions of some long anticipated pleasure-journeys in the NEWTON GRAPHIC Automobile. Some one will realize this ambition and it may as well be you. A little extra effort for the coming week.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The Girls' Triangular League Debate will be held this evening. At 7.45 in the Assembly Hall there will be a debate between the Newton negative team and the Somerville affirmative team. The subject is announced as "Single Tax." At the same time the Newton affirmative team will be holding a debate with the Brookline negative team at the Brookline High School. The debate in this school will be followed by dancing.

A special meeting of the Junior Class was held in the hall Wednesday noon. This meeting was called for the purpose of taking action over the proposal of sending a floral tribute to the funeral of Miss Eleanor Dodd, a member of the class, who died Tuesday. A committee of three was appointed to attend to the matter of writing a letter to accompany the token. It was then voted to tax each member of the class a small sum for the expenses.

An announcement was made Wednesday morning that all pupils who had a free study hour the last period were required to pass to the Technical School Building, where a lecture would be given on the preparation of Hershey's chocolate. It was later found necessary to postpone this demonstration, as the men in charge were suddenly called to New York.

A candy sale and dance will be held in the gymnasium on Friday afternoon, February 25.

The February number of the "Review" was issued Wednesday at the close of school.

TALK ON LINCOLN

The Reverend Edward T. Sullivan of Newton Centre addressed the pupils of the Newton Vocational School, on Monday morning, his subject being "The Magnanimity of Lincoln." Mr. Sullivan made clear the distinction between preparation and training as illustrated in the life of Lincoln and his admirable address was listened to with closest attention.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE — "Between the Lines" is following the example of its Harvard Prize Play predecessors. It has had large and appreciative audiences ever since its opening performances, and it has been universally extolled as a wholesome drama that tells a pleasant and entertaining story of parental love and the devotion of children to father and mother. Its third week begins on Monday, and its twice a day performances are sure to be filled with audiences that will spread abroad the good tidings of this latest play that is written for playgoers of all ages, from eight to eighty. The cast includes John Craig, Mary Young, and all the entire membership of the Craig Players.

COMPANY C

Company C was inspected by Lt. J. R. McGinness, U. S. Inspector and Lt. Col. F. R. Robinson Inspector M. V. M. On Monday evening, February 14, 1916.

Sixty-two men reported only two being absent, one of whom was sick, and the other on furlough.

This is the largest number ever inspected in a Militia company in Newton.

During the afternoon the property was looked over and found to be in good shape and at 8.15 the personnel was inspected.

After the men had been inspected Lt. Tierney took command and gave a fine exhibition of bayonet combat followed by Lt. Everson who drilled the company in close order.

The Company was then divided up, each corporal taking command of his squad and being called upon to show to the Inspector his ability to instruct recruits.

The Company was again assembled and Captain Cormerais demonstrated fire control and discipline showing the method of an attack.

All movements were well executed and it was noted the change in the Company spirit each man was out to do his best and the result showed by the satisfaction expressed by the Inspectors, Major Meredith, commander of the Battalion, and Captain Wade, Regimental adjutant, who remarked on the wonderful improvement over former years.

It is safe to say that Company C today is the finest company Newton has had during the past twenty years. Full ranks and a waiting list, every man loyal and hardworking. N. C. O.'s studying to improve themselves in all their branches.

The Officers eager, enthusiastic and painstaking, all this teamwork is producing great results.

The men are looking forward to the Military Ball which is to be held next month showing at last that the citizens of Newton are behind the Company and that it is an honor to be a member of Company C, 5th Inf., M. V. M.

DEATH OF MR. WALLEY

Mr. Isaac Chapman Bates Walley died last week Thursday, at his home on Ballard street, Newton Centre, after a brief illness, following a stroke of apoplexy about a week ago. He was sixty-six years of age, the son of the late Samuel H. Walley, and was born in Boston. He attended school in Billerica, and also Chauncey Hall School, Boston. Practically his whole business career has been spent in the stock brokerage business. He formerly was a member of the old firm of H. M. Bates & Walley, which was prominent in the eighties and nineties. Mr. Walley, while retaining his interest in the market, had been in recent years far less active in business. He was a member of the Boston Athletic Association. Mr. Walley was a bachelor, and is survived by a sister in Newton, also a sister and a brother living in Boston.

GARDEN CITY YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH

The regular monthly meeting of the Garden City Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. will be held on Friday, Feb. 25th at 8 P. M., in the Sunday School rooms of the Newtonville M. E. Church. The club will have as the guest of honor for that evening, the Rev. Mr. Panunzio, a well-known social worker in Boston's North End. A "live" time is assured wherever Mr. Panunzio is present. All members of the Branch will be on hand to welcome him, and visitors are cordially invited. The usual social hour, with refreshments will be enjoyed after the regular meeting.

MAJESTIC THEATRE — That always delightful favorite, William Hodge, in his new play success, "Fixing Sister," is the dramatic novelty at the Majestic next week, for the second week, beginning tomorrow evening. This is only the third drama in about ten years for this very popular star. He enjoyed fame and fortune for seven entire seasons in "The Man from Home" and for over three years he pleased his host of admirers in "The Road to Happiness." Unlike that last play of his, in which he appeared as a village youth in a small town environment, this new production is a comedy-drama of modern New York life. All its four acts are laid amid the luxurious, fashionable scenes of New York high society, and one of its most crowded and picturesque tableaux presents a bridge whist party in full swing. The character portrayed by William Hodge is that of an up-to-date, wide-awake American business man, equally at home in high finance or high society, and yet with the thorough Americanism, the essential honesty, humor and shrewdness which made his Daniel Voorhees Pike and his Jim Whitman both such supreme examples of the native type.

N. H. S. ATHLETICS

One of the most decisive games of the Interscholastic League series will be played in the Boston Arena this afternoon, when Newton and Medford meet at hockey. This contest should be close and hard fought from start to finish. The Newton team is still in the lead with Arlington, but a defeat by Medford would cut off most of the orange and black's championship hopes.

The team showed great improvement last week, defeating the strong Huntington School seven, 2 to 0, at Brae Burn Friday afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon is the date of the annual Huntington School Track Meet in the Boston Y. M. C. A. Building. Nearly all the public and private schools of Greater Boston and the suburbs will be represented. The Newton track team showed its class by its overwhelming victory over Boston College High last Friday night, and should make a very good showing tomorrow. Arthur Roberts and Henry Pierce are expected to win eight points in the high jump, while it is hoped that Capt. Adams will place in the 600 yard run.

Newton's last dual meet of the season will be held in the Dorchester High School gymnasium next Thursday night.

WILBUR THEATRE—Cohan and Harris, who have the knack of things in the theatre, have proved that their latest farce, "It Pays to Advertise," is brimful of good things—bright dialogue, clever dissertation, amusing by-play and invention. The tired business man may forget his troubles in view of its entertaining qualities, the play presents what might be termed good business philosophy, or perhaps for those who don't believe in printer's ink, good advertising philosophy. It's nice little plot that the authors have woven into their story of "It Pays to Advertise." A wealthy father has wagered $30,000, that his son can make more money working at a regular "job" than can the son of another wealthy man. Both fathers are in the soap business. Father No. 1 succeeds, with the assistance of his pretty secretary, in getting his son to go to work. She is to be the inspiration, because the son has fallen in love with the young lady, who doesn't object because she has been promised a large sum of money by the boy's father if their scheme works out. How their plans are framed and successfully concluded is told in the last two acts of the farce, but it would be unfair to prospective audiences to relate the details and thereby spoil the enjoyment seeing the plot worked out by the skillful company that Cohan and Harris have assembled to enact the people of the play.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Patrick H. Haggerty to Daniel L. Hunt, dated January 22, 1915, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Book 3943, Page 78, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Monday the sixth day of March, 1916, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:—

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in that part of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, called Newtonville, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Commencing at the Northwest corner of the same on Lowell Street, at land now of W. H. Eaves, or late heirs of J. W. Carleton, thence Southeasterly (described in said mortgage "Southwesterly") on said "Eaves'" land 132.80 feet to land now of L. Cooley, or late of one Haven, thence Northeasterly (described in said mortgage "Northwesterly") on said Cooley land 56.75 feet; thence Northwest on other land formerly of the grantor, and now of E. H. Lowell, in a line parallel with the first named land 116.10 feet, more or less, to said Lowell Street, and thence Southwesterly on said Lowell Street, 56 feet, to the point of beginning, containing 6910 square feet, more or less, according to a plan made by Smille and Sanborn, dated Sept. 4, 1875.

Said premises will be sold subject to a mortgage of twenty-seven hundred dollars and accrued interest to the Whitman Savings Bank, to any and all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments, if any; and to the restrictions referred to in said mortgage deed.

$200.00 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms at sale.

WILLIAM V. THOMPSON,
Assignee of said mortgage.

February 7, 1916.

For further particulars, apply to W. V. and E. A. Thompson, 18 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

Rules and Conditions

Any man or woman, married or single, or any boy or girl who resides in any of the districts represented may enter The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest by having his or her nomination properly filled out and endorsed by one reputable citizen of their district. A person may nominate himself.

There will be three separate districts, (as described elsewhere on this page), from which to enter. The grand prize—A MAXWELL TOURING CAR—will be awarded to the person who secures the greatest number of votes, under the rules and conditions governing this contest. The three district prizes—one in each district—$50.00 in gold—will be awarded to the persons securing the greatest number of votes in each district—excluding the winner of the Grand Prize.

Votes will be credited by means of COUPONS, and CERTIFICATES. A voting COUPON will be printed in each copy of the NEWTON GRAPHIC during the nine weeks the Contest will continue, which should be clipped, filled in with the name of the candidate, and deposited at the office of the Newton Graphic before the expiration of the time printed thereon in order to count. Voting CERTIFICATES will be issued only on payment of new or old subscriptions to the NEWTON GRAPHIC as described below.

Each contestant will be given a receipt book to be used in all cases where money is paid, the receipt proper, to be given to the subscriber and the stub, which bears a corresponding number to the receipt, will be reported to the office, where it will be copied on Report Blanks, and on which voting CERTIFICATES will be issued.

No employee of the NEWTON GRAPHIC will be allowed to enter this contest.

Candidates must enter from the district in which they live.

Votes are not transferable from one candidate to another.

In the event of a tie vote the contestants who tie will receive a prize of equal value.

A Board of three responsible citizens will inspect the vote at the close of the Contest and will award the prizes accordingly.

The publisher of the NEWTON GRAPHIC guarantees fair treatment to each Contestant, and reserves the right to amend these rules, if necessary, for the protection of all concerned.

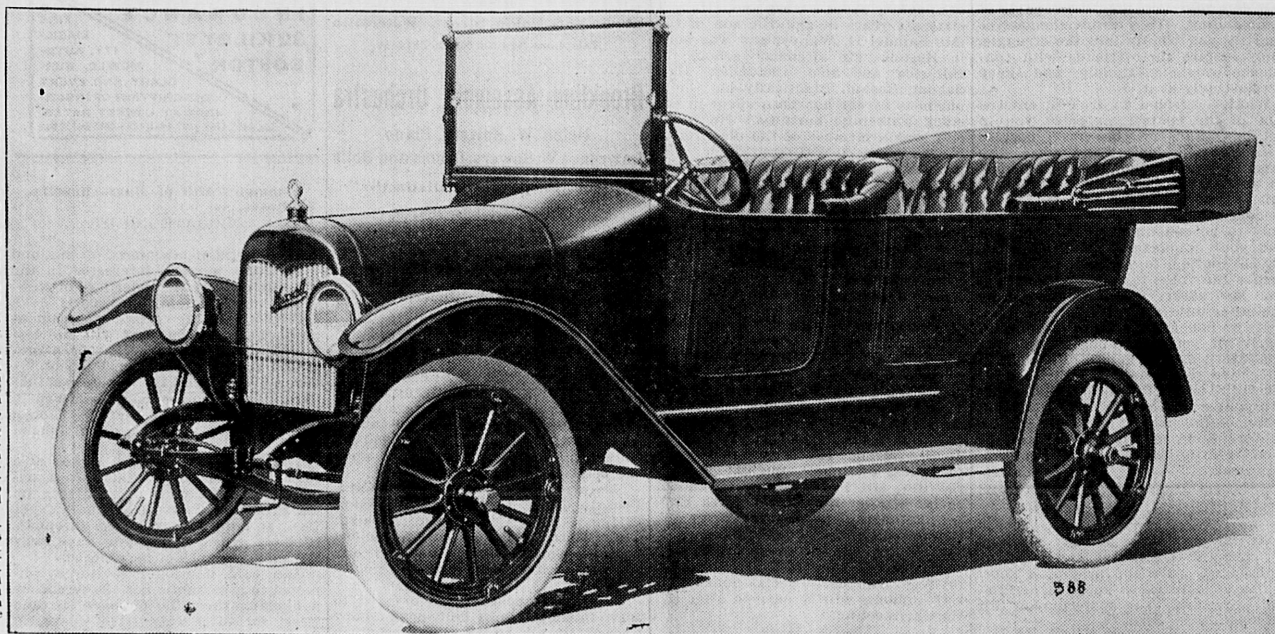

The publisher of the NEWTON GRAPHIC will not recognize any statement or promise made by any solicitor, agent or contestant, other than those contained in the printed Rules and Conditions of this Contest, or which may bear his signature.

Persons who enter and take part in this Contest will thereby agree to all conditions.

Votes will be given on subscriptions, both old or new. All the new subscriptions will count more than old.

In order to protect subscribers, the names of those who pay subscriptions directly to the office in behalf of any contestant, will not be divulged.

In the event of inactivity in any district the management reserves the right to withdraw the prize offered or award same at its own discretion.

MAXWELL FIVE PASSENGER TOURING CAR

How to Win a Prize

The first thing to do is to enter your name as a candidate, then either write, call or phone the NEWTON GRAPHIC AUTOMOBILE DEPARTMENT for a receipt book with which to secure subscriptions. Then let all your friends know that you are in the race and request them to save votes for you. Don't wait. Get busy at once. Use the telephone freely. Let everyone know you are a candidate before they promise their help to a more enterprising contestant.

Be ambitious and determined to win. If you have friends whom you cannot see, write them at once. Urge your friends to help you win. If you belong to a club, society or organization, let your fellow members know, so they may assist you. Do not let a day pass without securing some votes. The steady, persistent work is what will make you the winner of the valuable prize.

It is easier to answer questions than correct mistakes. Do not hesitate to ask questions. The management will be glad to help you. These valuable prizes will be won by some one. WHY NOT YOU?

For any further information, Phone, write or call on the MANAGER

AUTOMOBILE DEPARTMENT, NEWTON GRAPHIC

GENERAL INFORMATION

Each district is separate and distinct and the number of votes cast for candidates in one district has no bearing whatever upon the number of votes cast for candidates in other districts, except so far as the capital prize, The Automobile, is concerned.

The one person securing the greatest number of votes in any of the districts will win the Maxwell Touring Car. Then each district will receive the prize which has been offered according to the vote cast. Each district having two of more active candidates to the end of the contest will be awarded a district prize.

PRIZES OFFERED TO BE WON BY HUSTLE

The only way in which the Maxwell Touring Car, which will be given as the Grand Prize, and the other district prizes which have been offered can be won is by becoming a candidate and competing for the same according to the rules and conditions which will govern the competition.

Personal work is a prime requisite for success and the manner in which the contesting aspirants enthrall their friends will have much to do in the awarding of the desirable prize.

The contest presents an opportunity of a life time to all. The Maxwell Touring Car which will be given to the one candidate whose vote exceeds all the others in the race is something that all of us would appreciate but cannot have. This excellent plan provides the vehicle for some one to profit immeasurably. Who it will be depends on the spirit and determination shown by those who become interested. The offerings have been announced. The rest is up to YOU. You know what has been offered said of the procrastinator? Opportunity knocks at your door. Let it in and be happy ever after. The Newton Graphic will be glad to receive a query from you. By starting today you may head off some one in your district.

QUALITY GOODS

Maybe you are not a regular customer of this store and you can't tell us why. Maybe you don't know that you will obtain Quality Goods,—real Quality Goods,—goods so fine that you need not be ashamed to serve them to the most fastidious,—goods so fine that we are proud to sell them to the most particular.

Maybe you don't know that our prices are low—as low as others sell Argentine or Australian meats, cold storage goods, or inferior manufactured products.

Maybe you don't know that your purchases will be delivered to you promptly, prepared by careful workmen and cleanly and neatly wrapped and delivered. There are many, however, who do know all these facts, and many more are learning them each month. Of course if you never call and see us you will never learn how much more pleasure you may obtain in life, for after all what adds more to life's pleasures than satisfactory food. And above all in interest to you, you will never learn how really reasonable our goods are sold and that you will be able to save money.

We should be glad to welcome you and prove these statements to you.

COLLEGE CLUB

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Gilman entertained the members of the College Club on Thursday evening at their residence on Central street, Auburndale. It was a very delightful social affair, and Mr. Stanley Emerick gave a very interesting talk on his travels thru Turkey and Armenia.

—A fine musical program was presented by Mrs. Helen Pratt Kelley, soprano, and Mr. Leon Lougane Vigeant, baritone, both of whom are accomplished artists. Mrs. Kelley who possesses a voice of rare sweetness and purity of tone as well as a charming personality, sang with pleasing effect a splendid group of songs, and Mr. Vigeant is not only a wonderful singer, but has a voice of great possibilities, of a full rich tone and of that fine quality which impresses an audience. After the musical program a collation was served in the dining room which was made attractive with decorations of ferns and yellow jonquils.

—There was a large attendance and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

BAND CONCERT

—A band concert, the proceeds of which were devoted to the Newton Hospital, was given in the presence of a large crowd last Tuesday evening in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, by Whitcomb's Concert Band, augmented by several members of the Newton City Band. The artists were Lora May Lampert, soprano; J. Barbara Werner, violinist; Muriel Williams, accompanist, and Charles C. Whitcomb, conductor.

a single great person to whom the people have been willing to listen during this great crisis, and many will argue that the conditions of the modern world, especially in the direction of democracy are fatal to the production of great personalities. But on the other hand, within the past two or three days you have been celebrating the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, one of the most powerful personalities in the history of the world, and there are other great personalities which have been developed in the United States in the past century, and yet you have here the idea of freedom embodied in society. We must learn to have more faith in those whom we choose as leaders of our governments. Nothing we can do will relieve the leader from the responsibility of making the decisions for the whole people, and we must not be so eager to criticize.

QUESTIONS

If the men of England have volunteered in such large numbers, why the need of the present draft law?

Mr. Ratcliffe stated that this was a political question. When the war first started the government was drawn on strictly party lines, but that last year a change was made and a coalition government installed. This government has worked well with some exceptions. One of these exceptions is SIX—GRAPHIC V. C. 111:15. With this question of conscription, and on this question the old party lines seem to be drawn. It seemed wise that something should be done and a compromise bill was passed providing for conscription in the cases of unmarried men of military age, who had not come forward under the Derby recruiting scheme.

Several questions were submitted on the question of the relations between England and America.

Mr. Ratcliffe said in response to these questions, that he wished he could speak more hopefully in regard to this question. The relations between England and America at the present time, in the minds of the English people, were exceedingly distasteful. The average Englishman looks on America as being next door to an English colony, and for the exception of an accident, it doubtless would be a colony at the present time. They do not understand the advancement that has been made by the United States in the past century. He said that he had tried by writing and speaking in all parts of England to impress upon the minds of those people what the conditions were in this country, but with little success. The people had been slow, to realize the assistance that the United States had been giving the Allies and equally slow to realize the great relief work that has been done in Belgium.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

The Library Column is devoted this week to the books which have been added to the Young People's Department of the Library. These titles are available to the children of the city either through the Main Library or any of its branches. Paine (JYL-P16w); and also Mr. Rabbit's big dinner, in the same series (JYL-P16m); The marooning of Peggy, by Agnes Daulton (JD265m); What we saw at Madame World's fair, by Elizabeth Gordon (JRS381G); Indian games and dances with native songs, by Alice Fletcher (JFS01-F63); Stories of thrift for young Americans, by Pritchard & Turkington (JHP-P93); His big brother, by Lewis Theiss (JT-34th); Peg's mother, a maid of Devonwood, by Emilie Knipe (JK7484p); The black and white book, by Charlotte Arnold (JYP-A752b); Doings of little bear, by Frances Fox (JYL-F83d); Loraine and the little people, by Elizabeth Gordon (JYL-G65L); Ten great adventures, by Kate Sweetser (JE-S97t); Brave deeds of Union soldiers, by Samuel Scoville (JFS34-S43); The boy scouts in a trapper's camp, by Thornton Burgess (JE912S5b); Lotta Embury's career, by Ella Peattie (JP-329L); Dan, the freshman, by Walter Camp (JC154a); Uncle Abner's legacy, by Alpheus Verrill (JVE12u); Flower fairies, by Clara Judson (JYL-J92f); The boy collector's handbook, by Alpheus Verrill (JMA1-V61b).

CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL AT MECHANICS BUILDING

The annual children's festival of the Children's Memorial, The Children's Church will be held in the Grand Hall at Mechanics Building on Huntington Avenue on Tuesday, February 22nd. Preparations have been made to accommodate as many as 5000 children and the exhibitions of dancing, under the direction of Mrs. Lilla Viles Wyman, are expected to surpass even the finished productions of former years. Nearly 100 children, ranging in ages from four years up, will take part in the program.

Colorful costumes, fancy dancing, gay music, picturesque flag marching and scores of beautiful children will make a day of fun and pleasure for young and old. These Washington's Birthday Children's Festivals have been an annual feature of the Barnard Memorial programme for nearly eighty consecutive years. The novelty and charm of this year's dances will appeal to all. General dancing both precedes and follows the formal programme which takes place at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. Ample provision has been made for family groups who take this method of spending a day with the young folks—to their mutual benefit. A pleasant day is sure to find Mechanics Building's largest hall crowded with thousands of happy youngsters.

JOHN HANCOCK LIFE INSURANCE

The annual statement of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston tells comprehensively of the activities of that great New England institution during the past year. For 53 years the John Hancock Mutual has annually presented to its policy-holders, who are the company, a record of growth in all departments, and the past year was no exception. As of Dec. 31st last, its assets had reached $127,361,388, based on the standard of computation required by the Massachusetts Insurance Department, an increase of over eleven millions over the previous year.

Over and above all its liabilities the Company carries a safety fund account. It amounts to nearly seven and three-quarter million dollars—nearly half a million being added last year, and is kept for the express purpose of dealing with every possible unforeseen contingency which may arise.

Its annual income for the past year from premium payments was $28,535,745, while it received also in interest on its investments $5,707,892. During 1915 it invested $20,438,456, yielding an average rate of 5.52 per cent.

Since organization the John Hancock Mutual has paid to its policy-holders, plus the accumulated reserves held for their benefit, the immense sum of $262,378,375, the payments to these policy-holders averaging over $52,000 for every working day of the year.

These figures give some conception of the large place the John Hancock Mutual occupies in the community, for its policy-holders are numbered by tens of thousands. Its beneficent activities touch hundreds of homes and its records could reveal many an instance where the company, in responding to the trust reposed in it, has furnished the only barrier between poverty and comfort.

The John Hancock Mutual furnishes life insurance to meet every pocket and to suit well high every preference. The policies may be made payable in a lump sum at death or they may be extended over a period of time—every month if desired—in short, the company issues every known approved form of life insurance.

The John Hancock is a mutual company. Over and above its actual running expenses, the funds, other than those held under the law for reserves on policies and those set aside to provide for a "safety" fund, are returned to the policy-holders in the form of dividends. Thus with the reductions in operating costs, to judicious underwriting and to sound investments, the net cost of insurance is being constantly lowered.

The interests of the John Hancock Mutual are amply safeguarded. It operates under the supervision of the State, which is required by law to examine it every three years. It subjects itself to the most rigorous examination of competent auditors and every protective device is employed to scrutinize and check up the smallest detail of its operations.

AN EASY VICTORY

Contrary to expectations the athletic meet between Newton High and Boston College High proved an easy and one-sided walkaway for the former team at Newtonville last Friday evening, before one of the largest audiences ever in the old drill hall. B. C. High was touted as having a good team but produced little worthy of note. Newton High scored every first place, the final score being 59 1-2 to 8 1-2 points.

Hayes and Roberts were the high point winners, the former winning the 30-yard dash and standing broad jump, which latter is the best performance by a schoolboy in Greater Boston in recent years. Roberts won the high jump and shotput. The summary:

30-Yard Dash—Won by Hayes, Newton High; McNamara, Newton High, second; tie for third place between Dempsey, Boston College High, and Woodworth, Newton High. Time, 4s. 300-Yard Run—Won by Woodworth, Newton High; McNamara, Newton High, second; Dempsey, Boston College High, third. Time, 37 4-5s.

600-Yard Run—Won by Ray Adams, Newton High; Garrity, Newton High, second; Mullen, Boston College High; third. Time, 1m. 24 4-5s.

1000-Yard Run—Won by O'Brien, Newton High; Bowen, Newton High, second; Leary, Boston College High, third. Time, 2m. 36 1-5s.

Running High Jump—Won by Roberts, Newton High, height, 5ft 10 3-4in; Pierce, Newton High, second, height, 5ft. 9 3-4in; Dempsey, Boston College High, and Porter, Boston College High tied for third place, height, 5ft. 9in.

Standing Broad Jump—Won by Hayes, Newton High, distance, 10ft 1 1-2 in; Pierce, Newton High, second distance, 9 ft. 7 1-2 in; Tierney, Boston College High, third, distance, 9ft 7in.

12-Pound Shotput—Won by Roberts, Newton High, distance, 41ft. 11in; Tierney, Boston College High, second, distance, 40ft. 10 1-2in; Newell, Newton High, third, distance, 38ft. 5 1-2in.

Relay Race—Newton High vs. Boston College High—Won by Newton High (Woodworth, O'Brien, McNamara, Adams); Boston College High (Halloran, Cunningham, Dempsey, Nolan), second. Time, 2m. 31 4-5s.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. R.

A very interesting meeting of the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., was held at the Newton Club, Newtonville, last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Stephen Wiswell read an interesting paper on Dorothy Dix and another most interesting one on the life of Rebecca Pomroy was given by Miss Whiting. Several of the girls from the Pomroy Home were present and sang splendidly under the leadership of Mrs. Blakemore, assisted by Miss Dorothy Emmons at the piano. Refreshments were served and all in all the occasion was most pleasant.

The hostesses were Dr. Marietta Putnam Reid, Mrs. Francis E. Stanley, Mrs. Edgar W. Warren, Mrs. Frank W. Webster, Miss Anna M. Whiting and Mrs. Sampson D. Whittemore.

Have a Care.

The car preacher who was fined for auto speeding at least should have the consolation that in the next world he'll never be accused of scorching in devil wagons—Milwaukee Sentinel.

"EVERYBODY WINS"

Saving Weekly Coupons May Determine the Winner of the Maxwell Car

Readers of The Newton Graphic can assist materially in increasing the vote total of many of the candidates by sending in the coupons which have appeared in each issue since the contest was announced. Each one of these coupons count 25 votes and may mean much toward some candidate winning the banner prize. All that is necessary to realize upon these coupons is to clip them from the paper, write on the name of the favored candidate, and send or bring them, to this office before the expiration date which appears upon each one. Tied up in little packages or enclosed in an envelope they are certain to be added to the count of the one for whom they are intended. It does not mean much to you, Mr. Subscriber, and it might swing the candidate so favored into the winning column. Why not get the habit and clip your coupons each week for some deserving candidate? The coupon this week will be found on page 2.

Be sure to send in your coupons for this week, as the first one is worthless, after Tuesday, Feb. 29th. A new one will appear in the issue today, with a shorter expiration period. It surely pays to watch the coupons.

There is just one week more of the much valued "Special Ballot" period. Each and every candidate should put forth strenuous effort to secure as many of these extra vote-values as is possible as they will mean much in the final days balloting. It will pay each worker to report all available subscriptions during this time as no better vote producing offer will be forthcoming. Just think of securing 35,000 extra votes for each report of $15.00, in subscriptions, either old or new.

There are several candidates who are entered on the list who seem undecided as to the next step. To these, we would say, get into the vote getting habit at once. You cannot possibly lose anything and are certain to gain materially. To be sure the Maxwell Touring Car is the grand prize and is much to be desired by all, but there are three district prizes, of fifty dollars in cash, to be awarded besides the offer of ten per cent commission which will be paid to non-prize winners. Spare time put into securing subscriptions for The Newton Graphic will bring in quite substantial returns in money. A worker has the opportunity of winning a most valuable prize of a value of nearly $700, and falling in this the $50 in cash will prove quite a solace to the disappointed and after these awards are made then comes the cash commission. To the wide awake this must surely appeal. Everybody wins.

What Constitutes a New Subscriber?

A new subscriber is any person who, at the time that this contest was announced, did not receive regularly and pay for the publication for which he now subscribes. All subscriptions are old when transferred from one member of the family to another. Any subscriber may order as many additional papers as desired and each copy subscribed for will be considered new providing they are paid an equal term in advance. While it is the earnest desire of this paper to secure as many new readers as possible and a liberal number of votes is given, on both old and new subscriptions, a very careful check will be kept on all reports to ascertain whether they are really new or old subscribers.

Send In Your Reports

Candidates are urged to send in their subscription reports whether they have the desired number of subscriptions or not, as it is of extreme importance for each candidate's total to increase with each publication of the standing as friends who have subscribed will be on the lookout for the showing.

Candidates who have not as yet secured any of the mailing cards should call at the office, without delay, and get some. These cards explain the plan very clearly and if sent to friends whom you are unable to see in person will mean many thousand extra votes. It is quite important that subscription reports reach the office on Thursday, as the counting of the votes is done Thursday evening. The best plan is to call in person, as many little helps can be given and suggestions made that will assist in securing the needed votes.

GRAND MILITARY BALL

Several hundred tickets have already been sold at $3 each for the Reception and Ball, which will be held at the State Armory on Washington street, West Newton, Friday evening, March 3. It is conservatively estimated that at least one thousand people will attend.

The decorations will be elaborate and unique. One of the special features will be a great American Flag suspended at the head of the Armory Hall, behind the receiving line and so arranged that its folds will be electrically lighted as the flag waves gracefully in the breeze. The lighting of the flag will be flashed on as the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and others of the receiving line take their places at the opening of the evening's festivities.

WINS EASILY

N. H. S. Track Team Victor in Greater Boston Meet

The Newton High School track team showed the stuff it was made of at the Greater Boston Interscholastic Track meet held last Saturday afternoon at the Boston Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, by winning the meet with the fine total of 29 points, or 11 1-2 points more than its nearest rival, the English High school of Boston, in a field of thirteen teams.

The Newton boys won first place in the 50-yard run, the high jump and the hurdles, with second place in the 600-yard run, high jump, and shot put, and third place in the 1000-yard run, shot put and hurdles, and seventh place in time in the relay races.

Roberts was the best point winner for Newton, winning 13 points with first place in the hurdles and high jump and second in the shot put.

Charles Hayes won the fourth heat in the 50-yard dash in 6 seconds and in the finals won first place in 5 4-5 seconds.

Ray Adams won second place in the 600-yard run and Paul O'Brien won third in the 1000-yard event.

Roberts won first place in the high hurdles in 6 3-5 seconds, while Henry Pierce added another point by capturing third place in the same event.

Roberts and Pierce had it all their own way in the high jump tying each other at 5 ft. 6 in. Roberts being awarded first place on the toss, and Pierce second. Roberts also won second place in the shot put, with Philip Newell third.

In the team races, Newton failed to show much class, Woodworth and Adams not running against the English High school, and the team being easily outdistanced. The Midget relay team of Palmer, Walton, Parker and Dudley were also beaten by the Norwood Midgets.

Taken altogether, however, Coach Dickinson has every reason to be proud of the showing made by the young men under his care.

CLAFLIN CLUB BOYS' NIGHT

The Annual Boys' Night celebration of the Claflin Club, which was held Friday evening, was a great success. More than one hundred and thirty men and boys, members of the Club and their guests, assembled in the vestry of the Newtonville Methodist Church, where arrangements had been made for their entertainment.

A reception was held at six-thirty, and at quarter before seven, a turkey dinner was served by a committee of ladies under the chairmanship of Miss Caroline Gilman.

A delightful musical program was furnished by Stevens' Orchestra. Dr. Willard Scott made a short speech and Rev. John W. Laird of New Haven spoke very interestingly on "The Boy That Strikes Twelve."

SHORT MEETING

Aldermen Take Action in Many New Matters

While the meeting of the aldermen on Monday evening was only one hour long, several matters of considerable importance received attention, about $10,000 new appropriations were authorized and a $40,000 issue of water bonds ordered.

Aldermen Fitts, Harriman and Malcolm were absent when President Blanchard called to order and hearings were held on petition of the Edison Co. for one pole on Churchill street at which Mr. Gould appeared for the Company and remonstrances were read from J. B. Robson, J. L. Sibley and Mrs. F. M. Cook. At the hearing on petition of Joseph Deane to conduct a public garage at 2249 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, Messrs. Geo. B. S. Haddock, S. H. Smith and Mr. Deane appeared in favor and the permit was immediately granted. Mayor Childs sent in the reappointment of Vernon B. Swett as a member of the Planning Board and the nomination was immediately confirmed.

The mayor also recommended $1500 for the employment of an expert to study city departments, $300 for plans for enlarging the covered reservoir on Waban hill, $550 for purchase of a site for new fire station near Beacon street, Ward 5, notice of hearing March 2 at the State House on the liquor transportation bill, requests for $2000 additional for care of Snow and Ice, and for certain transfers in the Water Dept.

Notice was also received from the County Commissioners of proposed alteration of the railroad bridge at Beacon street, Waban. Petition of Edward Kelly for a wagon license was granted and other petitions received from Higgins et al for better lighting of Nonantum square, H. A. Travis for license to run a barge between Auburndale and West Newton and from the Telephone Co. for attachments on Newtonville avenue and Cotton streets.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

Interesting and Successful Meetings of the State Y. M. C. A.

The twenty-sixth annual conference of the Older Boys of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, held in this city on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, was the largest conference ever held in the history of the Association, 928 delegates and officers being present at the various meetings. The scope of the conference can best be expressed by enumerating the topics of the principal addresses at the more important meetings—"Manliness," "Loyalty," "Courage," "Honesty" and "Dependableness" to which can be added the inspiration and enthusiasm aroused by the meetings of the different sections on Y. M. C. A. work.

The delegates began to arrive on Friday morning and on reaching the Newton Y. M. C. A. building, registered, and were given an envelope containing a badge, programs, tickets, and an assignment of rooms. The Boy Scouts of Newton and Watertown were present and acted as guides to the various delegates in finding the quarters which had been assigned them.

The officers and Boy Scouts were kept busy all day Friday in this important work.

On Friday afternoon there was a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. assembly hall with a short organ recital by Mr. Wm. G. Hambleton followed by an address on "Manliness" by Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt of Portland, Me.

Following the opening exercises held at the Y. M. C. A. Building, the delegates and guests went to the State Armory at West Newton. It had been planned to march the entire distance, but the inclement weather made a quick change necessary and the local street railway was called upon to furnish transportation for seven hundred persons at the last moment.

The armory was attractively and architecturally decorated thru the instrumentality of Mayor Edwin O. Childs. The ceiling was filled with streamers of various colored bunting while the four walls were entirely covered with bunting and the national colors in various designs. A large picture of Washington filled the background of the stage, while back of the speakers' table were the words "Welcome to Newton" in large letters.

The various delegations were seated at separate tables, each with a hostess, and marked with a toy balloon bearing the name of the town, city, or county. The speakers and guests were seated at a long table to the right of the stage, the length of one side of the hall. As the boys found their tables, the cheering began, each delegation vying with the others in making the most noise or in creating the most unique cheer. The Pawtucket delegation easily took the lead in this respect, having a cheer leader who knew his job most thoroughly.

Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church, pronounced the blessing and after the word things on the tables had been taken care of, Mr. H. W. Gibson called to order and introduced Mr. F. O. Winslow as the toastmaster for the evening.

Mr. Winslow called attention to the significance of meeting in the armory, dedicated to patriotism, and to the contrast between our sense of peace, prosperity and gratitude and the millions of young men who were in scenes of war and bloodshed abroad. He asked for a pledge of loyalty to the flag, to

The experiment of employing an expert to investigate our city departments will be watched with considerable interest by many persons. Just how far our department heads have become wedded to certain methods of work, and how adaptable they may be to new ideas and improvements, the value of which must be problematical, will undoubtedly be determined by the report of the investigation. A great deal will depend upon the experience and all around efficiency of the person who shall be employed by the Mayor to conduct this investigation, for it needs a man of wide experience, considerable tact and a thorough knowledge of municipal work and the handicaps imposed by restrictive legislation.

The need of increasing the capacity of our covered reservoir on Waban Hill has been called to the attention of the city government for some years by Water Commissioner Whitney. The present reservoir will contain about 5,000,000 gallons, and as we frequently use over 4,500,000 a day during the hot days of summer, it is certainly the part of wisdom to provide for a greater storage capacity as soon as possible.

It is excellent judgment for the city to authorize the issue of sewer and water bonds, at the present time, in order to take advantage of the custom of purchasing tax exempt bonds before April 1st. The money will be needed for work during the summer and the premiums paid will help to reduce the rate of interest to be paid. City Treasurer Newhall is evidently onto his job.

The action of the aldermen Monday night indicates an attempt at least to move the Lower Falls Hose Company to a new site nearer the village of Waban and nearer the Newton Hospital. The plan is excellent, but there should be no concealed motive to retain the present location of the Hose Company in the village of Lower Falls.

FI-FI AT PLAYERS HALL

Rehearsals are now in progress for the presentation of "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop," a musical extravaganza to be given at Players Hall, Thursday and Friday evenings, March 9th and 10th, and Saturday afternoon, March 11th.

A unique entertainment is promised full of bright comedy, tuneful musical numbers and clever dancing. The varied groups for the dancing comprise little girls of six years, older boys and girls and young women, who are accomplished dancers. One hundred and fifty or more participate. The principal parts are taken by well-known Newton people. The production is under the direction of H. E. Munsey of New York, who brings special costumes and scenery for it.

AGAINST MOVING PICTURES

Newtonville Mass Meeting Takes Action On Proposed New Theatre

Less than one hundred persons were present at the public meeting held Wednesday evening in the hall of the Classical High School to discuss the matter of moving pictures in Newtonville. Mr. Albert M. Lyon presided and after the debate had closed, it was voted 79 to 2 against having any license granted for the operation of an amusement enterprise for commercial purposes where admission is charged and the chair was authorized to appoint a committee of three to wait on Mayor Childs on the matter.

Mr. Adams D. Clafin was the first speaker and explained the plans which had been drawn for a building of red brick, Colonial style with white marble trimmings in front, with careful attention paid to the heating and ventilation. The building was to be placed on Walnut street just north of Washington street, 10 feet back of the sidewalk and with 4 exits, and will seat about 1100. It was to be built by persons interested in Newtonville and would run only high class entertainment, and there might be a local committee appointed to make criticisms and suggestions. There are 100,000 persons directly tributary to Newtonville, it is the centre of the city and there is bound to be a great change in its character in the next ten years.

Miss Frost said:— There are just two possible excuses for movies in Newtonville; to give a better entertainment to the children than they are now getting in Newton, and to make it more convenient. We don't want it more convenient because the children would then attend constantly and habitual attendance at movies tends to destroy what little power of concentration they originally possess. At the movies a succession of mental images passes through the child's mind so swiftly that after the ordinary disconnected performance he has only a vague idea of what he has seen and it is a well established fact that constant emotional stimulus which results in neither thought nor action has a deteriorating effect upon the mind and a stultifying effect upon the morals. This is not merely a visionary theory. As school librarian I send out books to the schools to supplement the text books and to develop a wider appreciation of the best juvenile literature. The most intelligent use of such books is in Newton Centre where there is the smallest attendance at the movies, and the least intelligent use is in the sections of Newton where there is the greatest attendance at the movies. This is not due to the character of the population for in Newton Centre we have only a small nucleus of what are called the best educated people. The children from the less intelligent homes outnumber the others more than two to one.

It is not necessary to have movies in Newtonville to give the children a better show because from now on we are going to have at Newton on Thursday afternoons two performances, one at two and one at four, which will be as good as it is possible to get. These shows will be given through the co-operation of the Newton Opera House with a committee of the public library staff and public school teachers, the Stearns School Center and the Newton Social Science Club, but they cannot continue to be given unless they are sufficiently well supported to pay. We are fortunate in having the cordial co-operation of the managers of the Newton Opera House who are going to take their chances for the next month, but we cannot ask them to continue it after that time at a loss.

The aim is to give the children a juvenile show suited to their own development which will be sufficiently entertaining to hold their attention and at the same time develop their intellectual consciousness to an adequate appreciation of adult pictures and adult plays. As to the rest of the shows, you can get as good a show in Newton as you actively support and as it is possible to put on. Please remember that the films you want cost from $50 to $75 a night and you can't expect to have them put on unless you give them more support than words.

It is most important to consider the fact that the sort of show that you think you are going to get can't possibly be put on here in Newtonville and pay. The proposed theatre can not possibly be built for less than $100,000 and meet the requirements. The Allston theatre cost $125,000, the Fenway theatre cost $255,000 and the Strand theatre, Lynn, $500,000. Theatres cost money. The following are necessary items of expense and are a conservative estimate.

Running expenses $1000 a week	52,000
Depreciation 10 per cent of investment	10,000
Taxes	1,000
Liability Insurance	300
Fire Insurance	350
6 per cent interest on the investment	6,000
A profit of $9.50 on each show	6,000
	$75,650

That is, $75,650 has got to be taken in to make a profit of $9.50 a show. The estimate of $1000 a week for running expenses is really altogether too low, as it is based on the weekly expense account of a small theatre, in a nearby city, not Newton. This theatre seats only about half what the proposed Newtonville theatre is to seat, and the accounts, which I have looked over, show an average weekly cost of $808. Heat, light and all other expenses are much less than they are in the theatre in question and the films included are only very ordinary ones, costing an average of $200 a week. The films for just an ordinarily good show for a theatre such as the Newtonville one will cost $180 at least and this does not include the big feature films which are the ones you really expect which cost from $50 to $75 for a single night. Even on the $1000 basis, in order to earn $9.50 profit per show you must have an attendance in the afternoon of at least 755 at 10c and in the evening 1100 at 15c. The minimum number of people to keep this attendance up is twice this daily average, or 3710. If each one of these people came regularly three times a week, summer and winter, rain or shine, that is 150 times a year, you could just swing it. Of course you can't get any such regular attendance from any such number of people.

Now what are the resources to draw from? You can't expect many from Newton, because a theatre is already there. You can't get many from Newtonville because the people there are too much down on movies even to have a show run by their own playground committee, so they are not coming here in hordes. You can't get many from West Newton, because the people there shop in Waltham where there are five theatres and the people will for the most part go to the show where they shop. You must rely for practically all your support on Just Newtonville. Ward 2, which includes Newtonville and Nonantum, has according to the Massachusetts census of 1915, 7956 people. If you eliminate Nonantum, which is very thickly populated and which goes to Newton, but which would not come to Newtonville, you have 4500 people left in Newtonville to support your movie. When you count out 1000 old people and very young children you see that every man, woman and child of walking age in Newtonville must go to the movies three times a week, winter and summer. During two summer months you cannot fill the necessary 106,200 settings. Allowing fifteen or twenty thousand as a possibility you would still have to add between three and four hundred attendants for each winter day's performance to make up the summer, and who could they be? They would be the high school boys and girls who come from other parts of the city and are the last class that we want to convert into movie fans.

Either your theatre will fail or it must run a show of a cheaper quality than the surrounding theatres so as to draw the lowest crowd and lessen cost. The theatre would probably pass out of the original owner's hands and you would be in the position of the people in Watertown. The former owner of their theatre assured the people that he would not sell out to anyone who would not co-operate with them on a juvenile performance, but, nevertheless, that is what he did. The present owner will do nothing and the people are delighted at the prospect of being able to come to Newton for the sort of young people's show they want. You can't run two theatres as close as Newtonville and Newton and run them both on the highest level and make them pay. This can be done in a large city where there is a large permanent population as well as a large transient one, or in a summer resort with a large temporary population. You can run a small show in a small place and run it about as you please if the place is so isolated that the people have no other interests. You can not run two large commercial propositions in a place that has a small permanent population, no transient population, and from which the people have easy access to all sorts of other shows.

Prof. J. B. Taylor said in part: School teachers hold perhaps the same position as has been expressed by Miss Frost. The librarian has the interests of the children in mind the same as the educator. There is no special difficulty in obtaining desirable, suitable films for weekly presentation once or possibly twice a week for school children and I should be in favor of an educational and entertaining proposition to have such, but it seems impossible to expect such a thing to be profitable from a pecuniary standpoint. In the school where I do my daily demonstration we see moving pictures at least once a week and they are enjoyed by the faculty as well as the pupils, and we find them highly valuable, but we do not desire any more.

Mr. Irving O. Palmer said in part:— It has been my experience with the boy and girl, particularly the boy, who sometimes absent from school, upon asking him where he was on that day to receive the answer "in Boston." Almost invariably at the movies. There are two very definite reasons why I am against this proposition. There are at the present moment attending moving picture shows boys and girls who are paying dimes and nickels that they can ill afford and which their parents can ill afford. Money which should go for necessary things, such as food and clothing. The other reason is this, that the boys who begin to attend these pictures seem to get the "movie" fever and when once that disease has taken hold it is exceedingly difficult for school work or any other work to take hold and obsess the individual in question. The moving pictures place the boy in a receptive attitude, but they do not seem to develop in him concentration of mind and the habit of work, but they do seem to develop the loafing habit and that is something in which the Young America of today does not need instruction.

Mr. P. R. Ziegler said:— I have 3 children and I want to bring them up as easily as I can, so I should very much regret seeing moving pictures come in here although I recognize the value of pictures because I use them in my business. Everyone can see that there is such a thing as a moving picture habit and if we have it here right under our noses it would only encourage it in the children.

Mr. R. S. Bowen said:— I am going to take the other side of the argument because I think it is a mistake to assume that an enterprise of this sort is one that is primarily started for children. There are a good many adults who like to see the moving pictures and because a thing can be absurd is no reason why it should be prohibited. And whether it succeeds commercially or fails it seems to me is the business of the people who are putting the money into it. If they can take that risk we can take the risk of the class of shows provided and in the evening 1100 at 15c. The

Special Prize Offer Brings Out Voting Strength

The special prize of ten dollars in gold which was offered to the one candidate reporting the greatest amount of subscription business for the contest week, ending Thursday evening, Feb. 24th, was won by Harry S. Cowdrey of Abundant.

With the continuance of the Special Ballot certificate which will be in force until Thursday evening, March 2nd, another special prize offer will prevail.

For each Cash report of $15.00 a Special Ballot for 35000 votes will be issued. Each contestant may secure as many of these extra certificates as their energy will allow. This offer positively terminates on the date mentioned above. SPECIAL CASH PRIZE OFFER To each candidate reporting $30.00 in subscriptions by Thursday evening March 2nd a $2.50 Gold Piece will be given. There is no limit to the number of these offers one may realize upon. It is up to the candidates. The vote as it appears in the published standings has nothing to do with this special prize award. The time to hustle is NOW while the vote—values are large.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

The members of the Junior League of the Newton Methodist Church were delightfully entertained Tuesday at a Washington's Birthday Party by Mrs. George W. Barber, the superintendent of the League, at her residence on Newtonville avenue.

The rooms were decorated most attractively in the National colors, red, white and blue, with flags and bunting and in the dining-room, where supper was served, pink and white carnations were arranged on the table. The young people all wore old-fashioned costumes; Donald Cunningham was attired in a Colonial costume to represent George Washington, the Father of His Country, and Hazel Bell took the part of "Martha Washington," and these distinguished figures in History, received their guests from 5 until 8 o'clock and were assisted in receiving by General La Fayette, who was excellently portrayed there is a censorship agreed upon and as far as the children's morals are concerned if the parents cannot control the morals of the children, the schools cannot. I have 5 children and know what other children do. I also know that some of the bad boys of my generation are some of the best citizens of this generation and because a boy is not controlled is not a sign that he will not make a good citizen.

Rev. A. J. Muste said in part:—
I have changed my mind several times in regard to moving pictures. We are all agreed on two things, that moving pictures are not wicked in themselves and they present great possibilities and that there are real dangers presented with moving pictures so that they should be rigidly controlled by people who are not financially interested. Many films today are a cross between the old fashioned Sunday School story and the old fashioned dime novel and that people in whom the movie habit has been cultivated have the desire to be constantly amused.

Twice a day the school children will see the theatre, see the lights, hear the music, they would not be human if they did not want to go in. It is a very serious question whether, altogether irrespective of the kind of entertainment given, we desire to do anything, which would stimulate the movie habit. In this connection it is very interesting to note what effect this habit has on school children. According to statistics this result is found in two schools. In one school in the 5th grade, that out of 7 pupils who were regular attendants at moving picture shows, 1 was a good scholar, 3 fair and 3 poor. In another school in the 5th grade, out of 13 regular attendants there were no good scholars, 8 fair, 5 poor.

In the schools attended by pupils from the better class of homes there are very few who attend motion picture theatres. As you go down the line you find the pupils who attend the motion picture theatres. In a school here in Newtonville only 32 out of 300 are regular attendants, in the next grade 88 out of 300 are regular attendants while in the school for defendants at least 25 from the poor class attend the movies regularly. In a school in Nonantum from 35 to 40 per cent all the way up through the grades are regular attendants. That indicates that the pupils in these poorer homes demand a certain amount of stimulation in order to offset the kind of life they have. In other words, to them the motion picture theatres are what intoxicating liquors are to the men in these homes. So in the care of children you cannot simply suppress motion picture amusements, you must give the children something else. The Community Motion Picture Bureau in Boston, which aims to give high grade films, at the most does not promise that it can get you more than 2 shows a week of a high grade. The proposition which is made to us here is such that if we want a commercialized operated motion picture theatre we can get it now under the best possible auspices. If our children must go to the moving picture show I would rather see them go to one here run under our own auspices than to have them go to other places for their amusement, where we don't know just what they are getting.

Mr. Wm. Price said:—

I hope we will follow the example of Newton Centre. I do not believe that need a moving picture theatre here. I like the charm of the suburban atmosphere of Newtonville and I hope it will stay that way.

Mr. Bailey told of the action in Newton Centre and said:—

I am the father of a large family, with 2 children in the High School, and while I think they would obey my wishes I do not want to have them feel that they are under strict discipline, and what I wish for my own children I wish for all the other children. I think it would be a sorry day if a thing of that sort were placed here at the doors of this school.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Campbell said:—

I should like to call attention to the suggestion that the moving picture show would not be established especially for children and that it was not necessary to depend upon the children for attendance. I have the impression that an investigation of the attendance at Newton Corner would prove that the show there was very largely dependent for its income upon the children. I went down one afternoon and I was greatly surprised to discover that almost the entire audience was composed of school children, and while the real work is not morally it was of such a nature that it did not have a wholesome effect on the children, and I could discover from the applause that they rather gloated over the scenes which were depicted. They were not startled in the least, but rather entered into the spirit of the picture. So I think that the only question is the moral question.

The fact that this meeting is called shows grave doubt as to the propriety of the thing and if the moral question of the children is at stake we should not consider it for a minute.

Mrs. G. W. Auryansen said:—

My boy is being disturbed and his taste lowered by the habit of attending cheap shows. There are hundreds of children here in Newtonville, hundreds of perfectly good children. Are we going to see their tastes dissipated, their mentalities weakened and their moral ideals lowered? Shall we see these perfectly good children spoiled?

Mrs. F. F. Davidson said:—

I come from Abundant. We send our children here to school. We expect you to take good care of them as we would ourselves, therefore I very much hope that this plan will not be carried through.

X. H. S. ATHLETICS

Roberts represented the High School at the School Boy Meet held Tuesday at Lawrence and proved to be the individual star of the afternoon with three first places in the high jump (5 ft. 5 in.), 35 yard hurdles (5 1-2 s.), and shot put (42 ft. 6 in.), a total of 15 points, and landing Newton in third place. Roberts also won a place in the semi-finals of the 30 yard dash but was disqualified for false starts. Lowell won the meet with a score of 30 1-2 points.

Next Tuesday afternoon the meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Howard Chandler of Hancock avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Waltham of Centre street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Elisabeth, of Wellesley class of 1907, to Mr. George Horace Williams, Jr., of Langley road.

Next Sunday the Methodist Episcopal Church the service will be in charge of Dr. Perrin, President of the Deaconess Aid Society of Boston. Dr. Perrin will be welcomed to the pulpit by his many friends in this place.

—The home of Mr. William M. Noble at 35 Bracebridge road was damaged to the extent of $3000 by fire that started from an open fireplace Sunday. The blaze ate through a partition and made its way to the third story before it was discovered.

—Mr. Edward D. Reed, who had charge of the neckwear department for the Hawley, Folsom Company, died Tuesday at his home, 5 Oakwood terrace. His health began to fail last July, but he did not become seriously ill until two weeks ago. He was born in Cambridge, July 2, 1861, and after finishing in the schools of that city found employment with March Bros. & Pierce, a wholesale haberdashery concern that went out of business 15 or 16 years ago. He leaves a widow.

—Mrs. Lucetta Riley Smith, for more than forty years a resident of this village, died Sunday at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Charles B. Moore, at the age of eighty-six years.

Mrs. Smith, who was the widow of John Q. A. Smith, was born in Dover, N. H., the daughter of Captain John Riley, a sea captain and one of the founders of the First Church in Dover. Mrs. Smith leaves two daughters, Mrs. Charles B. Moore and Miss Constantia W. Smith, both of Newton Centre, and a son, Mr. Gilbert S. Smith of San Francisco. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, and the interment was at Dover, N. H.

—The Newton Centre Fortnightly Club was entertained on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Burton P. Gray. Mrs. Nellie Bakeman Donovan once more charmed the members with her experiences abroad. As last year, led by the Home Spirit, she had given them fascinating glimpses of home life in England, Italy and other countries.

—This year she followed the Wanderer Spirit through many lands. By her magical words and vivid descriptions the members were able to see the strange costumes, enjoy the merry holidays, marvel at the unique customs and come into touch with many interesting people. With the speaker they obtained new view points of life as it is lived across the sea. Mrs. Donovan made her descriptions more realistic by appearing in different costumes.

MR. ADAMS DEAD

Mr. John P. Adams, a watchmaker and dealer in diamonds in Boston for more than forty years, died Wednesday evening at his home on Grove street, Abundant, which had been the family home for many years. Mr. Adams was born in Ipswich sixty-eight years ago, and learned watchmaking in Newburyport. Early in life he came to Boston and established himself in State street, his quarters of late years having been at No. 40. In his leisure time Mr. Adams devoted his attention to literature and music, and in his earlier days was a member of several musical organizations. Mr. Adams is survived by a widow, who was Helen Todd of Newbury; three sons, Messrs. George Royal Adams of New York, John I. Adams and Harold W. Adams of Boston; and two daughters Miss Jennie H. Adams and Miss Grace K. Adams.

MOVING PICTURES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

The managers of the Newton Opera House should be commended vigorously for the performance put on Thursday afternoon for young people. I cannot see how the "movie" habit could be hurtful to anyone if material of such a nature should be secured regularly. In fact the child's educational opportunities would be considerably increased.

The behavior of the young audience, their interest and appreciation, were such as to make it a pleasure to adults to be present.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

Nothing seems in any way to dampen the enthusiasm of Boston audiences over "Daddy Long Legs," now current at the Hollis Street Theatre. No attraction brought out in years seems to have awakened the universal admiration that is being bestowed upon Miss Jean Webster's delightful comedy. "Daddy Long Legs" begins its sixth week Monday evening, and in spite of the fact that the run was once interrupted by the destruction of the Tremont Theatre stage and a lay-off of two weeks was necessary, business since its engagement at the Hollis has been altogether phenomenal. It is a Capital play, telling a fascinating story, and, above all, is beautifully acted. Matinees Wednesday and Saturdays.

MR. SPEARE DEAD

Newton Centre Resident Prominent in Business and Automobile Circles

Mr. Lewis R. Speare died early Wednesday morning at his home at 6 Summer street, Newton Centre. His death was not unexpected by those closest to him, for he had been ill for a couple of months with abdominal trouble. Some time ago he was operated on in a Boston hospital and a few weeks ago was taken home.

Mr. Speare was born in Boston, June 6, 1861, the second son of the late Hon. Alden Speare, the second Mayor of Newton.

After attending the public and high schools of Boston and Newton, Mr. Speare at the age of seventeen entered the Everett National Bank of Boston, taking a position a year later with the banking house of Kidder, Peabody & Co., in both of which institutions he received admirable training for the career he had chosen to follow. In 1880 he entered the service of which his father was the head, then known by the name of Speare, Gregory & Co., to which he was admitted a partner in 1882. In 1886 a special partnership was formed under the name of Alden Speare's Sons & Co., which continued until 1889, when the concern was incorporated and called The Alden Speare's Sons Company. On the death of his father in 1902 he was made president of this company, which office he held to the time of his death.

During the earlier part of his business career he brought about the organization of two important manufacturing industries, one for the production of emery, the other for the manufacture of starch, both of which enjoyed the distinction of being the largest of their kind in the country; the latter, the Huron Milling Company of Harbor Beach, Mich., which was a combination of the Crystal Springs Starch Company of Watertown, Mass., and J. Jenks & Co. of Harbor Beach, made him his first president, which office he held till 1905, being vice president till 1914.

In 1913 he organized the Economy Food Products Company of Cambridge, a corporation formed for the manufacture of food products, which he was made treasurer, and he was one of the chief organizers in 1914 of the Exolon Company, a corporation for the production of artificial abrasives of which he was president.

In addition to the above, Mr. Speare was for many years president of the Jackson Mills Emery Company of Easton, Pa., also of the Diamond Mills Emery Company of Philadelphia, and treasurer of the Blue Cornum Mining Company of Peabody, N. Y., which latter office he held at the time of his death. He also served as officer and director in many subsidiary corporations connected with the mill supply and abrasive product business.

He was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and for several years was vice president and director of the Home Market Club, his term as director expiring in 1916. In 1912 he was made a director of the Central Trust Company of Cambridge, to which city the headquarters of the Alden Speare's Sons Company was removed in 1911, and through his energies the New York and Chicago branches of the company were established.

In 1903 Mr. Speare was appointed by Governor Bates a trustee of the Westboro Insane Hospital, in which capacity he served until 1911. He was also an ex-president of the Clafin Guard Veteran Association, composed of former members of the military organization of that name with headquarters at Newton, and a member of the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the American Revolution.

Mr. Speare was one of the first men in the country to take up motoring. Like everything else he became interested in, he proved a dominant force.

He was one of the founders and first president of the Bay State Automobile Association of Boston, and one of the chief organizers of the Massachusetts State Automobile Association, holding the office of chairman of its legislative committee from its organization until 1911, after which time he was president. In 1909 he was elected president of the American Automobile Association (after filling out the unexpired term of President Hitchcock) and served till 1911. Since that time he had been one of the leaders in the affairs of the association and a continuous member of its executive board. During his term of president he founded the American Motorist, the official magazine of the association, which now enjoys a circulation of more than fifty thousand.

Mr. Speare was widely acquainted in business circles both in New England and throughout the country, and enjoyed close commercial relations with leaders in the oil industry, to which he devoted a large portion of his time and energy. He kept actively in touch with his associates and maintained membership in numerous clubs, among them the Algonquin, Art, Athletic, Brae-Burn, Engineers, Exchange Massachusetts Automobile and Boston Yacht clubs of Boston; the Automobile Club of America, Lotus and Hardware clubs of New York; and the Franklin Club of Franklin, Pa. His church affiliations were Methodist Episcopal, of which he was a member and trustee, belonging to the society at Newton Centre.

He married, Nov. 29, 1883, Edith Burgess, daughter of Rev. Wesley O. Holway, D.D., late retired chaplain U. S. N., and is survived by a widow, a daughter, Miss Caroline M. Speare, his mother, Mrs. Alden Speare of Newton Centre; a brother, Mr. E. Ray Speare, treasurer and general manager of the Alden Speare's Sons Company; and two sisters, Mrs. William E. Huntington of Newton Centre, and Mrs. William I. Haven of Summit, N. J. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at his late home on Summer street, Newton Centre, at two o'clock.

BAZAAR

Knights of Columbus Hold A Successful
 Three Days Fair

Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, held a successful three days' bazaar on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at Dennison Hall, Newtonville. The bazaar was opened Monday evening with an address by Mayor Edwin O. Childs, who commended the order for its excellent work, deplored the calumnies directed against the order by the ignorant and malicious and predicted that the activities of the Knights along educational lines would be productive of great good. He particularly commended Cardinal O'Connell's recent address at Louisville on the separation of Church and State and congratulated the Knights for their expressed intention of circulating the address to enlighten those not familiar with the real Catholic attitude on this matter.

Grand Knight James P. Gallagher of Newton Council extended the welcome of the Council and expressed its appreciation of the assistance rendered by the ladies in making the Bazaar a success.

The Garden City Comedy Four gave an excellent entertainment and there were vocal solos by Mr. William D. Kerr and Miss Nellie Sullivan with Miss Susan Kerr as accompanist.

On Tuesday afternoon there was a Punch and Judy Show for the children which was hugely enjoyed.

On Tuesday evening there was an address by Hon. John J. Mitchell, U. S. Marshal for this district, and he received an ovation. He commended the Knights for their aspirations to own their own home. Henry V. Basil, the magician, gave the entertainment that evening and there was a vocal solo by Mr. George E. Merrill.

On Wednesday evening there was an address by State Secretary Daniel J. Gallagher, who organized the Newton Council and served as its first Grand Knight. The entertainment consisted of a boxing exhibition by the Natick Whirlwinds, a violin solo by Miss Grace Garaway, accompanied by Miss Frances Garaway, a vocal solo by Wm. E. Murphy, accompanied by Miss Katherine Flanagan and selections by Messrs. Patrick McHugh and William Cavanaugh.

A substantial sum was realized from the sale of the articles in the various booths.

There were five booths, representing the various sections of the city, in charge of the following ladies: Newton, Mrs. James T. Burns; Newtonville, Mrs. John J. Downey; West Newton and Auburndale, Mrs. William H. Meehan; Newton Centre and Highlands, Miss Mary F. Turner; Newton Upper Falls, Miss Mary A. Kerrivan, and the Klondike table, Miss Beatrice Slattery. All of these booths were laden with an array which had been donated by the friends of the council.

Among the ladies assisting on the various booths were Mrs. James P. Gallagher, Mrs. John P. Hickey, Mrs. John F. Gallagher, Mrs. Thomas F. Delaney, Miss Mary Blakeney, Miss Annie Kivell, Miss Mary Cavanaugh, Miss Anna Muse, Miss Winifred Leonard, Miss Margaret Cotton, Mrs. John T. KEEPING BABY WELL MATTERS OF GREATEST INTEREST TO EVERY MOTHER.

Care of Infant in City Much Greater Than in Smaller Places—Welfare Societies Have Done Excellent Work.

(Prepared by the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.)

There is no doubt that the problems which arise in taking care of a baby in summer are more difficult for the city mother than for the one who lives in a village or in the country.

Overcrowded houses, lack of fresh air, of sunshine, and of open spaces for play and out-of-door life make very hard conditions under which to try to rear healthy children.

During the summer months in most of the larger cities there is an enormous increase in the number of sick babies, many of whom fail to survive this period. These well-known facts have led to the establishment all over the country of what are known as infant welfare and milk stations. These stations are rooms in charge of trained nurses and physicians, to which any mother who desires may bring her baby for help and advice in his care.

The object of these welfare stations is to keep the babies well, and to prevent illness by watching the babies closely and by teaching the mothers how to take care of them. If a baby is found to be sick the mother is referred to her own physician if she has one. If not, she is usually sent to a dispensary. The principal factor in keeping the baby well is to have him properly fed. Accordingly the physician who cares for the baby should direct this very carefully. If the mother has no physician, the station doctor will examine the baby and order a diet for him. The nurse will be glad to assist the mother in following out his directions, and will visit her in her home for this purpose.

These stations are sometimes maintained by the city and sometimes by a private society. The mother can find out the location of the station nearest her home from the papers, or by inquiring of the health officer.

The baby is weighed at each visit, and examined to see if he needs any special care. If so, the doctor explains this to the mother. The baby should be brought back to the station at regular intervals in order that the doctor and nurse can watch him. In this way much of the illness from which babies suffer can be prevented and mothers and babies spared a great deal of suffering.

The mother who is expecting the birth of a baby should go to the station about once a month during her pregnancy for advice about herself. The doctor and nurse will tell her what food is best for her to eat, how to take care of the breasts and nipples, and help her to prepare for the baby's coming in the best way.

If she is suffering from any ailment, such as vomiting, varicose veins, headache or swollen feet, she may learn what to do for these troubles, and if she desires to go to a hospital for the birth the station doctor will probably be able to arrange the matter for her.

After the baby is born and the mother is up again, she may, if she chooses, send word to the station nurse, who will come to see her, now and then, until the mother is able to take the baby to the station again. Mothers who are ill or worn out with the burdens of home, may find in a visit with the baby to such a station unexpected help in their problems. Some effort is made to teach mothers the rudiments of domestic science in the home, when this is needed.

Mothers especially who go out to work by the day, should try to send the baby to the station by a caretaker, for such babies need the welfare station's help even more than others.

If some member of the family is sick other than the baby and the baby is registered at the station, the nurses and doctors there will usually be able to advise her where and how to seek assistance.

These infant welfare stations are intended for the use of all mothers in the neighborhood who need help in the care of their babies, and no one needing it, should fail to avail herself of this opportunity.

Oil Cloth Table Mats.

Oil cloth table mats for the children will save many soiled table cloths. They can be made by taking either a square or an oblong of white linen, drawing threads and hemstitching all around. Sew on a back, making the finished article look very much like a pillow cover with one end open for the pillow. Into this slip a piece of oil cloth the size of the mat, and you will have a useful and attractive means of keeping the table neat. The child's initial embroidered in the center would add much to the beauty of the article.

Dried Bread Crumbs.

Dried bread crumbs absorb more liquid and, therefore, are better for a moist dish, but crumbs grated or crumbled from a fresh loaf take a lighter, more delicate color, and are better, therefore, for a very dainty dish.

To Keep Pies From Burning.

To prevent cakes, pies and other pastry from burning on the bottom sprinkle the bottom of the oven with fine, dry salt, and your cake or pie will bake perfectly.

A SHORT SESSION

On recommendation of committees, leave to withdraw was granted on petition for common victualler license from Grace J. Joyce, 1292 Boylston street, a taxicab license was granted the Newton Highlands Garage, a hearing assigned for March 6 on widening of River street, $1000 authorized for planting and care of water works land in Needham, $1500 authorized for employment of expert to investigate city departments, $550 authorized for purchase of site for new fire station, $2846 authorized for exchange of horses and purchase of equipment by Street Dept., $4000 authorized for purchase of new steam road roller, $300 authorized for plans for addition to covered reservoir, $40,000 water bonds authorized, $2000 additional voted for Snow and Ice, $318.40 authorized for laborers pension for Michael Fitzgerald, certain transfers authorized in water department appropriations, and city expenses for March granted. No action necessary was reported on matters of improvement to the Oak Hill school and relative to snow guards at the Emerson school. The resolve favoring Senate 76 relative to preferential voting at city elections in Newton was also passed without comment.

On the matter of employment of an expert to investigate city departments, Alderman Early said that in the present Street Commissioner and Water Commissioner, the city had men second to none in the state, but it had been felt for a long time that an expert examination of all departments engaged in outside work might be profitable to the city and that if work could be more economically done, it would mean that more work could be done, and that it was in the interests of the taxpayers to make an investigation as proposed. The board adjourned at 8.45 P. M.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

"In times of peace prepare for war." This is not an article on preparedness for war, of which there is so much being written and talked about at these serious times, but simply a suggestion that in these latter winter months one should find the time to plan out the garden which is to be started in the early spring. There are many books in the library on this subject. Some of these take up the subject in a general manner, dealing with both the vegetable and the flower garden. Among these general books may be mentioned "The Gardener," by Albaugh; "Manual of Gardening," by Bailey; "A year in my garden," by Verplanck; "The Gardeners' pocket manual," by Rockwell; and "The New Gardening," by Wright.

In the city of Newton, however, The Garden City, one would expect more use to be made of one branch of gardening, and that the flower side. This, therefore, is a list of such books as the library owns on this interesting subject. These are obtainable not only through the library in Newton, but also from all the branch libraries, one of which is located in each part of the city. Titles of these books follow: Flower gardening, by Adams (RIS.A211); these titles by Liberty Hyde Bailey; Garden making (RIS.B15); Horticulturist's rule-book (RIS.B15b); The nursery-book (RIS.B15n); Cyclopaedia of American horticulture (RIS.B); Yard and garden, by Baker (RIS.B17); $2,000 a year on fruits and flowers, by Barnard (RIS.B25); The flower garden, by Bennett (RIS.B43); The book of water gardening (RIS.B54); My garden in summer, by Bowles (RIS.B68); A history of gardening in England, by Cecil (RIS.C32); Gardening don'ts, by Chappell (RIS.C36); Picturesque English cottages and their doorway gardens; by Ditchfield (WIS.D63); The American flower garden, by Mrs. Doubleday, writing under the pseudonym of Nellie Blanchard (WED.D74); Mary's garden and how it grew by Frances Duncan (JRI.D91); Old time gardens, by Earle (RIS.E12); Pot-pourri from a Surrey garden, by Earle (RIS.E124); Making a garden of perennials, by Egan (RIS.E28); the following titles by Helena Rutherford Ely, Another hardy garden book (RIS.E52); The practical flower garden (RIS.E59); and A woman's hardy garden (RIS.E52); All plants and bog-plants, by Farrer (RIS.F24); Saturday in my garden by Farthing (RIS.F25); The book of the winter garden, by Fish (RIS.F52); Gardens old and new, the country house and the garden environment (WE.G16); Every woman's flower garden by Hampden (RIS.H18); How to make home and city beautiful, prepared to help those interested in making attractive homes and beautiful cities, by H. D. Hemmingsway (RIS.H37); Colour in the flower garden, by Jekyll (RIS.J38); The hardy flower book, by Jenkins (RIS.J41b); The garden book for young people by Alice Lounsbury (JRI.L33); Gardens near the sea, by the same author (RIS.L33g); American gardens, edited by Guy Lowell (WEL.L55); My growing garden, by J. Horace McFarland (RIS.M16); How to make a flower garden by Miller (RIS.M19); What England can teach us about gardening, illustrated by over 100 photographic plates, by Miller (RIS.M19w); Plant culture, by Oliver (RIS.O48); Four seasons in the garden by Rexford (RIS.R32b); and his Home floriculture (RIS.R32b); Parks, promenades and gardens of Paris by Robinson (WES.R56S); The garden month by month by Mrs. Sedgwick (RIS.S44); Continuous bloom in America by Louise Shelton (RIS.S54c); The seasons in a flower garden by the same author (RIS.S54); Making a garden to bloom this year by Grace Tabor (RIS.T11m); also her Old-fashioned gardening (WEL.T11o); her Suburban gardens (RIS.T11s); and the Garden primer (RIS.T11); The book of hardy flowers by Thomas (RIS.T3b); Our mountain garden by Mrs. Thomas (RIS.T366); Flower growing in English, Scotch and Irish gardens, with 56 sketches in colour by Waterfield (RIS.W29) and the following titles by W. P. Wright: The garden week by week throughout the year (RIS.W37e); The new gardening (RIS.W37n); Hardy perennials and herbaceous borders (RIS.W37h); The perfect garden (RIS.W37t); and Pictorial practical flower gardening, a concise guide dealing with laying out gardens, making lawns, beds and borders, rockwork, arches, etc. (RIS.W37t). The list next week will be on Vegetable and market gardening.

ALLIES' RELIEF

The members of the Newton South Allies' Relief Association are anticipating with pleasure the afternoon of Wednesday, March first, when an Auction Bridge and Afternoon Tea will be held at the Brae Burn Country Club, West Newton, in aid of the funds of that organization.

The President, Mrs. Guilford M. Stuart, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mrs. Charles E. Townsend and Mrs. Harry V. Barrett, Mrs. G. A. Pierce and Mrs. D. T. Kidder, with the assistance of sixteen other ladies, as purveyors, will preside over the Tea Rooms.

The candy is to be in charge of Mrs. Henry E. Williams, Miss Jessie M. Stuart and Miss Eugenia Brown.

There will be a souvenir presented at each one of the seventy-eight tables. Those who have been too late to procure tickets for the Bridge will be at the Tea, and spend a social hour, so it is expected that the affair will be as great a success socially as it has already proved to be financially.

OLDE FOLKS CONCERT

Miss Ruth Garland, ye fine reader from Boston Towne, will speak some pieces at Ye "Olde Folks Concert" to be given in the Lincoln Park Baptist Meeting house, West Newton, on next Thursday evening, at which time a chorus of fifty and orchestra of ten, together with the big organ and "ew-fangled spinnet, all under the direction of Tobadonijah Travis, will render the songs our fathers sang in the days of "Auld Lang Syne," together with some widdie pieces. Ye latches string of ye door will be hung out at 7 o'clock and ye soundings of ye musick shall begin at 7:30 by ye clock, or jutt after chore tyme.

AILMENTS OF BABIES

MANY OF THEM ARE EASILY PREVENTABLE.

Mother, by Wise Management, May Do Away With a Great Deal of the Troubles Which So Frequently Affect the Little Ones.

(Prepared by the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.)

It is no doubt true, many times, that a fretful, unhappy baby is made so quite unnecessarily, and instead of rocking or patting him, or walking up and down with him in her arms, or possibly giving him a dose of medicine to quiet him, the mother should seek the cause of his discomfort and remove it.

It may be that the baby is thirsty. There is no doubt that babies frequently suffer from thirst. It is necessary, particularly in summer, to give plenty of drinking water to all children who are too young to get it for themselves. A drink of water will often satisfy a fretful baby and sometimes it is all that is needed to send a restless one off into quiet sleep.

One of the most frequent sources of misery for the baby is found in his clothing, especially in hot weather, when any clothing is a burden to him to wear. So many babies are over-dressed that it is no wonder they fret. Compelled to wear woolen underwear, knitted socks, stiffly starched caps and dresses it is only natural that they should protest vigorously. Neither wool nor starch has any place in the clothing of the baby in hot weather.

One of the troubles from which a baby often suffers is prickly heat. This ailment appears as a fine red rash usually on the neck and shoulders and gradually spreads to the head, face and arms. It is caused by overheating, due either to hot weather or to the fact that the baby is too warmly dressed. The rash comes and goes with the heat, and causes intense itching. The remedy for it is to take off all the clothing and give the baby a sponge bath in tepid water in which common baking soda has been dissolved. Use one tablespoonful of soda to two quarts of water. Use no soap, and do not rub the skin, but pat it dry with a soft towel. After the skin is thoroughly dry, dust the inflamed surfaces with a plain talcum powder.

This ailment, like all others, is more readily prevented than cured. Frequent cool baths, very little clothing, simple food and living in cool rooms, or in the open air will probably save the summer baby from much of the annoyance of prickly heat and other more serious ills.

Fat babies are very apt to suffer from chafing, especially in hot weather. It appears as a redness of the skin in the buttocks or in the armpits, or wherever two skin surfaces persistently rub together.

Much the same treatment is required as in prickly heat. Never use soap on an inflamed skin. Instead use a soda, bran or starch bath, as advised in a former article. Directions for these baths are given in a publication called "Infant Care," which can be had, free of charge, by addressing a request to the Chief of the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

Great care should be taken not to let the baby scratch the skin, when it is irritated. Sift together two parts powdered cornstarch and one part boric acid, and use it freely on the chafed parts. Remove wet or soiled diapers at once. Wash and dry the flesh thoroughly, then dust the powder freely between the legs.

Milk Biscuits.

Required, one gill (one-fourth pint) of milk, one ounce of butter, one-half pound of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Put the milk in a saucepan, add butter, and put it on the fire to warm. Put one-half pound of flour into a basin, with one teaspoonful of baking powder. When the milk is hot pour in the flour, and stir into a smooth paste; roll out very thin, and cut out with a tumbler floured at the top. Grease a tin and place biscuits in the oven to bake for 20 minutes.

Rice Croquettes.

One-half cupful well washed rice cooked in one pint milk in double boiler till absorbed; add two table-spoonfuls sugar, one table-spoonful butter, a bit of grated lemon and two well-beaten eggs; mix thoroughly and spread on a plate to cool; shape with a knife, dip in beaten eggs, then crumbs, and fry in deep hot fat. Particularly nice with roast beef.

Spice Cake.

One cupful of sugar, one table-spoonful of butter or lard, one cupful of sour milk, one cupful of raisins, one table-spoonful of soda, two cupfuls flour, a pinch of salt if you use lard, one tea-spoonful of cinnamon and one-half tea-spoonful of cloves; mix in the order given and this cake will keep moist for a long time.

When Fruit is Too Acid.

When cooking sour fruit, add a pinch of carbonate of soda to the pulce, it will not then need so much sugar for sweetening.

Tarts and Pies.

Some of the best cooks bake only the crust of tarts and fruit pies, putting in the filling of cooked fruit when cold.

To Remove Starch Stains.

Wet the scorched places, rub with soap and bleach in the sun.

NEWTON DOLLAR FUND

The following acknowledgement of the first large payment from this fund will interest all donors:

My Dear Mr. Wilcox:— I write to ask if you would be kind enough to convey to the Newton Dollar Fund Committee our most grateful thanks for their very generous additional contribution of $1000 and for all their interest and efforts on our behalf. It is difficult for me to express adequately how deeply we appreciate the wonderful help it means to us in our task of trying to alleviate as much as possible of the terrible suffering which exists in France today.

With the sincerest thanks of our Committee, I am,

Very truly yours,

Edith Bangs, Chairman.

Since receipt of this letter, additional payments have brought the total contribution up to $2000, and the money is still coming in.

H. H. Wilcox, Secretary.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE — Monday will bring the beginning of the fourth and last week of "Between the Lines," the Harvard Prize Play. Everybody commended by everybody for its breezy scenes and incidents, for its diversified characters, and for its wholesome plot, it has been praised highly as one of the best and most appealing of the current season. The fact that all the Craig Players, including John Craig and Mary Young, are in the cast, has also added to its popularity. Following "Between the Lines" a week from Monday will be acted at the Castle Square "Under Cover," the play that ran more than a season in New York, and that has been widely praised as the very best of the modern plays that mystify an audience from start to finish.

MAJESTIC THEATRE — Monday night will witness the opening of the third week of William Hodge's latest success, "Fixing Sister," at the Majestic, where he is playing to capacity audiences and delighting them with his "comedy of cheerfulness." Uproarious laughter and enthusiastic applause have welcomed this popular favorite in the two weeks that he has presented his new creation of John Otis, the Missouri who "has to be shown" and who is engaged in the work of rescuing his society infatuated sister from the clutches of foreign titled fortune hunters. Following up his two previous successes of Daniel Voorhees Pike in Booth Tarkington's "The Man from Home" which brought to Mr. Hodge such fame and fortune, and his later achievement, that of young Jim Whitman in "The Road to Happiness," "Fixing Sister" appears to be as pronounced a success as either of the other two offerings. In "Fixing Sister," Hodge has scored a triumph seldom achieved by actors who have made one immense hit. His signal successes in "The Man from Home" and "The Road to Happiness" are now being supplanted by a foot-light achievement equally as brilliant and equally as delightful.

WILBUR THEATRE—Cohan and Harris, who have the knack of things in the theatre, are making good their promise that their latest farce "It Pays to Advertise," is brimful of good things—bright dialogue, clever dissertation, amusing byplay and invention. "It Pays to Advertise" will begin its tenth record-breaking week at Ye Wilbur Theatre next Monday evening, Feb. 28th. The company that is appearing in Boston is the original one direct from a six months' run at Geo. M. Cohan's Grand Opera House, where they have been playing since August last. Before that the piece was presented for 52 weeks at the Geo. M. Cohan Theatre in New York. The first business man may forget his troubles in viewing "It Pays to Advertise," for aside from its entertaining qualities, the play presents what might be termed in good business philosophy, or perhaps for those who don't believe in printer's ink, good advertising philosophy.

a spirit of patriotism and to the principles which animated Washington, first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

The East Northfield quartet then sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" and gave an encore in response to the enthusiastic applause they received.

Mayor Childs welcomed the conference to the city as the mayor and as one of the original members of the Boys' Department of the Newton Y. M. C. A. He called attention to the original name of "Nonantum," which was the Indian for "a place of rejoicing and brotherly love." He did not believe that the strength of a city lay in its schools, its labors or its patriotism, but in the character of its citizens. He did not fear the hyphenated American for he lived among them, but he did fear the snob, the brute and the bigot in our native stock. He eulogized the Y. M. C. A. as a developer of men—Christian gentlemen being its finished product.

Rev. Edward M. Noyes, D.D., pastor of the First Church at Newton Centre, greeted the boys in behalf of the clergy, and said we don't see boys enough in the church, and this conference was a refreshing sight. He believed in the future and saw in the gathering before him many future leaders—men of character—and men who should enter the ministry as the most noble profession in life.

Mr. Charles D. Kepner, president of the Newton Y. M. C. A., welcomed the delegates in behalf of the Association, asking them to feel at home. He asked the boys to take the card containing "A Boy's Prayer" written by Mr. S. M. Sayford, and which had been placed at each plate, as a thought of the conference which might last.

Mr. Donald S. Moore welcomed the conference in behalf of the boys by saying that individual enthusiasm was what counted and we want you all to be enthusiastic, and do Newton as much good as the conference does for you.

Mr. Rufus H. Bond, president of the conference, responded to the words of welcome, by saying that every conference had been a success although each conference had differed somewhat from the others. There had been one constant feature, the desire to make young men better and to teach them the right path. He told the boys that they would have many opportunities to show what they were made of, but we have to keep going to maintain our record.

The officers of the conference were then announced by Mr. Gibson as follows: President, Kenneth S. Dale of Gloucester; First Vice-President, Donald S. Moore of Newton; Second Vice-President, Alexander Edwards of Newport, R. I.; Secretary, J. Hilton Washburn of Lowell; Assistant Secretary, Harold S. Haskell of Lawrence.

Three hearty cheers were then given for the ladies, the balloons were allowed to float to the top of the room and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure of Grace Church, Newton.

The service was in charge of Miss Emma Page and Mrs. H. W. Bascom assisted by Miss Childs, Miss Lathe, Miss Kendrick, Miss Drake, Miss Partridge, Mrs. S. R. Smith, Mrs. S. P. Moore, Mrs. Thomas West, Mrs. G. W. Hatch and Mrs. D. W. Anders.

The ladies acting as hostesses at the various tables included Miss Elizabeth Angier, Mrs. Ella T. Bartlett, Mrs. George S. Butters, Miss Mary S. Barbour, Mrs. Frank O. Barber, Mrs. Geo. W. Barber, Mrs. H. M. Bacon, Mrs. Wm. F. Bacon, Mrs. Harry Beal, Mrs. J. Wm. Blaisdell, Mrs. C. B. Conn, Mrs. F. W. Chase, Mrs. H. A. Cornelius, Mrs. A. I. Dennett, Mrs. F. A. Day, Mrs. F. F. Davidson, Mrs. S. E. Forsyth, Mrs. J. P. B. Fiske, Mrs. E. E. Forsyth, Mrs. A. W. Fuller, Mrs. H. L. Goodman, Mrs. F. W. Ganse, Mrs. H. Everett Gratto, Mrs. H. R. Chamberlin, Mrs. George S. Butler, Mrs. Edgar Horne, Mrs. Ernest Hall, Mrs. Harry Lutz, Mrs. A. E. K. Jones, Mrs. Harry Lutz, Mrs. A. M. Lyon, Mrs. T. A. Lucas, Mrs. J. T. Johnston, Mrs. A. B. Munroe, Mrs. J. W. Messenger, Mrs. J. F. McNamara, Mrs. Laurens MacLure, Mrs. L. E. Moore, Mrs. I. O. Palmer, Mrs. H. G. Person, Mrs. H. C. Philbrick, Mrs. G. W. St. Amant, Mrs. F. S. Sawyer, Mrs. W. G. Starkweather, Mrs. A. D. Salinger, Mrs. W. L. Sampson, Miss Josephine French, Mrs. I. U. Townsend, Mrs. A. M. Teulon, Mrs. I. W. McConnell, Mrs. W. B. Wolcott, Mrs. C. H. Woodworth, Mrs. R. O. Walter of this City, and Mrs. Otto Bachmann, Mrs. H. P. Bout, Mrs. Hiram McGaughlin, Mrs. J. W. Stone, Mrs. John Vivien and Mrs. Chas. Worth of Watertown.

The success of the affair was largely due to the work of the Banquet committee, Miss Emma Page, Mrs. H. M. Bacon and Mrs. C. D. Kepner.

Friday evening the Conference opened at Eliot Church with an organ recital by Mr. Hambleton, an introduction of the Conference officers, and an address on "Loyalty" by Rev. Warren F. Cook of New Britain, Conn.

The feature of this meeting was the presentation to the Lowell Y. M. C. A. of the efficiency shield for the best work done during the past year. The presentation was made by Mr. F. O. Winslow, chairman state Boys Work Committee.

A new feature of the Conference was the personal interviews held early Saturday morning and late Saturday afternoon, 50 college men giving their personal attention to those individual members of the Conference who wished to talk with them and have their advice on personal matters.

The sectional conferences were held at Eliot Church Saturday morning and covered the following subjects:

Bible Study—John H. Piper, Worcester, presiding, "Daily Bible Reading," Alfred H. Fletcher, Lowell; "Organized Bible Study Clubs," C. Stuart Robertson, Taunton; "Bible Study in Camps," Austin Kemp, Lawrence; "Teacher Training Classes," Leslie Fletcher, Providence.

Church Work—Paul W. Garrett, Springfield, presiding, "Attendance at Sunday Services," Paul Sanderson, Springfield; "Uniting with the Church," Harold Martin, Holyoke; "Service versus Services," J. Clinton Johnson, Lynn.

Sunday School Activities—S. W. Starquist, Woonsocket, presiding, "Sunday School Boys' Conferences," Stewart Ames, North Attleboro; "Teaching a Boys' Class," Alexander Edwards, Newport; "Organized Boys' Clubs," Kenneth S. Dale, Gloucester.

Summer Plans—W. H. Sears, Pittsfield, presiding, "The Wantonist Club," Harold O. Bixby, Arlington; "Hiking and Overnight Camps," Henry Adams, Dalton; "The Summer Camp," Emory N. Cleaves, Newburyport.

State Boys' Day—H. B. Elmer, Providence, presiding, "A Survey of What has been Done," Arthur Thompson, Lowell; "The Real Value of the Day," Waldo H. Shipton, Pittsfield; "How We Raised $1000 in Providence," Frank Robbins, Providence; "How to Observe March 18, 1916," George Lapchianjian, Pawtucket.

Boys of Other Lands—Edwin W. Peirce, Boston, presiding, "The 24 Hour a Day Club," John Hancock Willis, Boston; "Mission Study Class," Herbert Elden MacCombie, Brockton.

Physical Work—William Macpherson, Newton, presiding, "Demonstration of Life Saving and Crew Work in Tank," Russell Keith, Worcester; "Leaders' Corps in Gymnasium," Herbert Whittemore, Attleboro.

Membership Loyalty—H. S. Gott, Boston, presiding, "Inter-Association Activities," Henry M. Hayden, Malden; "Supporting Organized Clubs," Charles H. Downs, Everett; "The H. O. F. Club," Lincoln Beale, Winthrop.

Community Work—C. E. Winchell, Cambridge, presiding, "College Deputation Conference," Robert Higley, Cambridge; "Father and Son Suppers," Herbert Smith, Fall River; "Mother and Son Suppers," Willis G. Symonds, Beverly; "Parents' Meetings," Carryl Batcheller, Worcester.

Association Work as a Life Work—E. W. Hearn, State Secretary, presiding, "The Need of Secretaries," L. H. Glee, Providence; "Qualifications for the Secretaryship," A. B. Nichols, Boston; "Preparation for the Secretaryship," C. C. Chase, Cambridge.

These conferences closed at 11:10 and were followed by an address on "Service" by James A. Whitmore of New York city.

The Saturday afternoon meeting at Eliot Church included organ music by Mr. E. E. Truette and an address on "Others" by Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury of Boston, Field Secretary of the American Missionary Association.

The Saturday night meeting brought out a large audience to hear addresses on the theme "Honesty," by several well known college men. There was organ music by Mr. Truette and Mr. C. P. Shedd was the leader.

Mr. Norman S. Taber, Brown '13, talked on Honesty in "Track Athletics," Mr. Stanley B. Pennock, Harvard '15, on "Honesty in Football," Mr. Henry W. Johnston, Yale '16, on "Honesty in Class room," Mr. J. Seelye Bixler, Amherst '16, on "Honesty in Friendships" and Mr. W. J. Beadle, M. I. T. '17, on "Honesty in Leadership."

Mr. Taber said in part:

I have wondered whether you wanted to listen to someone preach about ideals or whether you would rather have someone tell you some real facts. Sometimes ideals seem like beautiful gold in the distance that shines and twinkles and yet doesn't seem real. I believe you want to hear something real and concrete. The question comes—can we make ideals and concrete things come together? First of all I want to emphasize the point that the mental side is just as important as the physical side and more and more it is coming to be recognized. First, honesty between the coach and the athlete, and I say, from experience, that the coach's confidence and the confidence in the coach are two important factors in the determination of races. Now honesty between the athlete and the organization which he represents. The Olympic team of 150 athletes in 1912 gathered in New York prior to sailing and they were given a few instructions. We were to represent our own country, but more than that our actions would be taken as the actions of typical Americans, and therefore, it was our duty and pride to conduct ourselves in a way to do credit to our country.

The same is true of everyone of you athletes here who goes out and represents his school or college. You must be honest to the institution you represent. Honesty between the athlete and between his fellow athletes is closely allied with honesty between the athlete and his own conscience. Let us take a few concrete examples. Right now is the indoor track season. Time and time again you find men taking unfair advantages and getting by with it, as they say. That is not honest with the men who are running against you and if you think it over you cannot call it honest with your own conscience. If you win the race with unfair advantage, you will wish a thousand times afterwards that you had lost it, and in my mind the most important thing on this topic, you want to know that you are doing what is right and you can stand up afterwards and say that you did it fairly.

Let me tell you here that the thing that will count more than anything else is to have someone come up to you afterwards and tell you that they admire your athletic ability, but they admire more the way in which you won or lost. You will value it much more than any of your great victories. You want to go into athletics for the sake of the sport and not for any gain you may get. Be honest with yourself, be honest with your coach, and have your coach honest with you, then be honest with the institution you represent, and finally be honest with the athletes with whom you are competing.

Mr. Pennock said in part:

I hope all of you fellows realize from a physical standpoint the advantage of good training. Do a little more training than the coach actually demands, not only train, if you are playing football, for two months in the fall, but keep in shape all the year around, save your strength in every way. Now when you make a football team you are a picked man. The college has picked you because you are a man who has measured up to its standards. The college coach and your team know you are a man who can come through when he must. It is up to you to keep yourself in every way ready to discharge that duty and live up to that trust. Any fellow knows what it is to be in good condition and play and to be in poor condition and try to play. Most of the athletes have to train. There are very few that are so gifted by nature that they can enter into athletics without training.

The second topic is the honesty in your daily practice. Where the work counts is the every day plugging and it is a mistaken idea that athletes come to college as stars and the college has just developed them further. I have seen fellows go out and work along, perhaps three years before they make the team, and that is the type of man that the coaches like to meet. It finally comes to honesty in your play on the field. Some of you have played football against fellows who had a mean idea of football, that the main thing was to go out and get your man—hit him a crack every once in a while. If you have not played in some sort of a game where there was a certain amount of dirty play you cannot appreciate what rotten sport it is. One of the main reasons we go into athletics is to get some fun out of it. If you're trying to play clean football you haven't got time to think about playing dirty. Keep that in mind and you will never have time to play dirty football. Don't be afraid to get up and tell the fellow that tells you to play dirty football that he doesn't know what he is talking about.

If you go into athletics in college try to remember the importance of your training, realize that by faithful work you can accomplish almost anything, given half a chance, and remember that when you get into the game there is only one way to play it and that is cleanly.

Mr. Johnston said in part:

I am a thorough believer in athletics, but at the same time I think that we are not always sure of getting first things first, and after all what we are in school and college for is to train our minds. I think that in this case we can get a little help from Christ's life, and you remember in the verses in Luke which goes, "And these increased in wisdom and stature." Notice the order—increased in wisdom and stature. I think we want to bear that in mind. We are preparing for life and we want to get first things first.

In the classroom honesty falls into two divisions. The first is the fellow who asks for help. He is a coward, he is selfish and he is a tempter, asking somebody else to do something dishonest. On the other side is the fellow who is asked. I think the reasons why he gives the information is first, because he is a coward, and afraid the fellow will think less of him. Another reason is sympathy, but not the right sort of sympathy. You must stand up for your own rights and his rights. And the third reason is love. You tell the fellow because he is your friend, because you like him. But is that real love? Are you really helping him out? Isn't it better if you help him to stand on his own feet. Love isn't a weak pliable thing. You must use some determination and grit. You have got to refuse as well as to give sometimes. It is funny to see the various honor codes that you run into various places. For instance, if a teacher is out of the room a fellow won't think of cheating, but if the teacher is there he thinks it is right for him to cheat. A true Christian gentleman does not need any system to be honorable—he is on his honor all the time.

We are all leaders, we have ourselves to lead first of all and no matter how insignificant we may seem there are other fellows that are looking to us and are going to be guided by what we do and we want to remember that we are preparing for life and the way we prepare is the way we are going to work and the way we are going to live in after life.

Mr. Bixler said in part:

Friendship is a two-sided affair; your side and the side of the other fellow. Honesty in friendships, therefore, must mean first, honesty to oneself and honesty to the other fellow. Following out that idea it is easy to see that honesty to oneself must mean honesty in the selection of one's friends while honesty to the other fellow means honesty in the friendly relations after that friendship has been started. At college you will meet two classes of men, those who have ideals or convictions, and who live up to those ideals and beliefs, and men who have those ideas of living which according to our standards are low, bare and mean. A Freshman coming into college must choose from which class he will have his friends and this brings up the matter of influence. You may not know a great deal about what your influence has been upon the other man, but you know just how much easier it has been to do a thing because the other fellow has done it. Don't you see how extremely important, then, it is for a fellow when he makes this choice to be absolutely honest and square with himself as to what he is doing?

Consider this other proposition of honesty in relation to friendship after the friendship has been made. If you stop to think of friendship, could you imagine one that did not have honesty as its basis?

There is a great fraternity which has as its motto "Honesty is the basis of friendship," and the members of that fraternity, when they see another member making a mistake, are required to go tell him about it. If they are good members they do live up to it, and the members believe they have grasped the truth of what friendship is. I suppose that if there is one sort of fellow that is despised at Amherst it is the four-flusher, the hypocrite, the man who is merely a sinner and makes himself out to be a saint or the other way round, the man who is a pretender.

If we study the life of Christ at all these two things stand out very clearly. If we can combine these two great ideals for which Christ stood, the ideal of honesty and the ideal of friendship we have gone a long way towards being Christians.

Mr. Beadle said in part:—

Several years ago when I was still in the grades my brother, together with a number of his friends, organized a base ball team. I cannot say it was a base ball nine because four of us were the only players. We came to the proposition of electing a captain. Each one of us was afraid that the other fellow would have too much honor. We were selfish. Finally, we reached an agreement, which was to establish four offices so that each of us could have an office. How different from that is the illustration which occurred at Yale a few years ago. It seems that the crew captain realized that there was a better man in college for his place than he. I will not say that he gave up his place but he realized that the best interests of his college meant that he should give up his place to the better man, so he stepped aside and gave his place to the better man.

So if we are going to be great leaders we must realize that we cannot be real true leaders unless we go into everything we undertake unselfishly. Then there is something else demanded of us. We must live up to what we believe to be right. We must be loyal to the best that is in us, loyal to our ideals. You will find that in every case a man has become a leader because he has become so because he is not afraid to be loyal to the best that is in him. Each one of us is influencing someone else, so it is up to us to watch what kind of leadership we are giving. We are all hoping to be leaders in a larger sense sometime in the future. What does that mean to us now? It means that we must watch all the opportunities we have now. We must watch these little things and not let anything come into our lives which will not make us the best sort of leaders later on.

Scientists say we cannot afford to have bridges with weak spots, nor can we have bridge engineers with weak spots. So I think it is up to you and me now to watch out for these little things in our lives to be sure that there will not be any weak spots in our lives in the leaders we hope to be.

The best game a man can play with his life is to use it as a tool, to do work with, to keep it at its brightest and keenest for the sake of this work. We must remember first of all, that we must be careful of the little things in our lives now, these small opportunities, so that when the big opportunities come there won't be any weak spots and the most important thing of all, is that we must not be afraid to be loyal to the best that is in us.

Sunday morning the delegates attended the various churches in the city with their hosts, all the pastors in the city speaking on themes of interest to young men in honor of the occasion. In addition there were a few special addresses. Mr. E. W. Hearne, the state secretary, speaking at Emmanuel Baptist Church, Mr. A. D. Booth, the field secretary, at the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, Dr. George W. Tupper of the industrial department at the Auburndale Congregational Church, and Mr. A. B. The religious faith of the delegates were as follows, 257 Congregationalists, 130 Baptists, 111 Methodists, 45 Episcopalians, 11 Unitarians, 7 Swedenborgians, 14 Presbyterians, 2 Friends, 2 Second Advent, 10 Catholic, and 5 Christian Science.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Conference:

In behalf of the leaders and delegates represented, we desire to express our appreciation and thanks to those who have made possible the success of the Conference:

Therefore, be it resolved: That we express our profound appreciation of the royal welcome and general hospitality of the people as shown in their great courtesy, and particularly in the gracious hospitality tendered by His Honor the Mayor, Edwin O. Childs, through the officers and members of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, and their assistants who have worked so untriflingly to make this occasion a success:

To the churches and pastors of the city that have tendered the hospitality of their houses of worship to the members of the Conference;

To the Chairman and Members of the Hospitality Committee who have opened their homes to us and made so pleasant our entertainment while in Newton;

To the speakers and college men who have given us freely of their time and energy;

To the dormitory men of the Newton Association who gave up their rooms at considerable sacrifice that some hundreds of boys might have personal interviews with Christian college men on life's problems;

And those who have furnished the music and inspiration for our singing;

To the pastors and members of the Eliot Congregational Church, through whose courtesy our meeting has been so comfortably housed;

To those who have so wisely framed and guided the program;

To the newspapers for their careful records of the proceedings;

And to all those who have in any way worked and prayed to make the Conference a success;

Resolved that we express our thankfulness to God for his many blessings, inspirations, and decisions that have come into our lives and given us a new and added responsibility, which shall lead us to a stronger, humbler faith and greater loyalty through our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ.

Robert Higley, Chairman.

CENTRAL CLUB BOYS' NIGHT

There was an attendance of 160 men and boys, members of Central Club and their guests, at the Annual Boys' night celebration on Monday evening in the parlors of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

Mr. Edward C. Wyatt, president of the Club, presided and dinner was served at six-thirty, under the direction of the Entertainment Committee.

The speakers included Mr. W. Huston Lillard of Phillips Exeter Academy, Andover, and Rev. John F. Brant, D. D., of Newtonville.

Mr. Lillard spoke of the "Slacker" in war, and in daily life, introducing some exceedingly interesting illustrations from German, English and American history.

Dr. Brant, who is a keen sportsman, told many entertaining incidents of his hunting trips in Ohio, Northern Michigan, in the Adirondack Mountains and on the Atlantic Coast, which were greatly enjoyed by all present.

Two moving picture films were shown on the screen by Mr. Percy F. Williams, the secretary of the Club. The films were provided by Mr. Frederick J. Fessenden, of the Fessenden School.

A delightful musical program was furnished by the Christian Endeavor Orchestra of the Newtonville Methodist Church, and the selections which were remarkably well played, were repeatedly encored.

A number of new members were added to Central Club, and the membership has now reached the 200 mark.

SILVER TEA

The Missionary Department of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Messiah, held a Silver Tea on Thursday afternoon from three-thirty until five-thirty, at the residence of the chairman, Mrs. George W. St. Amant, on Hawthorne avenue, Auburndale.

The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Harry Beal, president of the Guild, Mrs. Manley W. Adams, vice-chairman of the Missionary Department of the Guild, Mrs. Albert Mann, the secretary, Mrs. George Pond, the treasurer, and Mrs. M. E. Beardsley.

The dining-room was decorated attractively with yellow daffodils and potted plants, and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Dunlop and Mrs. Severy. The ladies who poured were Mrs. W. W. Heckman, Mrs. George Pond and Miss Washburn. Miss Hills, of the Leiberheim School of Music, sang most charmingly, three groups of songs with pianoforte accompaniments by Miss Margaret Ruggles.

The Tea was a great success, both socially and financially, and there were about fifty ladies present.

It was given for the benefit of the Missionary Department of the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Messiah.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Despite the fact of large and appreciative audiences at every performance during its engagement in Boston, but one more week remains of the stay of "The Passing Show of 1915" at the Shubert Theatre. The 1915 member of the "Passing Show" family has proved itself to be filled to the brim with novelties and good things. Of course it contains the famous runway of beauty—no Winter Garden show would be quite complete without this feature. Then there is a scenic equipment that outdistances all of its predecessors. There are twelve mammoth, glittering, gorgeous stage settings running from a simple rural scene with which the rev. opens to one depicting the destruction of a great city by a fleet of airships. Here realism runs riot and the audience is thrilled by the sight of huge sky scrapers tottering and crumbling to dust under the rain of explosives dropped from the overhead enemy. It is a sight long to be remembered. Another feature of importance is the large Winter Garden Corps de Ballet with Alexis Kosloff, a graduate of the Imperial Russian Ballet who is featured together with Marilyn Miller, the seventeen year old premier danseuse and Flora Lea.

RECEPTION

Rev. and Mrs. Harrie R. Chamberlin opened their home on the holiday to the members and friends of the Emmanuel Church of which Mr. Chamberlin is pastor.

During the afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock Rev. and Mrs. Chamberlin were assisted by Mrs. F. B. Bennett and Mrs. Tucker of Newtonville, Mrs. Henry Collins and Miss Georgia Dupee, Ward Hunter and the Misses Margaret Reid, Maude Perry, Lily Neilson and Elizabeth Ritecy.

In the evening from 8 to 10 o'clock, they were assisted by Mrs. W. H. Cady, Mrs. D. Webster Anders, Mrs. H. D. Lloyd, Mrs. Clarence Allen and the Misses Opal Boyd, Gladys Leacy, Gertrude Brady and Doris Moore and Messrs. Harold Brown and Parker Brady.

COTTON-WEARE

The wedding of Mr. Harvey W. Cotton of Mt. Ida street and Miss Ruth Adelaide Weare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Weare, was solemnized at the home of the bride at Cape Neck, Maine, last Thursday.

Mr. Cotton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cotton of Brighton, and is in the florist business in this city. The young couple will reside at 11 Mt. Ida street and will be at home after April 1st.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

It is good to have a matter brought before the public and your letters upon the subject of moving picture theatres are being read and discussed all over the city, and no doubt other towns round about are interested to see what will be done.

In a city like Newton with so many flourishing villages it does not seem wise to let each village decide for itself, but it would be better to have a central government which should have charge of the whole business.

The Women's Clubs are very willing to undertake everything, but their officers and committees change so frequently, that it would be impossible for them to take charge of such an important matter.

If the city of Newton would appoint an officer to take the whole charge of the picture theatre business for the city it could easily be attended to. A small salary could accompany the appointment and he or she would have an opportunity to censor every play and be responsible therefor. We have heard about how bad these plays are, and about what a dreadful demoralizing influence they have but do we consider how much good they do, or what immense possibilities for good they have.

When so much money and thought and time are being poured out to prepare them, books written by the hundred, and all the best actors employed for them, we certainly ought to be careful about wholesale condemnation.

In his directions to writers of photoplays, Mr. Herbert Hoagland, censor of photoplays for Pathe Freres, writes, "Select for your theme an idea which embodies good things. Avoid anything coarse or suggestive. Make your stories clean, wholesome, happy—a dainty love story, a romantic adventure, a deed gloriously accomplished, a lesson well learned, an act of charity repaid—anything of a dramatic nature which is as honest as daylight. Good deeds are just as dramatic as wicked deeds, and clean comedy is far and away more humorous than coarseness."

Keep away from scenes of brutality, degeneracy, idiosyncrasy or anything which may bring a poignant pang of sorrow to some one of the millions of people who will read your story in the pictures, unless the pang will be one of remorse for a bad deed done or a good deed left undone." This little sermon appeals to one very strongly, and shows what a high pace is being set by the film makers themselves. The moving pictures are here, they have come to stay we cannot stop them any more than we can stop Niagara Falls. They are made especially for children, for lazy people, for deaf people, for poor people, in fact I don't know for whom they are not made. Let us enjoy the goods the gods provide.

MRS. H. R. TURNER.

COLONIAL THEATRE—Klaw & Erlanger's big musical comedy, "Around the Map" which has delighted all New York for months at the New Amsterdam Theatre, will be the notable attraction at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, beginning Feb. 28th.

"Around the Map" is described as the "Colossus of All Musical Comedies," and its magnitude of scenic environment and costuming has caused it to be the sensation theatrically of the metropolis for the last five months.

It is in 14 scenes of superlative splendor in the course of which over 700 costumes of bewildering beauty are worn. The author of "Around the Map" is C. M. S. McClellan, who wrote those brilliant successes, "The Pink Lady" and "Oh! Oh! Delphine," also produced by Klaw & Erlanger. In a most ingenious story scintillating with wit and song he takes the auditor through all

Maybe you are not a regular customer of this store and you can't tell us why. Maybe you don't know that you will obtain Quality Goods,—real Quality Goods,—goods so fine that you need not be ashamed to serve them to the most fastidious,—goods so fine that we are proud to sell them to the most particular.

Maybe you don't know that our prices are low—as low as others sell Argentine or Australian meats, cold storage goods, or inferior manufactured products.

Maybe you don't know that your purchases will be delivered to you promptly, prepared by careful workmen and cleanly and neatly wrapped and delivered. There are many, however, who do know all these facts, and many more are learning them each month. Of course if you never call and see us you will never learn how much more pleasure you may obtain in life, for after all what adds more to life's pleasures than satisfactory food. And above all in interest to you, you will never learn how really reasonable our goods are sold and that you will be able to save money.

We should be glad to welcome you and prove these statements to you.

Upper Falls

—The Blues entertained the Reds on Monday evening at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moss of Lowell are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor of Hiale street.

—Mrs. John Weinberg of Allston, was the guest of Mrs. Ora Myers of Richardson road the past week.

—Mrs. Mowbray Trux and family of Chestnut street have returned from a visit with relatives at Mansfield.

—Rev. J. Edgar Park, pastor of the Congregational Church of West Newton, will conduct the services at the Newton Home for Aged People on Sunday afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Copinger of Central avenue are receiving the sympathy of their many friends on the death of their young daughter, Marie, on Wednesday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fisher observed their fifth wedding anniversary at their home on Ossipee road on Tuesday evening. The rooms were pleasantly decorated with red, white and blue crepe paper and with cut flowers. Refreshments were served. About fifty guests were present from Boston, Allston and the Newtons. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

—At the Newton Home for Aged People Washington's Birthday was appropriately observed. The dining room was tastefully decorated with red, white and blue crepe paper with a souvenir and at supper were agreeably surprised to receive individual Washington Pies decorated with cherries and a small American flag in the center. The evening was pleasantly passed listening to readings and musical selections.

—Thursday evening The Twombly House, in honor of their Third Anniversary, held a Minstrel Show, in Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands. "Be Prepared," the title of the entertainment, was also a Military Show, the chorus being dressed in white military suits and caps and the Interlocutor, Mr. John B. Sullivan, also in military costume. With American flags as a background the chorus made a very picturesque appearance on the stage. The end men took their parts well and were ably assisted by the chorus. The features of the entertainment were "Along The Rocky Road to Dublin," sung by Master John Proctor, Jr., "Hello, Frisco," a Novelty Song, rendered by Miss Nellie Sullivan and William Kerr and the finale, "Don't Bite the Hand that's Feeding You," by William Kerr dressed in the costume of Uncle Sam. At the close of the song, "Columbia" represented by Miss Viola Braceland appeared in the background. Much credit is due Mr. John J. Cronin, the director, for the success of the entertainment. "Be Prepared" will be given again this evening and will be followed by dancing until 12 o'clock. The cast was as follows: Interlocutor, John B. Sullivan. End Men, John L. Gerard Condon, Robert Burofsky, John Moran, Joseph Murphy, John Holt, Chorus, C. Doyle, E. Duke, R. Springham, Joe Merideth, E. Campbell, E. Hughes, C. Curral, T. Lane, F. Genarzio, W. Walker, A. Sharpe, J. Burley, T. Kenney, L. Genarzio, M. DeGeorge, H. Lane, W. Fitzgerald, L. Downing, L. Wizeczek, F. FonTannee, C. Crowley, H. Walker, A. DeGeorge, R. Conway, E. Fitzgerald, S. McDonald, J. Merideth, L. Wizeczek.

LOWELL COLLECTION

The private collection of paintings, watercolors, drawings and other black-and-white works belonging to the estate of the late John A. Lowell, the engraver, of this city, is now being exhibited at 34 School street, Room 41.

By S. G. Hawes. Mr. Lowell some years ago was in a small way a picture dealer, and he had an extensive acquaintance with American artists, which gave him many opportunities of obtaining choice examples of their works which have adorned the walls of his home in Newton Highlands.

Probably the most notable painting in his collection was the view in Algiers by Marcus Waterman, which is a most brilliant and luminous picture of hot sunshine falling on the snow-white walls of a picturesque edifice, in front of which, in the foreground, we see a file of heavily-laden camels deliberately marching past.

A group of three or four early marine paintings by Emil Carlsen is included in the collection. One of these represents a large ocean steamer docking in some foreign port. Another is of an old-fashioned frigate under sail. The pictures were in all likelihood painted before Mr. Carlsen settled in Boston, as the subjects appear to be European scenes.

William F. Halsall is represented by a dramatic painting of a terrific storm at sea, as seen from one of the islands of Boston harbor. It was painted many years ago, when he had a studio on the Brewsters.

Several characteristic works by F. S. Church are to be noted. A watercolor by this artist shows Cupid leading a robin-redbreast, who is harnessed and is dragging along a mossy—quite an amusing conceit, daintily done. Church is also represented by several of his etchings, with elaborate "remarques" in lead pencil.

A solidly painted spring landscape, with an orchard of old apple trees in full blossom, is the work of the late Albion H. Bicknell. This artist is also represented by several impressive framed monotypes.

A quaint and charming single figure piece by Francis D. Millet represents a pretty old-fashioned girl in white sitting in a New England interior. Among the other pictures are two very interesting smallish paintings by Alexander Harrison; an early example of the landscape work of Willard L. Metcalf, dating from his Boston period; two figure pieces by Victor Neill; a small genre picture by Clement R. Grant, and several of I. M. Gauguin's etchings.

On the morning of the holiday a telephone call brought three pieces of fire apparatus to the Woodward house on Woodward street, the oldest house in Waban, where it was found there was a fire in the roof near the chimney.

—Although a very disagreeable night those who went to the Union Church vestry to hear the Story of the Birth and Babyhood of the Tale phone last Friday night felt amply repaid as they listened to the early struggles of those intimately associated with its development. Mr. Watson's story beginning with conversations held with Mr. Alexander Graham Bell between two rooms of the same building and later extending across the Charles to Cambridge, were humorously as well as interestingly told. Recently Mr. Watson was again on the wire with Mr. Bell, this time talking from ocean to ocean, Mr. Bell in New York and Mr. Watson in San Francisco.

The February meeting of the Beacon Club was held last evening in Knollwood Hall with a good attendance of members and guests, the attraction being a talk on Submarines by Lieutenant Alfred F. Miles, U. S. N. The talk was illustrated and told of their development, operation and use. Lieutenant Miles' experience covers five years of active service with the United States Submarine Flotilla. He has served in various capacities from commanding officer of individual boats to division commander of tenders, and speaks with authority from a wide range of actual submarine experience. His talk was not technical and was illustrated with colored views showing early submarines, torpedoes, United States and foreign submarines of various types, and salvage of F4. He also showed most interesting views of submarines under various conditions of submergence, the operation of the periscope, diving and torpedo, fire mechanism, motive machinery, and fully explained air supply, under water navigation, and war time attacks.

VALENTINE PARTY

Lotta Crowell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crowell of Newtonville, entertained a number of her young friends at a delightful Valentine party last week on Thursday afternoon at her home on Royce road.

The dining-room was very attractively decorated in red, and the various Valentine emblems, Cupids, hearts, etc., were used in pleasing arrangement on the table.

There were twelve little girls present and they played games and passed a most enjoyable afternoon. Among those who participated in the pleasant affair, were Barbara Tracy, Martha Wilson, Alice Allen, Arleen Keith, Betty Richardson, Elizabeth Josselyn, Thelma Coombs, Phyllis Harrington, Olive Crowe, Lottie Gladding, and Philippa Patey.

PICKLES THAT TEMPT

SOME RECIPES THAT ARE WORTH ATTENTION.

New and Old Varieties Mingled Here,
But All Good—Baltimore Pickle Something That All Will Pronounce Delicious.

If in the course of the year past you have particularly liked the pickled walnuts that you had at Mrs. Brown's for dinner, or the piccalilli that Mrs. Thomas always serves with halibut, ask for the recipes for these dainties. They will probably be gladly given. It is usually flattering to feel that the food one serves is so appealing that others wish to know how it is prepared.

Here are some reliable recipes for tempting pickles, each of which adds zest to the appetite and flavor to the food with which it is served:

Ohio Mixed Pickles—Six green peppers and two red ones, one pint of small onions, one pint lima beans, one-fourth peck of string beans, one pint of celery, one pint of cauliflower, one pint of tiny cucumbers. Boil half-gallon of cider vinegar, to which has been added a quarter of a pound of white sugar, a little tumeric and a little celery seed. Boil all together for about twenty minutes, or until it is thick.

Variety Pickles—One gallon of cabbage chopped very fine, half-gallon green tomatoes, one quart onions, all chopped fine; four tablespoonfuls of mustard, two tablespoonfuls ginger, one tablespoonful cloves, one tablespoonful tumeric, one ounce of celery seed, two pounds of sugar, a little salt and a half gallon of good cider vinegar. Mix this well and boil for 30 minutes.

Ripe Cucumber Pickles—Pare, seed and cut in pieces 12 large ripe cucumbers. Cover them with boiling water, a handful of salt and let them stand overnight. In the morning drain and boil in water until they can be pierced with a straw. Drain, cover with cold vinegar and stand again for 24 hours. Drain and cover with the following: One quart of vinegar, three pounds of white sugar, three ounces of cinnamon buds, which have been sealed for a few minutes.

Baltimore Pickle—Two quarts of ripe tomatoes, two quarts of green tomatoes, one large head of cabbage, 12 medium-sized onions, three peppers. Chop fine, salt overnight and in the morning drain, and add to it two quarts of vinegar, a pound and a half of sugar, half a cupful of yellow mustard seed, half a cupful of horse-radish, one tablespoonful of celery seed. Boil half an hour, or until well done.

Chili Sauce—Peel and chop one peck of ripe tomatoes; boil until thick and not juicy. Add one pint of chopped onions, one-half dozen large peppers, chopped fine. Let this boil for half an hour and then add half a cupful of salt, one pint of vinegar, a tablespoonful of cloves, one tablespoonful of cinnamon, two tablespoonfuls of whole mustard seed.

Kitchen Economy.
There are many thrifty cooks who have not learned that green peppers have an economic value equal to that which puts them at the head of savory dishes. They may be stuffed with anything left in the refrigerator except sweets. Using rice as a foundation, add chopped meat, tomatoes, onions, the last of the olives chopped off the pit, bits of bacon, cold potatoes or the cold corn left from some previous meal. Season the cut-off tops of the peppers, chop them fine and add them to the stuffing. Bake the peppers in a slow oven; they will incidentally enliven the family conversation by suggesting a guessing game—the one who guesses all the ingredients winning first honors.

Panned Baked Sweet Potatoes.
Boil sweet potatoes until done, drain, peel and slice. Butter a baking dish, put in layer of the sliced potatoes, sprinkle rather thickly with light-brown sugar and dot with bits of butter. Add another layer of potatoes with sugar and butter, and so on. When dish is full, put in oven and bake, covered for half an hour, and uncovered for half an hour.

Eggs in Their Nests.
Two cupfuls of mashed or left-over potatoes. Shape into small nests in a buttered baking dish. Into these nests put a small piece of butter and break the eggs into them. Sprinkle salt and pepper over each one and then put in oven for a few minutes until eggs are set. Very good served hot with cold meat for supper.

Sealander Organdie.
Sealander organdie is the name of a lovely, new, transparent fabric which has both stripes and checks in a bit thicker weave. None of it could be called thick, however. It is as sheer as any material could be desired for summer frocks and has the merit of retaining its finish through laundering.

Clam Broth Cold.
Make one and a half pints of clam broth, season with salt, pepper and celery salt, strain and chill in the ice box. When ready for serving serve in cups with a tablespoonful of salted whipped cream on each cupful.

Chicken Patties.
Mince some of the white meat of cold chicken and season with lemon peel, nutmeg, salt, pepper, cream and a little butter; place over the fire and thicken with a little flour. When cold fill patty shells and serve.

STEAK PASTIE A DELICACY

Also an Excellent Way of Using up the Left-Over Articles From the Dining Table.

A little meat goes a very long way if one makes it into pasties. If I have any left-over cooked vegetables on hand I add these also to the ingredients after chopping them fine.

Required—One pound of steak, six ounces of potatoes, six ounces of cooked haricot beans or mushrooms, one onion, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, one egg, salt and pepper, pastry.

This mixture is sufficient for two pounds of pastry.

Cut the steak, mushrooms and potatoes into small dice, chop the parsley and onion, and if using beans, boil them until they are just tender in salted water.

Mix all the ingredients together in a basin, adding salt, pepper and a little water.

Roll out the pastry till it is barely a quarter of an inch thick. Stamp it into rounds with a plain cutter.

Put a good heap of the mixture in the center of each round, brush the edge of the pastry with a little cold water, draw the edges together over the meat, and crimp neatly with the finger and thumb.

Brush them over with beaten egg, taking care not to brush the crimped edges, as if this is done they can not rise. Put them on a baking tin and bake in a moderate oven for about three-quarters of an hour.—Exchange.

FOR THOSE FOND OF FIGS

Preserved in the Manner Described Here They Will Be Found to be a Delicious Titbit.

Six quarts figs, two quarts sugar, three quarts water.

Select firm, sound fruit, discard all over-ripe or broken figs. Sprinkle one cup soda over the selected figs and cover with about six quarts boiling water. Allow to stand 15 minutes; drain off this soda solution and rinse the figs well through two baths of clear, cold water. Let the figs drain while syrup is prepared. Mix sugar and water, boil 10 minutes and skim. Add well-drained figs gradually so as not to cool the sirup. Cook rapidly until figs are clear and tender (about two hours). When the figs are transparent, lift them out carefully and place in shallow pans. If the sirup is not heavy enough (about 50 degrees) continue boiling until it reaches this density, then pour it over the figs, being careful to see that the fruit is entirely covered. Let stand over night. Next morning pack figs cold in sterilized jars, having stems all the same length and placing the figs so that all stems will be upward. Fill each jar to overflowing with the sirup testing 55 degrees. Cap, clamp, process and seal immediately.

Preserved Watermelon Rind.

Cut one pound of rind into one-inch squares. Remove peel and all pink part. Soak over night in lime water (one ounce lime to two quarts water). The following morning let stand for two hours in clear water. Drain well; then drop into boiling water and boil rapidly for ten minutes. Drain again and add gradually to the sirup (made by boiling together two cupfuls sugar, one quart water). Add to this the juice of one-half lemon and three slices of lemon. Cook until the lemon is tender and transparent. Allow to stand until cold; arrange the pieces attractively in the jars, garnishing with slices of lemon. Cover with the sirup testing 50 to 55 degrees. Chop, clamp lid on jar, apply sterilizing process and seal immediately.

Cream of Cucumber Soup.

What to make of soup is a problem which often puzzles the housekeeper. The following is seasonable: Cream of cucumber—Peel 5 cucumbers, slice and put into a saucepan with 1 small onion and enough boiling water to cover. Cook until tender, rub through sieve, pour into saucepan and let stand on back of stove, where it will keep hot, but not boil. Have a cream sauce ready, made by melting two tablespoonfuls butter in pan, stirring into it two tablespoonfuls flour. Add 1 quart milk, salt and pepper and put over cucumber.

Dark Cake.

Two cupfuls brown sugar, one-half cupful butter, two eggs, one-half cupful sour milk, one cupful flour. Then take one cupful of shaved chocolate, dissolved in one-half cupful boiling water, stir this into the cake thin, add one cupful flour and one teaspoonful soda. Bake one hour.

Pineapple Ice.

Peel two large yellow pineapples. Grate them into a bowl and add the juice of one grapefruit and one lemon. Boil one and a half pounds of sugar in one quart of water for ten minutes. When cold, mix the fruit, which may be strained, if one wishes, with it and freeze.

Tender Corn.

Very few women know the proper way of boiling corn on the cob. Place corn in the boiling water, let boil two minutes, then turn off gas or heat, let corn remain in water 12 minutes, having a vessel with lid that fits closely. Keep lid on from the time corn was put in until the 14 minutes are up.

Bluefish Salad.

Take cold, baked bluefish, flake it, mix with French dressing lightly, arrange on lettuce leaves and mash with a good boiled dressing.
